NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—

"The steel industry will lead the march to prosperity."

This was the ringing declaration today of Charles M. Schwab, one of America's industrial giants and founder of one of the greatest steel enterprises in the world.

Schwab was speaking on business and industry at the semi-annual meeting in the Commodore

Hotel of the American Iron and Steel Institute, of which he is president.

To Assume Leadership

"We should welcome the opportunity to assume the aggressive leadership which business expects of us," Schwab asserted, amid applause from the assembled steel men from all parts of the country. "This is a task requiring staying power, vision and hard work."

Schwab was exceedingly optimistic regarding the future of business in this country. He declared that it is "significant" that in the past twelve months there has not been uncovered in the nation's economic foundation any basic structural failure.

No Wage Slashing

Schwab reiterated his stand against any slashing of wages of employees in industry, saying:

"It was stated at our last meeting here that there would be no cut in

Double For Lincoln Visiting New Castle

Abraham Lincoln walked into The News office today. Or at least for a moment it seemed as though the Great Emancipator had stepped in. black whiskers, tall gaunt frame and cutaway coat. It wasn't Lincoln, of course, but it was a man who so closely resembles him that one has an uneasy feeling that he has been taken back to Civil war days for a time.

The man who bears the unusual resemblance to Lincoln is Judge Charles Edward Bull of Hollywood, California, who is on a tour of the public schools presenting "The Heart of Lincoln," an educational presentation of Lincoln's life, and some of his anecdotes.

For several years Judge Bull occupied the bench in Reno, Nevada.
His striking resemblance to Lincoln took him out over the country in various appearances and he finally left the bench and the law and is devoting his life to the presentation of Lincoln to the school children. He will be in the New Castle schools on Wednesday and Thursday.

On two occasions he has been cast in motion pictures, taking the part of Lincoln in "The Iron Horse" and in "The Heart of Maryland." So closely does he resemble Lincoln that a director seeing Bull's pictures said that they were of Lincoln himself.

In Cincinnati during the Grand Army of the Republic, a veteran of the Civil war who had known Lincoln, fainted when he saw Judge Bull. In stature he is exactly the size of Lincoln, 6 feet 4 inches tall.
In this district he has appeared or is scheduled to appear in Youngstown, Sharon, Sharpsville, Greenville, Slippery Rock, Bessemer and Mount Jackson.

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Oct. 24.—Authorities today expressed the belief that Joe Aiello, millionaire gang partner of George "Bugs" Moran and the late Jack Zuta, was slain at the command of Alphonse Capone in reprisal for the killing of "Jake" Lingle, racketeering Chicago Tribune reporter.

Aiello, one of Capone's bitterest foes, had been warned one week ago that he had been marked for death by the scar-faced gang overlord, it was learned. He disregarded the warning. Moran likewise has been warned, police were told.

Opening fire from four different positions last night Aiello was cut down by a barrage of machine gun fire as he crossed the courtyard of a north side apartment building on North Kolmar avenue. From the windows of two apartment buildings overlooking the courtyard and from two automobiles the bullets poured.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—State

All employees on reporting today lished that practice. Since then a call for funds from employees always

At that time hundreds failed to contribute but no action was taken

PORT COLUMBUS, O., Oct.

24.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, flying over the new transcontinental air passenger mail route from Newark, N. J., arrived here at 10:25 a. m. today, completing the last leg of his flight from Pittsburgh in two hours and 15 minutes.

The Lone Eagle left Bettis field,

McKeesport, Pa., at 8:10 a. m. in a plane of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., accompanied by three of the firm's pilots.

Returned to Pittsburgh.

He left Newark yesterday morning and was expected to arrive here shortly after 1 p. m. Bad weather which the colonel and his companions encountered near Cambridge, O., caused the party to return to Pittsburgh where they stayed overnight.

Colonel Lindbergh's flight over the new air mail-passenger route was held in connection with the Columbus Saturday celebration at Port

Columbus Saturday when the new transcontinental air mail service will be inaugurated.

The flying colonel plans to hop off about 1 o'clock this afternoon on a return flight to New York. His route has not been definitely planned, it was said.

PORT COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 24.—

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off at 12:47 p. m. today on the final eastward inspection flight of the new eastern division of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., passenger-mail line.

Lindbergh planned to make short stops at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia enroute to Newark, N. J. He stopped at Harrisburg on the westward flight, but officials of the new air line said he probably would fly direct to Philadelphia from Pittsburgh.

He was in Columbus only a little more than two hours, arriving here at 10:25 a. m. from Pittsburgh.

While here he conferred with officials of Transcontinental and Western

Shooting Of Bessemer Man Strange Case

Peculiar Tragedy In Which Ludwig Verhovnik Lost
His Life Thursday

GUN IS DISCHARGED
BY FRANK SUSSANG

Bullet Passes Through Floor And Through Head Of Verhovnik In Cellar

Shooting of Ludwig Verhovnik, aged 40, by Frank Sussang, aged

32, at Bessemer late Thursday afternoon, was one of the most peculiar fatalities ever recorded in Lawrence county, according to investigation by county authorities.

Sussang and Verhovnik were neighbors. They were good friends.

On Thursday afternoon, they, with several other persons, went to kill a hog for Mrs. Helen Percie, a widow, living near the Sussang home.

Shoot Pig.

Sussang had a 38 automatic revolver with which to do the shooting. He says that he placed four cartridges in the magazine. The hog was shot and killed with the first bullet. Verhovnik, who proposed to do the butchering, was standing, knife in hand, near Sus-sang. Verhovnik stuck the pig after it had been shot.

Verhovnik and Sussang then went into the Percie house. Sussang was accompanied into the dining room by Frank Percie, 15 year old son of Mrs. Helen Percie.

Verhovnik went to the cellar to sharpen his butcher knife on an emery wheel preparatory to cutting up the hog. Sussang started to take the loaded cartridges out of his revolver, when the gun was accidentally discharged.

Revolver Discharged.

Mrs. Percie rushed into the room crying, "My —, don't shoot my boy." The boy told her that Sus-sang was not trying to shoot him

STEEL INDUSTRY TO LEAD MARCH TO PROSPERITY

Wage rates, and that policy has been maintained. Another point of progress in this policy, he said, has been the substantial avoidance of the traditional practice of wholesale layoffs.

Expanding Markets. "The steel industry today is more actively engaged than ever before in my long experience with it in the markets, in the stabilization of its policies and in the improvement of its plants and organization," he said.

Progress is born out of the pains of economic adjustment," said Schwab. "The past twelve months are the first real test we have had of our new 'American Prosperity,' by which I mean the basic factors underlying our higher standards of living, including production and distribution of high wages. It is significant that there has not been uncovered in our economic foundation any basic structural failure.

Market Over-Stimulates

Schwab said the part which the stock market played in the creation of current conditions cannot be ignored. "Momentarily the rise or fall of such prices serve to over-stimulate the public mind. We looked through rose glasses in 1929 and quickly changed them for blue glasses. If we look through a plain, clear pair of spectacles we will see that the widespread ownership of securities rests primarily with investors and represents partnership in the great industrial enterprises of the country."

Other speakers expressed various viewpoints and one or two were not quite as optimistic as Schwab. However, none of them were inclined to be pessimistic.

E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, said: "We are going along on a level keel. I do not expect anything much in the way of improvement until after the turn of the year."

James A. Campbell, chairman of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, pointed out that his company has just started a new electric pipe welding mill and that it is "going well."

STAR LORE STARS MEET NO RESISTING FORCE TO STOP THEIR FLIGHT

By Arthur Dev. Carpenter. The writer is frequently asked what keeps the heavenly bodies in motion, for everything we are familiar with on earth passes from motion to a state of rest. But if we will stop to consider, there is nothing in the universe that is actually at rest (at a standstill). The heavenly bodies move in empty space, while everything in motion on the earth meets with the resisting air. With nothing to retard the motion of the stars through space, they go on and on forever unless stopped by some outside force. The speed with which the stars fly is compared to the velocity of the earth around the sun—18 1/2 miles per second.

Numerous Machines Figure In Accidents

Damage Is Done In The Several Automobile Collisions Reported To Police

Jack Black, 1031 Adams street, reported today that he was driving the car of Ralph Black west on Adams street at an alley at 1020 Adams street, when Mr. Saylor of Beckford street, going east on Adams street made a left turn into the alley. There was another machine behind the Saylor machine also going east and Mr. Black seeing that he could not avoid a collision, turned into the alley and his machine collided with that of Mr. Saylor. Both were damaged.

Lester Walter Kline, Jackson avenue, was enroute East on Madison avenue, at Ashland avenue and had the right of way, as a machine was coming west on Madison avenue. A car bearing Ohio license 784-588 was also coming north on Ashland avenue. To avoid hitting both machines, he turned to the left on Ashland avenue, hit the curb and turned over. He escaped injury but his machine was damaged to some extent.

Hazel Johnson, 1312 Huron avenue, was enroute west on East Washington street at Ray street when her machine hit a Michigan license car that was ahead of her machine. Both machines were damaged.

Wheel Chair Is Expected Saturday

Has Been Shipped From Factory At Elyria, O., To Its Local Destination

Wheel chair for which the generous people of the city provided funds several weeks ago, in order that Clarence Ferre, cripple seller of newspapers and magazines, might be better able to get around in his effort to make a living, was shipped from the factory at Elyria, O., on Tuesday.

It is anticipated that the chair will arrive here Saturday. As soon as it arrives, it will be placed at the disposal of Clarence, who has been very anxiously awaiting it.

It is the best wheel chair that could be secured and should very materially aid Clarence in getting about the city and doing the little work that will enable him to make a living.

BALDWIN CLASS MASQUE PARTY

Several car-loads of grotesquely dressed characters left Highland United Presbyterian church Thursday evening and motored out to the residence of Mrs. Thomas Lindsey, teacher of the Baldwin class, where they alighted and entered, the house having been previously decorated in Halloween suggestions in a clever manner.

As the "mummers" entered a number was pinned on each one and they entered the living room where they sat or stood silently about, this being an unusual performance for a group of women. When all had gathered papers were passed and the identities of the guests were guessed and unmasked. Prizes for the best costumes were awarded Mrs. Anson McKee and Mrs. P. M. Burton, who were dressed as two old ladies in night caps and gowns, with candle sticks, hair in curl papers and a hot brick for their feet. They created a great deal of amusement by falling asleep and emitting great snores.

After the unmasking of the persons Mrs. S. G. Lipo and Mrs. T. E. Dukes had charge of the program of amusements and Mrs. Adarene Harris was awarded a prize in these. Minnie Davidson was awarded a prize for concealing her identity best.

Honored on Birthday

A delightful social event occurred Thursday afternoon when a group of friends gathered in the home of Miss Susan Ramsey on Lathrop street, the occasion being a complete surprise to the honored guest on her birthday. An elaborate chicken menu was served at noon, and later a social time was enjoyed. Yellow and white appointments were carried out in a tasteful manner.

As an added feature, Mrs. John Rodgers entertained with a group of selections on an old fashioned organ that was quite amusing.

St. Josephs 500 Club

The St. Josephs 500 Club enjoyed their regular social time Wednesday afternoon in their hall on Jefferson street. Cards were enjoyed, and at the conclusion of play, the success awards were presented to Mrs. Fred DeJane and Mrs. Lee Stockman for honors.

There will be another of these events held next Wednesday at the same time.

WIMODAUSIS CLUB NAMES COMMITTEE

The Wimodausis club announces their appointment of a number of members to solicit the club for garments and new articles to be distributed to the various charitable organizations by the Needlework Guild.

All articles are to be at the home of Mrs. R. L. Boyd, 216 North Jefferson street chairman, before November 1. On November 6 a display of all articles collected will be on display in the Castleton.

It is felt that this year there will be a hearty response to the appeal sent out by the Guild as it seems the need this year is so much greater than it has been for some time owing to the unemployment situation.

The committee includes: Mrs. R. L. Boyd, chairman; Mrs. A. J. Gilchrist, Mrs. L. B. Rounds, Mrs. H. W. French, Mrs. Fred Harrison, Mrs. James Bradford, Mrs. E. C. Buzard, Mrs. R. L. Hildebrand, Mrs. Homer H. Matthews, Mrs. W. H. Dunlap, Mrs. R. J. Davis, Mrs. M. E. Vaughn.

N. B. B. Club

Miss Helen Prosser was a most charming little hostess Tuesday evening when she entertained members of the N. B. B. club at a clever masquerade party, in her home on Euclid avenue.

The hours were enjoyably spent in playing various games, contests, and doing stunts that caused much merriment. Helen Farrell was the prize winner in the guessing contest. At a late hour, the hostess served a dainty repast having as her aides, Mrs. Thomas Francis her sister, and Mrs. Ben Prosser, her sister-in-law.

Moontlight 500 Club

Mrs. J. R. Meers of Butler avenue was hostess to members of the Moontlight 500 Club Thursday when they gathered for a masquerade party. The Halloween spirit hovered throughout the home with its weird decorations appropriate to the season.

The prizes for the evening were awarded to Mrs. I. A. Taylor, Mrs. Francis Johnson and Mrs. H. G. Tetlow. Cards formed the entertainment of the social hours.

Modern 500 Club

Mrs. Charles Freeman of Fairmont avenue received members of the Modern 500 Club in her home Thursday, when she entertained at a beautifully appointed 1 o'clock luncheon. After a sumptuous menu had been served, by the hostess, the hours were whiled away in playing cards. Those winning favors for this feature were Mrs. Harry Stenger and Mrs. Edward Fulkerson.

In two weeks Mrs. William Conser of Grant street will be hostess.

LADIES AUXILIARY OF U. C. T. ENTERTAIN

A successful social event on Thursday calendar was the masquerade party held in the City Hall by the Ladies Auxiliary of the United Commercial Travelers Council 408, having as special guests their husbands and families.

A jolly time was in progress throughout the evening, with Bingo, 500 and Bridge being the feature diversions, with novel prizes being awarded to the winners.

At an appropriate hour, the appointed committee served appetizing refreshments, bringing to a close a most enjoyable evening.

The committee in charge included the following: Mrs. Ed McKinnin, Mrs. Lawrence Fehl, Mrs. Anna Bolden, Mrs. Sam Nettle, Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Mrs. John Louer and Mrs. Whieldon.

The next regular meeting will be held on November 14, at the home of Mrs. James Elmore on State street with Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood, Mrs. James Conover and Mrs. Gilbert Colnot as associate hostesses.

Jolly Twelve Club

Mrs. George Jones of Edgewood avenue entertained in a pleasing manner, associates of the Jolly Twelve club in her home Thursday evening, at a masquerade party, having a number of invited guests.

Halloween novelties were used in the decoration of the home throughout, and in the lunch appointments also.

Dancing, radio music, cards and games were pastimes, and those winning favors in cards were Mrs. T. M. Moore, Mrs. Frank Meyers and Mrs. Edward Gregg for honors.

A novelty of the evening, was a "rhyme contest", each composing a rhyme using the word concealed on their favor which marked the places.

In one week Mrs. Frank Meyers of Allen street, will extend hospitality to the club.

Halloween Event

Miss Mary Alford of County Line street was a delightful hostess on Thursday evening when she entertained members of the True Blue Class of the Second United Presbyterian church at a masquerade party, having a number of other girls as special guests.

The house was attractively decorated in Halloween tones, and the same appointments were cleverly carried out in the menu. The hostess was assisted by her mother in serving a very delicious lunch at a selected hour, which was preceded by a period of music, games and chat.

Visiting Parents

Mr. and Mrs. Harold M. Philpott of New York, and a bride and groom of the early summer, pleasantly surprised their parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Zerner of Boyles, and Mrs. J. W. Philpott of Richelleu avenue, by driving here to spend a few days.

Ministers' Wife To Meet

The Ministers' Wives Club will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. S. E. Irvine, Highland avenue for the regular monthly meeting.

DELPHIAN SOCIETY TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY

A 1 o'clock luncheon served in The Castleton Tuesday, will be a means of celebration of the first anniversary of the Delphian society when they gather for their usual session. The business will follow the social time.

Mrs. E. F. G. Harper is in charge of the arrangements, and it looked forward to as being a most delightful affair.

Murphy-Ward Marriage

A pretty wedding was solemnized Thursday when Miss Viola Murphy daughter of Mrs. William Simons of the Mercer road was united in marriage to Herbert Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Ward also of the Mercer road. The ceremony was performed at the home of the Rev. J. C. Murphy, brother of the bride and pastor of the Primitive Methodist church at Jermyon, who officiated with the ring ceremony. The bride was lovely in a gown of green canton crepe with accessories to match. The couple was unattended.

A wedding dinner served in the dining room of the pastor's home supplemented the ceremony, with covers being laid for members of the immediate families. The wedding appointments were carried out in the table decorations.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Ward left by motor for an extended honeymoon to Baltimore, Washington, D. C. and Harrisburg.

Birthday Celebrated

A pleasant surprise of Thursday evening was that of Edward H. McConeghy of the Old Pittsburgh road and J. Lewis McConeghy of this city when a group gathered at the home of the former to help them celebrate the anniversary of their birth.

Games and music whiled away the hours swiftly and a number of prizes were given for stunts, those winning them being Mrs. Edward McConeghy, Mrs. J. L. McConeghy and Helen McConeghy.

At the conclusion of merry making a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Edward McConeghy and Mrs. James Blaine. George Geiger of Butler was an out of town guest.

The surprised men were the recipients of many lovely remembrances of the day.

Willing Workers Class

A pleasant social event of Thursday took place at the home of Mrs. Charles Book on Brooklyn avenue, teachers of the Willing Workers class of the Second United Presbyterian church, when she entertained the class at their regular meeting.

Entertainment for the evening, which was arranged by the Misses Mary Martin, Leola Johnson and Doris V. Henson, occupied the social hours. Toward the close of the meeting, an appetizing lunch was served by the committee, which included the hostess, Mrs. Earl Book and Mrs. Elsie Johnson.

The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Agnes Wagner on Oak street with Mrs. Jesse Hite and Miss Margaret Vogan as associate hostesses.

Convention Club

The regular meeting of the Convention club members took place at the home of Mrs. George Ray on street, Thursday afternoon, with a good number in attendance. Cards were played during the social hour, with prizes being won by Mrs. L. E. Beman, Mrs. Ella Cromwell and Mrs. Blanche Lewis for honors.

At a selected hour the hostess served a dainty lunch. In two weeks Mrs. Mary Osler on South Crawford avenue, will entertain at the regular meeting while on this coming Tuesday, Mrs. Lewis Dean of West Washington street, will be hostess at their euchre card party.

Cast Dinner

The cast of the "Hog Holler Singing School" will be entertained at dinner this evening in the home of Mrs. Rachel Taylor, 235 Sheridan avenue.

After dinner they will have their regular practice for the singing school which will be presented next week in the First Christian church.

Leave For State College

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Vogan of Sheridan avenue and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Savoline of North Mercer street left early this morning for State College where they will attend the alumni home-coming activities, including an afternoon tea, dance and the Penn State-Colgate football game Saturday.

Daughters of Lydia

The Daughters of Lydia of the First Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs. E. A. DeLane, 425 Sheridan avenue, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The subject discussed will be "The Gospel of Telephone from Alaska to India."

MASQUERADE PARTY IS JOVIAL EVENT

Mrs. Letha Bishop and Mrs. Goldie Reardon were joint hostesses Tuesday evening when they entertained at a masquerade party, members of the Jollikousins Club with their husbands and friends as special guests.

A color scheme of orange and black suggestive of the Halloween season was carried out with ghosts, witches, black cats and other weird objects meeting one at every turn, decorating the home throughout. With this appropriate setting, fortune telling and cards were enjoyed as the main diversions.

The prizes for the most original costumes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Harold McClelland, Mrs. Gladys Pulford, and Clem Gardner.

At a late hour, the guests were invited into the dining room where they enjoyed a delicious repast served by the hostesses, marking the close to a most pleasant evening.

The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Clarence Miller of Vine street.

L. A. H. Class Masquerade

A delightful evening was spent by the members of the L. A. H. class of the Central Presbyterian church Thursday evening when they gathered in enmasque at the home of Mrs. Carl Wilson, Warren avenue, the teacher.

All sorts of clever costumes were worn by the girls and plenty of merriment was caused by guessing the identity of each. Upon unmasking the girls enjoyed music and games of various kinds.

The house was lovely with yellow and black decorations in keeping with the season and at a timely hour the hostess, assisted by Edna Pringle served a Halloween lunch, novel favors being used to mark each place.

Post Graduates Dine

An interesting dinner meeting was held Thursday evening by the members of the Post Graduate class of the First Methodist church when they assembled in the dining room of the church for their regular meeting.

The table was cleverly decorated in keeping with the Halloween season, pumpkins, witches, black cats and other novelties being efficiently used and covers were marked for thirty six members.

The committee arranging for the dinner included Mrs. Lena Sloan, Mrs. Charles Mills, Mrs. Margaret Doyle, Mrs. Harriet Thompson and Kathryn Mayberry.

A business meeting followed the dinner, with routine matters being taken up.

Surprise Party

At the home of Mrs. Carrie Eppinger, who was agreeably surprised when a group of guests gathered Thursday evening for a social time. Four tables of cards were in play, and a light lunch served at a late hour by Mrs. Eppinger at the close of the evening. The guest of honor or was given by those present many lovely gifts as an esteem of affection of the social hours.

Card Party

The junior members of Our Lady of Sorrows will hold the second of a series of card parties in the St. Vitus Hall, South Jefferson street, on Tuesday, October 28.

Play is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock and bingo and 500 will feature the evening.

CASTLETON SCENE OF CHARMING LUNCHEON

Mrs. W. A. Stritmatter proved a very delightful hostess Thursday afternoon when she entertained ladies of the Highland Book club at a 1 o'clock luncheon in The Castleton.

Covers were laid for 12 guests at a table colorfully decorated in pastel hues, where a delectable menu was served.

Following the serving, the usual routine was carried out, bringing to a close a very pleasant afternoon. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. A. Stone on Boyles avenue which falls on November 6.

Entertains Class

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wikison, Park avenue, entertained members of Mr. Wikison's Sabbath school class of the Highland United Presbyterian church in their home Thursday evening at a Salamagundi party.

Lots of merriment was caused by the various games and prizes at the games were awarded Betty Campbell, Thelma Howell, Mrs. Evelyn Campbell and Thos. I. Elliott. At a late hour Mrs. Wikison, assisted by Mrs. Thos. Elliott, Mrs. Roy Conway and Edith Dickey served refreshments with Halloween suggestions carried out in the appointments.

Good Time Club

A masquerade party was enjoyed by members of the Good Time Club when they gathered at the home of Mrs. Lurella McCormick on Katharine street Thursday evening, marking a most enjoyable affair. The house was beautifully decorated throughout with Halloween novelties.

Cards were in play, and prizes were won by Mrs. Grace Hoch and Mrs. Mary Bishop for honors. At the conclusion of the game, the hostess assisted by Mrs. Mary Fynn and Miss Adele Hill who with Miss Laura Dickey were special visitors, served a tempting lunch.

The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. Ethel Boyd on County Line street.

Entertains at Masquerade

Miss Helen Prosser was a charming hostess Tuesday evening in her home on Euclid avenue, when she entertained a group of young folks in her home for a masquerade party. Clever and varied in character were the costumes worn by the guests and a prize was awarded Helen Farrell for efficiency.

Games of guessing the most identities. Games of various sorts throughout the house, which had been fittingly decorated with witches, spirits, pumpkins and elfins for the occasion, formed the diversion of the evening.

Mrs. Francis, a sister of the hostess, assisted in serving a delicious repast to the guests before the midnight hour approached.

Twelve O'Clock Club

Mrs. Frank Fall of East Washington street entertained at a nicely appointed dinner, associates of the Twelve O'clock Club in her home Thursday. Tones of orange were used in the appointments, with tall tapers in crystal holders being used at either end of the table as ornaments. The hostess was assisted in serving by Mrs. Paul Beynon and Mrs. Bert Cunningham.

Later, cards were in play as the diversion of the remaining hour. On next Thursday the members will hold their regular meeting with Mrs. George Ritter on Adams street.

Supper Party

At the home of Mrs. Carrie Eppinger, who was agreeably surprised when a group of guests gathered Thursday evening for a social time. Four tables of cards were in play, and a light lunch served at a late hour by Mrs. Eppinger at the close of the evening. The guest of honor or was given by those present many lovely gifts as an esteem of affection of the social hours.

FUTURE FOR MEN

MORE or less has been heard in recent years about the so-called feminist movement, the tendency of women to usurp the positions and the privileges held for so many years by the lords of creation. Some timid souls have professed to have a feeling of perturbation over the future of the sex, whose members long imagined they were in safe command of the situation.

In the way of contribution to the feeling of uncertainty in the breasts of many men, Mrs. Alice Foot MacDougall, well-known feminist advocate of New York City, has made the announcement of her belief that within a century all the important business of the world will be transacted by women.

Mrs. MacDougall says that she has made a study of conditions in business and industry covering the period since 1880 and has discovered that the percentage of women in business has increased from 14.7 in that year to 21 at present. However, the percentage of men gainfully employed has dropped only one-half of one per cent.

"I don't pretend to predict what the men will do," Mrs. MacDougall is quoted as saying. "Some one has to do the house-keeping, I suppose, and if the women are otherwise engaged the men will have to do it."

It may be too late for men to save the situation for themselves by placing an effective curb on the feminist movement, but they will have themselves to blame if they are not prepared for the forecasted conditions. Electricity, radio and the other discoveries of science that are doing so much to change living conditions should be still further invoked to insure to man better facilities for housekeeping than he has thus far provided for women.

UNCOMMON SENSE

Common sense is not the kind of sense that is so common as to be plentiful. Really, a better name for it would be rare sense. What we really mean when we say common sense is a kind of sense that we ought to use on all occasions and under all circumstances and which ought to require no genius or special talents.

For common sense is the basis of all success. Prosperity and peace are built on its sure foundation. They stand fast while the quicksands swallow the victims of dissension and distrust.

"Nothing astonishes men so much as common sense and plain dealing," Emerson wrote, and it was an "unexpurgated crevice" if one has enough common sense to sense its full meaning. The thought he wished to convey was that left us in the immortal words of Voltaire, "Common sense is not so common."

Unfortunately for all nations, it is still true that "common sense is rarely found in men of high rank," as it was in the day of that Roman philosopher who penned those words.

A little common sense behind the wheel would reduce the traffic accident rate to but a fraction of its present amazing total. A little common sense in Europe would call off the war dogs that are barking over there. And a little of the same kind of sense over here would help business.

Common sense is still the uncommon sense.

UNINUITING

American cities evoke no adverse criticism from Mrs. W. L. Lawton, chairman of the National Council for Protection of Roadside Beauty, but she has a quarrel with their avenues of approach. Addressing the American Civic Association, she spoke of the "two or three miles of ugliness" through which the traveler must pass before entering the representative city in the United States.

This criticism was not directed against suburban architecture nor against the grime and griminess of industrial zones. It referred to billboards that board up the highways on the outskirts of all communities, outraging otherwise beautiful landscapes and destroying the dignity of these entrances.

Communities are just awakening to the realization that while they were beautifying their traditionally ugly railroad approaches they permitted thoughtless persons to destroy the beauty and dignity of their highway approaches.

American cities and towns are properly sensitive in regard to the impression they make on the visitor, and they are justifiably certain that rows of unsightly billboards on both sides of their suburban highways do not create the desired impression.

A NEW ROLL OF HONOR

To our so-called anti-imperialists the spectacle of a Central American president awarding posthumous decorations to deceased United States marines must be strangely disturbing. It is a picture which somehow does not fit the shallow dogmatism of those who depict the young men wearing the American uniform as mercenaries.

Yet this is exactly what recently happened in Nicaragua, where the president, Senor Jose Maria Moncada, awarded posthumously the Nicaraguan Medal of Merit to seven officers and thirty-two enlisted men who lost their lives fighting for peace and freedom in that country. President Moncada, who lived through and took an active part in the dark days of 1927, is under no illusions as to the services which these young men rendered his country. Although he was then in open opposition to the Nicaraguan government, he sees the conduct of these young Americans as something involving self-sacrifice and bravery of a very high order. The names of these men now constitute a roll of honor in Nicaragua. As they also died in the support of American policies, their names may well mean as much to us—The New York Herald Tribune.

In 1940: "Well—all right," said the young airman, "we'll fly to Buenos Aires. But you bring the sandwiches."

What makes a rabbit thoughtful as winter comes is that there seem to be more skunks in the world than seals.

A very old local resident says he can not remember ever having heard the word "perfidy" used, except by a red-faced orator.

A local irreconcilable is going to keep on buying dictionaries until he finds one that accents "exigency" on the second syllable.

Among the more poignant of the minor tragedies: A child eager for the truth, misinformed by an elder who is too lazy to look it up.

Chinese brigands who recently murdered two female Protestant missionaries, when ransom was refused, now hold for ransom ten nuns and demand $100,000 Mexican, for their release.

To pay the gigantic ransom would put in danger every missionary and other foreigners.

To refuse means, probably, the death of the devoted and unfortunate Catholic sisters.

Unless the nations have lost capacity to get excited about anything they will do something about that.

On the South Pacific island of Niuaufu, where scientists were successful in photographing the eclipse, this strange thing happened. As the moon passed between earth and sun, shutting out light, it also shut out whatever it is that enables us to send radio messages. While the eclipse lasted the radio would not work over the Pacific. Scientists could send no radio messages.

That would interest Zoroaster who taught men to worship the sun.

Kingsford-Smith flew the Atlantic, the Pacific and now having flown from London to Australia, announces in the city of Brisbane that he makes long distance flights no more.

He obeys the orders of a young woman soon to be his wife.

Flying increases in the United States. And big companies led by United Aircraft constantly develop bigger, better planes.

President Hoover, in co-operation with the Postmaster General, is in all proper ways compelling planes that carry United States mails, to carry passengers, and to have adequate passenger equipment.

The Luddington line runs planes every hour on the hour, between New York and Washington in one hour and 50 minutes, carrying about 1,500 passengers daily.

Being ordinary gasoline at 10 1-2 cents a gallon, the line carries 10 passengers to Washington at 195 miles an hour for $3.25 worth of fuel.

That's something for railroad presidents to think about.

Mr. Larry Hogan, colored light heavyweight, is a hard hitter, and looks it. He fought with Carl Baldus, white, to make money for himself, and for politicians and other leeches that bleed prize fighting as other rackets are bled.

Mr. Hogan, colored, left the ring, expressing sincere sorrow.

Carl Baldus, the white man, was carried out dead.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

YES, THEY ARE EVERYWHERE

The statue of Venus de Milo stands in the public square of Winona Lake, Indiana, home of the Reverend "Billy" Sunday.

A lady visitor from Chicago, so the story goes, was so shocked at the nude statue that she planted poison ivy at its base. The ivy grew and flourished, and soon covered the statue with a suit of green "pajamas," as the reporter described it.

Meantime, the citizens' wrath was growing, too. They reasoned that if Billy Sunday, with his very severe moral standards, did not find the unclothed statue objectionable, no one else should. Ultimately the city department was ordered to wash down the clinging vine.

What the good people of Winona Lake could not understand was why any one from Chicago should be shocked at anything.

Live in Today

You may be an elderly person priding yourself on your wisdom.

You think the present generation is lacking in knowledge of fundamentals.

You believe their study and their thinking is superficial.

You see little in the world of today that is of value.

To you, the past held the great thinkers, the brilliant scholars when there was superiority in all lines of endeavor.

Have you ever thought that unless your wisdom has advanced with the times and has kept pace with the natural changes, it is of bygone days?

You have not accepted the best of today and put it along-side of the best of past years.

In other words you have not added and accomplished to the worthwhile things of yesterday.

It is easy and comfortable perhaps, not to make any effort to advance with and understand the true meaning of what is going on in the modern world.

Just sit back and be contented with the past may be satisfying to you.

But in such conditions you have no right to criticize or censure the youth of the present since you have made no effort to understand them.

Your idea of valuation was all right in its day but needs modernizing.

I see by some of the press articles here where some game in New Wilmington what is called Pie Kappa Stigma or something like that has had some initiations and made you a member during good behavior. I have in my day seen a good many kinds of organizations but this is a new one on me.

It looks like it might be a bunch of prohibition, democrats and other unnecessary republicans which is organizing for some mercenary political purpose, and if such are the case you watch your foot. You better not do anything until I get back and find out what is what. You know you don't have no luck what-ever picking which way the political wind blows.

I am tomorrow going away from this place to where I am headed for on acct. there is at that place being held a mass meeting as regards the manufacturing and selling of wet goods, and on account I am the largest mfg. and distributer agency for the same in our part of the country I got to keep next to all the new prescriptions which is invented.

On this trip I have been looking through all the papers which is left around the hotel lobbies to see if I could find in the same any columns worse than your Hints and Splints, but so far Fred I ain't had any luck.

Give my regards to Jake and tell him to keep his eye on his old man until I get back. So long.

Jim Borland Comments
In his department in the Sharon Herald on Saturday Reel Hoskins said, "Fred Rentz, publisher of the New Castle News, told a good story, last night, about Jim Borland, famous newspaperman and naturalist. Mr. Borland, always interested in birds, was given a vivid description of the 'pepper bird.' Perhaps Jim will tell about the 'pepper bird'."

Well, as good a friend of mine as I know he is. Fred has lied me on to this "pepper bird" proposition. Of course, "there is no such animal," but Fred's story about this imaginary bird is a good one. I do not dispute that. Only I am not the one to tell it. For years Fred has been endeavoring to pin the story on me, and I haven't the least objections to his doing that.

It seems that Fred sprung this story at New Wilmington last Friday night, where a signal honor was conferred upon him as told in a special telegram from that place appearing in the same issue of the Herald. In a special ceremony held in the chapter house on the campus of Westminster College here, Fred L. Rentz, publisher of the New Castle, Pa., News, last night was inducted into Delta Phi Sigma Fraternity as an honorary member. A jeweled pin, the gift of the chapter, was presented to Rentz, whose career as a newspaperman has spanned 48 years in Lawrence county. "It was not all because of this long service that Fred was singled out for this honor. It is length of years in the service that count. I should be given a couple of pins by some organization, having been in the business almost five years longer than him. I take it that it was more because of the service he renders the public as perhaps the leading citizen of his county that had as much to do with it as his career as a newspaper publisher. At any rate, whatever the reason, I congratulate Fred on having been selected for this mark of distinction.

But he is not the only one. It seems that this same Reel Hoskins, who is telegraph editor of the Sharon Herald, was the first newspaper man of that district to be made an honorary member of the Delta Phi Sigma. I have often wondered what it was that made "Reel" so broadly proportioned. Now I know it is all because he is so puffed up over being permitted to wear a jeweled pin of that fraternity.

Country Watches Struggle Of Bolters Against Pinchot

Battle Among Republicans In Pennsylvania Arouses Interest In Combination Of Prohibition Issue With Pinchot's Record And Old Guard Control

As appraised by the country at large, the battle for the governorship of Pennsylvania involves many issues and is complex. While to some observers, the regular candidate, as a dry is important, other matters are declared to be in the forefront of the Pennsylvania railroad and his political friends in Philadelphia. The latter group declares that Pinchot has always been hostile to the regulars, while he is credited with the support of progressives in the state. There is some speculation as to the possibility of electing a Democratic governor, but it is pointed out that some leading Democrats have deserted John Hemphill, Democratic nominee, and are supporting Pinchot. It is predicted that if he succeeds he will be a potential candidate for president.

It is described by the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.) as "a crazy campaign," and "apparently unpredictable." The SUN suspects that "the issue is less Pinchot as a dry than Pinchot as Pinchot." The PROVIDENCE JOURNAL (Ind.) refers to the state as "one of the great and significant battlefields of 1930," and says that "the uprising against Pinchot is the most threatening movement of the sort since the rebellions in 1882 and 1890 that elected Robert E. Pattison, Democrat, to the governorship." The LINCOLN NEBRASKA STATE JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) records that "Pinchot's chances are said to be 'seriously endangered' and that 'much of the opposition is because he is a dry, although he has not been stressing this issue in the campaign.'"

Believing that "Pinchot has been trying to force the state and Philadelphia machines into open hostility," the LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.) says that "he would undertake to undermine his organization from within, and he preferred to place them in the attitude of bolters, and rally to his standard the independents of both parties." The HAVERHILL GAZETTE (Ind.) offers the view: "The voters must decide between dealing a blow at prohibition and a blow at political reform. It is not a simple choice and it is unfortunate that Pinchot's dryness makes it necessary."

As to Pinchot's support, the ERIE DISPATCH-HERALD (Rep.) declares that "the leaders of the Pennsylvania grange are found on the side of Gifford Pinchot in his fight to keep control of the state government, with its plethoric treasury out of the hands of the rapacious Vire Philadelphia machine."

The TERRE HAUTE STAR (Ind. Rep.) comments: "It is the dryness of Pinchot which the Philadelphia machine makes its excuse for abandoning the reservation. Pinchot says the real issue, however, is not that of wet or dry, but of whether the public utility overlords shall have their own governor, or whether the people shall be served by a man loyal to their interests. In any case, it is a most interesting situation, and taken with other omens, seems to point to a turbulent time ahead for the Republican party."

"The bolting is not wholly one-sided," remarks the NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE (Ind. Dem.), "for Pittsburgh dispatches report that three former Democratic candidates for governor have announced their support of Pinchot and expect to carry many Democratic voters with them."

The CINCINNATI ENQUIRER (Dem.) says: "To complicate matters, there is Vance McCormick, once chairman of the Democratic national committee, supporting the Republican candidate against the Republican national committeeman, Atterbury."

Mr. McCormick's paper, the HARRISBURG PATRIOT (Ind. Dem.) makes a very spirited attack on the opponents of Pinchot in the statement: "It is a hunger to control the government of the state, the appointments to the Public Service Commission, the appointments to the courts, the interpretations of tax laws, the manipulation of the state police, the disposition of legislative bills on the desk of the governor that is involved. They are against Pinchot because he will not let them run the state government. Every one of this type of Pinchot opponent has been for himself or his political organization first and the people last."

At all, afterward. Should that Philadelphia rascal ever get control of the state government, there would be a repetition of the municipal bankruptcy, election corruption and breakdown in government which have been visited upon Philadelphia. Should the special interests in alliance with these political brigands dominate the state administration, the average person would not have a Chairman's chance of getting a square deal."

Pinchot's "marvelous aptitude in developing antagonistic forces against any movement he champions," is asserted by the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL (Ind. Rep.), and that paper continues: "The Democratic candidate for governor, John Hemphill, is a man of standing, experienced in business prudent in speech and free from extreme ideas in politics and government. Reports tell of a steady movement of Republicans to his camp. Republicans believe Pinchot would become an active candidate for president if he should win this year. If he is defeated at home he would be out of the presidential consideration forever."

All political observers agree that the revolt now in progress is of large dimensions," concludes the SEATTLE DAILY TIMES (Ind. Rep.), with the explanation: "On the surface, the principal issue is prohibition. Mr. Pinchot is an ardent dry, while his Democratic opponent, John Hemphill, favors repeal of the 18th amendment, the Volstead law and the state enforcement act. However, there are other reasons for the Republican defection and they have to do with animosities engendered during the last two decades and with control of public utilities. Republican leaders recall with some bitterness that Mr. Pinchot has spent most of his public life opposing the party organization."

The SPRINGFIELD MASSACHUSETTS UNION (Rep.) avers that "there will be many Republicans who feel that both their party and their state will be far better off with Pinchot eliminated, even if it involves a temporary experience with a Democratic governor, who, in this case, has elements of responsibility that Pinchot lacks and apparently seems."

The SCRANTON TIMES (Dem.) states that "predictions are widespread and alarm growing that the Pinchot bark will never reach port." The ROCK ISLAND ARGUS (Ind.) holds that "Mr. Pinchot will find the going very hard, a thought which is voiced also by the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS (Dem.), while the CINCINNATI TIMES-STAR (Rep.) offers the verdict: "Pinchot is opposed by powerful political organizations in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh

NEW CASTLE

OUR CASTLE

The Woman's Club - Organized in 1887.

"GOD COULDN'T BE EVERYWHERE, SO HE MADE MOTHERS."

In this proverb, even the pagan recognizes in the mother, a God appointed guardian of the race.

Our own city knows no greater need than just such guardianship or mothering—for our homes, for our schools, for our recreations and for our public housekeeping. To aid such work is the aim of this column.

Report of State Convention

The Woman's Club was represented in the State Convention held at Scranton by the president, Mrs. Albert B. Street and Mrs. E. S. Crawford. Mrs. Street gave a short report at Monday's meeting. In part, this report follows:

The thirty-fifth annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women met in Scranton October 13-17.

Every courtesy was extended by the people of Scranton to the club women. Notes of welcome and flowers were sent to the rooms by the hotel officials and receptions were given in their homes by presidents of the city.

Mrs. Frick, the State president, presided in a gracious, happy manner, and kept all business and entertainment well in hand.

Mrs. Ambrose Diehl, vice president, reported 449 federated clubs in the state.

Facts for General Work

The legislative chairman says, "A message written on wrapping paper expressing the writer's own opinion is more effective than a form letter sent to a congressman."

The social chairman stressed entertaining for the new members.

The welfare chairman emphasized selling towels made by the blind to aid them in making a living.

The fine arts department presented Joseph Auslander, a poet of note, who defined poetry as trying to tune in with the infinite and finding your wave length short. He also urged people to read poetry as a balm for heartache and trouble.

Mrs. Phillips, of the American Home department, earnestly pleaded for homes to be established in places where advice and comfort could be given to young and untrained girls and mothers.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, a member of the Canadian Parliament gave a splendid address on International Relations. She stressed good will.

Amelia Earhart, noted flier, was one of the most charming speakers relating her experiences in a winsome way.

Finding Of Bodies Reveals 300-Year-Old Tragedy Of Arctic

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 24.—The remains of seven Dutch Arctic pioneers, who three hundred years ago dared face the rigors of an Arctic winter, have been found on the island of Jan Mayen, according to dispatches from Oslo.

These state that the discovery was made by a wireless operator, who serves as meteorologist for the Norwegian Meteorological Institute, and who has for several years stayed over the winter at Jan Mayen, along with three assistants.

The fact that the seven Dutchmen were buried at some point on the island was known, but information was lacking as to the exact spot. This summer an official Dutch expedition visited Jan Mayen and set up a memorial stone, but the stone had to be placed merely by guesswork.

Mr. Olonkin, who made the discovery, says that when the Dutch expedition had left he began a systematic search, and finally, at Wairus Bay, found a cairn resembling the old Viking burial places. He began to explore it, and when only a few stones had been removed he found a skull, several teeth, and finally pieces of wood from the coffins and the remains of the bodies.

Behind the death of these seven Dutchmen lies one of the most gruesome tragedies of the Arctic. In 1633 a Dutch whaling expedition had built a station of Jan Mayen but the skipper was curious to know whether it was possible to stay at the island over winter, and if that were possible the hunting season might be considerably extended. Seven of his crew volunteered to try and on August 26 they were left behind, with a dog as company. Their leader was Outgert Jacobson, and he carefully wrote down to the day of his death every detail of the tragic experience.

The diary shows that everything turned out contrary to what had been expected. The men believed that it would be possible to kill sufficient bears and whales to supply fresh meat, but when the darkness set in no animals were to be found.

There remained only the supply of salted meat, and soon scurvy developed. When spring arrived they were so weak that they could hardly move. Jacobson set down in his diary that they killed a bear on March 20, but that they had hardly strength to eat it.

On Easter morning, in the beginning of April, Jacobson died, and another of the men continued the diary. On April 22 the diary reads: "We are all in bitter need and dying. Nobody but I am able to move. I crawl on hands and feet, and help the others as far as I can."

On April 27 the diarist writes that he has killed the dog and made soup of the meat. The last entry in the diary is on April 30, and reads: "Wind as before. Sun shine. Wind."

When the Dutch expedition returned to Jan Mayen on June 4, 1634, only the dead bodies were found. Gun-shots were fired in honor of the dead, and the bodies buried in a common grave, the site of which had been lost until the present discovery.

Verdict Of $8,904 Is Cut To $990

Plaintiffs Were On Way To Cascade Park When Injured

BUTLER, Pa. Oct. 24.—A. O. Stein, Butler business man, won a victory in common pleas court today when a jury cut a verdict against him from $8,904.44 to $990. The larger amount was assessed against Stein in April in favor of Mrs. Emma Roth and her daughter, Miss Florence Roth, and Alvin V. Nossokoff, all of Pittsburgh. Stein obtained a new trial, which was completed today. The damage action resulted from an automobile accident in Butler on July 7, 1929, when the plaintiffs were on the way to Cascade Park, New Castle. The women were cut and bruised and Nossokoff, who is a musician, claimed that injuries to his hand had disabled him in his profession. He is now employed in the Pittsburgh detective bureau.

Hunter Is Shot By His Own Gun

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 24.—Albert E. Belleville 30, of North Wheeling was fatally wounded when in placing a shotgun in his duck-boat at the north end of Wheeling island the gun was discharged. The charge entered his chest. Thomas Walker, 25, his companion, rowed the wounded man to the Ohio side where an ambulance was called but before the wounded man could be taken to a hospital he was dead. It was the first hunting fatality of the year here.

Senior High Plans For First Play Of Season, November 7

Class In Dramatics Will Present The "Nut Farm" As First Effort

The class in dramatics at the senior high school has just made announcement that its first play of the year is scheduled for Friday evening, November 7. The comedy chosen is John C. Brownell's "Nut Farm" which was originally produced in the Cort theatre, Chicago, where it had a run of 22 weeks. Later it played successfully in the Biltmore theatre, New York.

The cast is very enthusiastic about "The Nut Farm", the situations are often hilariously laughable, the dialog is snappy and humorous, there is continual opportunity for clever character depiction and the action with its setting in the movie world of Hollywood is modern to the minute. "The Nut Farm" has, however, a sincerity and wholesomeness lacking in such a large proportion of modern plays. It is for this reason particularly adapted to its high school cast. The final choice represents an examination of many possible comedies and numerous trials in the dramatics classes to secure roles suitable to the personnel of this year's group of student actors. As a result there is not a weak role in the play.

Students and friends of the high school look forward to the annual series of student plays. They are always produced with a finish in the stage setting and in the acting that make the audience forget the word "amateur". To the young people who win places in the cast and to the high school in general, the school plays are among the red-letter days of the academic year.

Grove City To Get Electric Cut

Committee From Council Works Out New Schedule Reducing All Rates

(Special To The News)
GROVE CITY, Oct. 24.—A final report of the special committee on electrical rates will be submitted to the borough council at their next regular meeting. This committee consisting of the chairman of the electric and finance committees of council with Supt. Frank Poehliman and N. A. Milner, has worked out a schedule of commercial and power rates based on the domestic rate selected at the last special meeting of council. It is stated that a substantial reduction in all classes of consumers has been worked out in this new schedule.

ADDRESS ROTARY CLUB
Dr. A. J. Calderwood, dean of Grove City College was the speaker yesterday noon at the Grove City Rotary club meeting in the Penn. Grove Hotel. Dr. Calderwood gave an interesting half-hour address on his recent trip abroad giving a general summary of the entire trip.

INJURED MAN BETTER
The condition of Clyde McCoy who was severely injured while at work in the Cooper-Bessemer plant last Saturday, shows slight signs of improvement according to a report from the Grove City Hospital this morning.

TO FORM CLUB
There will be an organization meeting for the forming of a Flower Club in Grove City at the offices of the King Company on Blair street on October 25th at eight p. m.

See Rapid Advance In Sea Scout Work

Newly Presented Here Two Months Ago, Idea Gains In Popularity

Introduced to New Castle scout circles less than two months ago when Regional Director J. Lee Calahan came here from Philadelphia to conduct a week end training course, the Sea Scout branch of Boy Scout activity already has taken a fast hold on scouts generally.

Troop 15, up-and-doing troop of the First Christian church has likely been the troop which has carried the work the farthest. Several of its meetings here have been devoted exclusively to the study of sea scout work.

At present their sessions are centered around the projects of the seabag, made by the sea scouts using a sailor's palm and needles and model boat building. These two projects are requirements needed by members to complete the program of instruction given by Mr. Calahan during his visit here.

Members of the prospective ship, all Troop 15 scouts, are Alfred Stump, John Stump, Ray Bennett, Virgil Saxton, Ralph Montgomery, and Scoutmaster Sidney Smith.

One reason there are not more governmental upsets in Europe is that conditions are so bad the opposition party doesn't want to get into the mess.—The Jackson Citizen-Parrot.

BLUE OVERCOATS

are more popular than ever this year

Navy blue... blue-black... blue mixture cloths, when made of fine wool and indigo dyed, are not only stylish but very serviceable. Our blue meltons, blue kerseys, blue fancy mixtures and Scotch tweeds are the most remarkable values the world has seen since pre-war days.

We recommend them to men and young men... to men of every size, for we manufacture them for the youth of 16 as well as for tall, slim men, for stout men of 50 inch chest, and for very short men. There are few men we cannot fit perfectly without an alteration... for those few, alterations are made speedily and without charge.

Our assortment of overcoats in Oxford grays, medium and dark shades of gray, tans and beautiful mixtures is just the same as in the blue overcoats... the values for the money are beyond words... it is needless to say what the same quality sells for elsewhere, or to make comparisons.

Our business has not been built upon words or advertisements, but upon the merit of our clothes, and upon the way we've done business for 51 years. We've made clothing in Cleveland since 1879... They're sold direct to our customers who save the middleman's profit... we stand back of every garment with a guarantee to please you or to refund your money with no "ifs", "ands" or "buts".

Deep-pile camel hair overcoats are just $22.50... ours are made of the actual hair of the camel from Asia... there are many imitations of cotton and what-not to fit a price. Before paying a very high price for a camel hair or fur coat, we request that you inspect this Richman Brothers achievement of 1930.

Man Charged In Substitution Of Horse Arrested

Superintendent Of Chicago Police Trails Wanted Man To South Dakota

Word was received in New Castle today that Ed Larson alias Ed Larkin, wanted in connection with the alleged theft of a horse which was sold at auction from a carload of Western animals at Volant October 9, had been placed under arrest at Salem, S. D., and will be brought back to Pittsburgh to answer charges preferred against him under a Federal warrant.

It is claimed that Larson, alias Larkin, shipped a carload of horses into the county from Montana two weeks ago, to be disposed of at auction.

While at the unloading and feeding station in Chicago the claim is made that Larson exchanged a valuable horse from a consignment en route to Detroit, for an old worn out animal in his own shipment. The substitution was discovered soon after the cars had left Chicago, and a railroad policeman hurried here to arrest Larson. He had fled from the district however. He was traced to Underwood, S. D., where he was placed under arrest and is now being held in jail at Salem, S. D. awaiting his return to Pittsburgh.

It is said that a farmer named McCormick of near Mt. Jackson purchased the animal but when he found there was a dispute over it, did not make final settlement and is holding the animal awaiting final disposition of the case.

Capitalists Aid British Cannery

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 24.—The British canning industry is about to throw down the gauntlet to the world.

This new industry for Britain, which since 1925 has multiplied its output five times, has just had millions of pounds sterling put into it by English capitalists.

The new enterprise, now underway, will bring the canning factory to the door of the grower. No longer will it be necessary for fruit to rot upon the tree, the root crops to rot in the ground, for want of a market. In future, wherever fruit and vegetables are grown on a sufficiently large scale, the new combine—organized mainly by Cadbury's the great cocoa organization—will erect a factory to take the crops.

Retail Grocers To Install Officers

At the meeting of the New Castle Retail Grocer's Association to be held Tuesday night, November 4, officers of the organization elected at a recent meeting will be installed. There will also be other important matters of business up for consideration at the same time.

Is One Of Eighteen States
 Who Have Licensed
 Glider Pilots

BY ARTHUR C. WIMER,
 Special Washington Correspondent
 of The New Castle News
 WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.— Pennsylvania, on the first day of the present month, boasted 463 licensed or identified aircraft, 27 licensed or identified gliders, 699 licensed pilots, and 400 licensed mechanics, the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce reports.

Of the Pennsylvania aircraft, 390 were licensed and 73 were identified.
 The 699 pilots of the State holding official commerce department licenses embraced 211 transport pilots, 133 limited commercial pilots, eight industrial pilots, and 347 pilots with private flying licenses.
 There was only one licensed glider pilot in the State although there were 118 in the country.

Of the 48 states, Pennsylvania ranks fifth in the number of aircraft bearing commerce department licenses or identification, ninth in the number of licensed gliders, sixth in the number of licensed mechanics, according to the report of the aeronautics branch.

The State is one of the eighteen in the country having licensed glider pilots.

Boards May Not Make Investments On Own Judgment

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Boards of trustees may not make investments of funds donated to State institutions to be held in trust for any purpose without first submitting the proposal to the Governor, under an opinion rendered today by Special Deputy Attorney General William
 A. Schnader.

The opinion was given at the request of Arthur P. Townsend, the budget secretary, who reported that in several instances such investments had been made in institution boards upon their own responsibility.

The sole authority for the making of such investments was placed upon the Governor by an amendment to the administrative code passed at the 1927 session of the General Assembly, Schnader's formal opinion said.

Welsh News

(By WILLIAM A. JOHNS)

The members of the Star of Wales Lodge held a very interesting meeting last Saturday evening when all the officers were present.

A letter was read from David W.
 Williams, California stating that his health was just the same and that he has moved to a new place in the state.

John Harvard and Evan Hopkins gave the report of the sick members.

The Emmanuel Baptist Church on last Sunday evening accepted the offer of the two sisters, Annie and Gladys Thomas, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Thomas of Delaware avenue to put on a concert
 Friday evening, after Thanksgiving
 Day.

Rev. Rees T. Williams is expected to return home sometime this week after a pleasant visit to the city of Cincinnati, Ohio, where his friend Rev. J. T. Williams is the pastor of the Welsh church.

News has come from Hubbard, O., that our friend Samuel Jones, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. William Phil-

Clothing Important In Character Study Of Cartoon Subject

Sketches at top shows different effects obtained by clothing; upper right, how to obtain action; below, suggestions for drawing animals.

(This is another lesson in the national cartoon contest of Central Press.)

BY LEE STANLEY
 Creator of "The Old Home Town"

The beginner artist should bear in mind the fact that clothing as well as the features aid in presenting the character of a cartoon subject.

The unkempt, wrinkled clothes of the man in the top left corner of the drawing indicates that he is downhearted and not happy. The straight, snappy lines of the clothes of the fellow on the right suggest just the opposite—you believe that he is confident, well pleased with himself and happy.

Money No Bar To Education

Survey Shows Hundreds Of Keystone State Students Support Themselves

BY ARTHUR C. WIMER,
 Special Washington Correspondent
 of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 24.—
 The mere lack of outside financial support does not seem to deter Pennsylvania young men and women from going to college, a survey compiled by the United States office of education shows.

Hundreds of college students in the Keystone State support themselves entirely and thousands contribute in varying measure to their own support, the survey indicates.
 In five schools alone—Duquesne, Temple, Pennsylvania, Pittsburg, and Pennsylvania State—more than 10,000 students, both men and women, work at the same time they pursue their college courses, and almost half of that number earn their entire way. Earnings of self-help students at these five schools average more than $3,000,000 annually.

Duquesne, which has the smallest student body of these five institutions, oddly enough has the greatest student earnings, this figure in a recent year going as high as $1-700,000. Almost half of the school's enrollment contributed to this total.
 At Temple university, more than two-thirds of the student body of approximately 10,000 earn over $700,000 annually. Earnings at the University of Pennsylvania, which are distributed over a smaller portion of the student body, approximate $500,000 annually, at Pittsburg
 $150,000, and at Penn State $130-000.

Aside from their adeptness at helping themselves, Pennsylvania students can call upon the numerous loan and scholarship funds, chiefly of sectarian nature, maintained in the State.

Parks Elected As Commander Of Sons Of Veterans

Will Place Historical Float In The Armistice Day Parade

Oscar L. Jackson Camp No. 243,

BID GOODBYE FOREVER to all the discomforts of cold weather driving. For now, with an Arvin Heater in your car, you can enjoy the same cozy comfort as though you were right at your own fireside—no matter how cold
 the weather nor how long the drive.

The Arvin Hot Water Car Heater uses the water in your motor, circulating it through a small radiator. At the touch of a switch a small electric fan forces this fresh, odorless, hot water heat throughout your car, with equal comfort to all passengers.

The deflector blades and circular dial enable you to

Lists Mental Lapses Which Cause Crashes

President Of Pennsylvania Motor Federation Lists Accident Causes

CONCENTRATION ON DRIVING MOST NEEDED

HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 24.—Mental lapses on the part of the driver, some of which seem trivial, cause the majority of automobile accidents, according to S. Edward Gable, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, State unit of the A. A. A. He outlined as follows what he termed the most serious of these:—

No. 1.—When the driver engages in back-seat conversation and momentarily turns around. This is a serious distraction under present traffic conditions. Safety demands the concentration of one's entire attention on the operation of the car. Lack of concentration—the temptation on the part of the driver to turn around—has ditched many a car.

No. 2.—Crowding of the driver's seat. The most skillful driver needs plenty of room for the safe operation of his car and with more than two on the seat the driver is hampered, especially in an emergency. One-arm driving also comes under this category, as it is extremely dangerous to have an arm around a fellow-passenger and but one hand on the wheel when an emergency arises.

No. 3.—When the driver is sleepy and fatigued. Here danger lurks, for no one can concentrate in driving while in this condition. Stop driving. Let someone else take the wheel, or park somewhere off the highway and take a nap. Dozing while at the wheel is fraught with dire results and has brought an untimely end to the driver or other occupants of a car.

No. 4.—Prolonged study of the dashboard devices. Keep your eyes on the road. An occasional glance at the indicating devices is important, but prolonged study of them often causes accident. If anything seems to be wrong, stop the car well off the traveled portion of the highway, or turn into a side road where there is little traffic in order to search out the trouble.

No. 5.—Substitution of horn blowing for careful driving. When crossing intersections play double safe. The horn is for emergency use, not a device that takes the place of brakes, nor does the sounding of it give the driver the right to speed across an intersection without due regard for approaching traffic, or for pedestrians. The horn-blowing driver not only annoys, but is a menace to highway safety.

No. 6.—"Hogging" of the road. Many lapses, some intentional, come under this classification. The driver who persists in holding to the center of the road; the one who cuts in and out of traffic lines with little or no consideration of the approaching cars; the one who goes through a red signal light, fails to obey a stop sign or passes a toll-bar receiving or discharging passengers, or overtakes a car at a curve or on the crest of a hill, either wilfully or through mental lapse, contributes to the appalling toll of accidents on the streets and highways.

Strict attention to these "simple rules of conduct" will save many lives and prevent multitudes of accidents, according to Mr. Gable. "If every motor car operator would avoid these lapses and hold to the golden rule of the road—drive as you would have others drive—highways would be safer and there would be more pleasure and comfort in operating a motor car," he said.

Episcopal Mission Closes On Sunday

Effective Mission Of Nine Days Duration Will Be Brought To Close Sunday

Sunday will be the final day of the Church Army Mission at Saint Andrew's Episcopal Church, East Long avenue. Judging from the attendance the past nine days, a larger attendance than ever is expected for that day. The Services will be at the usual hours. The Communion Service at eight o'clock will be incorporated for all members of Saint Andrew's Church; and it is hoped that every confirmed member will be at that service. Following the service, a light breakfast will be served for all those who will stay for the Rally Day Exercises of the Sunday school.

The exercises are scheduled for 10:30, and Captain Becker and Cadet Bennett of the Church Army will take a part in the program, which includes a Rally Day play under the direction of the Superintendent of the Sunday school, Jacob C. Herick.

The final Evangelistic service of the Mission will be held Sunday evening at 7:30. After that the two Church Army men, who have been doing such effective work the past nine days will bid farewell to Saint Andrew's. Captain Becker going to Warren, Penna., for his next mission, and Cadet Bennett leaving for the Training Center at Providence, R. I., where he will be until he receives his commission next March. The last Children's Service will be Hickory Heights Organize P. T. A.

Parents-Teachers Of District Meet To Form New Organization To Help Pupils

Over fifty parents and teachers of Hickory Heights community met on Thursday evening in the school to organize a Parents-Teachers Association.

Mrs. Earl Swezey, president of the Lawrence County P. T. A. was present as speaker of the evening and took charge of the meeting and organizing the new association.

Mrs. F. A. White, president of the Union Township Association was also present and told of the success of the organization in their school and the good the parents, the teachers and the scholars had derived from it.

Officers for a period of two years were elected: Mrs. H. F. Robinson being chosen president; Cecile Hall, vice president; Erma Perrine, secretary; W. V. Wagner, treasurer.

There were thirty five persons present signified their intention to enroll as members and the association will meet at six week intervals, the next meeting date to be December 4.

Interesting Mechanism In Chime Chamber Of Church

Several flights of stairs and three wobbly ladders will take you to one of the most interesting nooks in the city—the chime chamber of the First Methodist church.

Unless you have been in the tower and have seen the ten metal pipes of lengths ranging from over 12 feet to 5 feet, hanging loosely from the wooden frame, and the various contraptions that work in order to produce the mellow tones, the chimes that ring daily are just chimes to you.

But after seeing the mechanism that produces the pretty songs, a picture of working magnets, electric pressure, mechanical plungers and long swinging pipes floods the mind when "Auld Lang Syne" floats out from the tower.

Unless you have seen the queer little keyboard beside the organ in the church auditorium, more likely than not you will visualize a man in the basement, tugging at a heavy rope that is attached to huge bells in the tower, just as the bells of Notre Dame were rung.

At noon every day of the week, Albert Taylor, a young man of this city, faithfully rings the chimes. Just ten notes can be played and therefore all music must be specially arranged for the Methodist chimes. The keyboard has black and white keys, just like a piano. However, each note must be played slowly and with a brief pause each time. On Sundays the chimes are played before the morning and evening services. In clear weather, according to Taylor, the chimes can be heard a mile away. They can always be heard in a radius of a half mile. Trouble is not often experienced with the chime apparatus, but two keys wouldn't work for a long time last winter and it was necessary for a local organ repairman to climb up the several flights of stairs and three wobbly ladders to the tower to investigate the trouble.

"Times Are Hard," But Inhabitants Of Bowery Are Not Yet "Starving"

Certain Amount Of Good Cheer And Optimism Seen In Trip To Bowery

"White Collared" Men Join Ranks Of "Bread Liners", Is Quite Unusual

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—"White collar" men are beginning to show up in the "bread lines" of the bowery, the nation's "nervous center" of the unemployment problem.

A tour of this picturesque, mile-long thoroughfare by an International News Service reporter today, revealed this fact. All along the bowery, with its gaudy shooting galleries, employment offices, pawn shops, knick knack stores and speak-easies, there could be seen a sizeable sprinkling of men with soiled white collars mingling with the bums, the "gandy dancers" and the jobobs who habitually hibernate in the locality as winter nears.

Nobody Starving
Maybe times are a little hard and perhaps a "black winter" does loom for these men, but there is no undue pessimism—no especially sour faces. The Rescue Mission is tackling the problem with fortitude born of experience and with a certain amount of good cheer and optimism.

"Nobody is starving on the Bowery," said Lieut. Colonel Wallace Winchell, head of the Salvation Army Memorial Hotel who, since 1890 has intimately known the Bowery and for the last ten years has lived and worked among its denizens.

Approximately 2,000 men are now walking the Bowery, according to Colonel Winchell's estimate. This number is moderately high and probably will be augmented as the weather grows colder. In one sense business is good in the neighborhood. The Grand Hotel, with its white tiled entrance, "rooms men only, 40 cents a night," has been filling up. Trade is active at the Comet, the Manhattan, the Palace and even at the Ritz White House where they charge 50 cents a night for a "hop."

Take To Buttermilk
"I was told today," said Colonel Winchell, "that many men have been sleeping in empty buildings. Others sleep outdoors, on brick piles. Lately some of the men have been afraid to sleep because others have stolen the clothing from their bodies as they slept."

A "buttermilk bar" is the latest innovation on the bowery. It has been installed by Colonel Winchell at the Salvation Army Hotel. Buttermilk is sold at two cents per cup. Doughnuts cost one cent each. In the "bread line" downstairs soup and bread are free. Winchell said men are drinking buttermilk and stay away from the speak-easies that sell them "smoke" (poisonous liquor). They can get eight glasses of buttermilk for the price of one gulp of "hooch."

Colonel Winchell invited the International News Service correspondent to spiritual services which are held daily. About 300 men were in the audience. They were of a higher type than I had observed on the Bowery on a similar pilgrimage a year ago.

Six Had Good Beds
After services, Colonel Winchell from the platform asked how many of the men had a good bed last night. About six hands went up.

"How many sleep in speak-easies?" he asked.
"How many of you men carried the banner (walked the streets) last night?"

Colonel Winchell praised the efforts of the Federal government and the Wall Street emergency committee on unemployment to relieve the stress of the jobless. He said that if some of America's wealthy people would visit the Bowery they would voluntarily offer financial aid. He said "the proceeds of one of the country's big college football games would provide at least one meal a day for every idle man on the Bowery throughout the winter."

Perfect Butler Blames Drink For Downfall
(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Arthur Minors, forty years of age and described by the prominent people who have employed him as London's perfect butler, is in jail again.

Abject and very apologetic, Minors appeared at West London Police Court charged with obtaining two bottles of whiskey and an ox tongue from a store by false pretenses.

Detective Perry told the court despite the fact he had been thrice imprisoned for theft, Minors had been in the service of the greatest persons in the land, including Princess Mary, daughter of King George and Queen Mary, the Duke of Connaught, ex-King Manoel of Portugal, and the late Lord Kitchener.

"Drunkenness," said Detective Perry, "is the cause of his downfall. Wherever I have made inquiries about his character I have found him described as a perfect butler, strict, and hard-working in his duties."

"But as soon as he gets drunk he absolutely loses himself."
Minors, asked what he had to say, told the magistrate:
"I am afraid it is all true. It is the drink."
He was sent down for six months.

New York Church To Have World's Largest Bells
(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The largest carillon in the world will peal out from the belfry of the newly opened 22-story Riverside Church on Riverside Drive just about the time a white snow blanket will herald Yuletide's coming. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., made the gift of the 72-bell carillon in memory of his mother, Mrs. Laura Spelman Rockefeller.

The bells range from the Bourbon, 122½ inches in diameter and weighing 20 tons, to the smallest treble bell hardly larger than an ordinary hand bell.
For the first time in history a carillon compass of five and six octaves is to be achieved.
Five of the largest bells must be swung by electric motors. The remainder are stationary and are struck by hammers operated by the carillonneur, Kamel Lefevre.

The carillon may be played by the carillonneur manually from the playing room in the center of the second tier of bells. Or it may be played automatically somewhat like a player piano. Peals may be rung by the five large bells, and certain of the bells can be played as chimes from the organ console in the main chancel.

The Riverside Church, overlooking Morning Heights, is to be formally dedicated in February, 1931, although services are being held at present.
The church is of Thirteenth Century French Gothic architecture, but over a steel skeleton enclosed with masonry. The history of religious events is told in detail figures which cover the walls, and the whole structure is rich in allegorical design.

Denver Stock Yards Hang Up Sheep Record
(International News Service)
DENVER, Col., Oct. 24.—The Denver stockyards hung up a new record for September sheep receipts last month.

During the month 357,582 head of sheep were received, the largest number ever to have been received in September, and an increase of 92,173 over the receipts of September, 1929.

Cattle receipts exceeded those of September, 1929 by 1,394 head. Hog receipts did not quite equal those of last year.

During one week last month more feeder sheep were bought at Denver by Kansas feeders than during the entire month last year, according to L. M. Paxton, assistant general manager of the Denver Union Stockyard company.

During the next few years, Paxton says, Denver will be the best possible market for western livestock as buyers in northern Colorado and Western Nebraska will be purchasing feeder cattle and sheep on this market.

Says American Men Know Little Of Love
(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 24.—"American men fight furiously for love, then when it comes they are at a loss to know how to make it last and increase," declares Edna Malcoskev, well-known author of "The Unholy Virgin" who is once more in Paris.

"All European men take the love of women for granted, that is where the big difference comes in, because they have always been in the minority and can find love practically anywhere they choose to look for it."

Miss Malcoskev also finds that many American women who come to Europe both fear and are attracted to the men on this side of the water.

Science Studies Teach Students Varied Problems

Survey Shows Popularity Of Each Branch; Former Leaders Wane

MOST STUDENTS STUDY SUBJECTS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—“Why do birds sit on electric wires?” “What makes the grass green?” and questions of a similar nature no longer remain unanswered in Pennsylvania high schools.

With a veritable army of young people engaged in the study of science subjects, there is little fear that the affairs and mysteries of everyday life are being neglected in the instruction given in these institutions. Figures compiled in the Department of Public Instruction show that there were 227,653 pupils in a total enrollment of 405,333, who studied the various science subjects during the year 1929-1930.

The eleven subjects studied include agriculture, astronomy, biology, botany, chemistry, general science, geology, nature study, physics, physical geography and zoology.

The science subject pursued by the largest number of pupils was general science which enrolled 116,213 boys and girls. This number represents approximately one-half of all the pupils who pursued science courses. General science is the most recent addition to the list of sciences taught in public high schools. Its introduction dates to some twenty years ago. Its aim is to furnish in a unified way an introduction to the various sciences included in the curriculum. Such being the purpose, it is essentially a first year subject in the average high school.

Biology Second

Biology appears to be the next most popular subject as it registers the next highest enrollment of pupils, namely, 44,596. This subject is likewise one that has come into favor during the last twenty-five years. Prior to its advent, botany and zoology as separate subjects held important places.

Chemistry follows with a total of 27,357 pupils. This subject was one of the two original sciences reported in the early nineties when high school science statistics first became available. It has enjoyed a favorable position in secondary instruction over a long period of years. So well established in this science that no less a State than Massachusetts, as early as 1857, passed a law requiring that chemistry along with other subjects be taught in the schools of every town containing 500 families.

Following closely the enrollments in chemistry, was the registration in physics, the second of the two older sciences just mentioned. The records show 21,378 pupils taking this study, generally in the junior year in high school.

Geography Wanes

Agriculture registered approximately 5000 pupils, mostly enrolled in rural community vocational schools.

Physical geography, a highly popular study about 1900, has gradually dropped in enrollments until a scant 400 pupils are now taking the course. The same situation obtains with respect to botany and zoology, both of which were quite prominent several decades ago. Both have since gradually declined until the former enrolls 2795 and the latter 2283, in a total of over two hundred thousand science pupils.

Astronomy

Astronomy, once the noble science, has apparently fallen to an even lower estate in the estimation not only of the pupils but of those who plan high school courses. One of the favorites in the early high school period, it is now taught in a single public high school in the State. During 1929-1930 there were thirty-four pupils enrolled in the course.

A similar comparison was shown with respect to geology, a subject held in high esteem in the early days, but now enrolling a bare 541 pupils. Recent years, however, have shown an increased interest in this study. Its former popularity was supposed to have been fostered to some extent by the opportunity offered to learn the stories of creation and revelation on the part of those who were dominated by the religious motive.

Nature study, given mostly in the first two years of the junior high schools, registered a total of 3117 pupils.

Use Telescope To Find Bootleggers

(International News Service)

HARPER, Kas., Oct. 24.—Lo, the poor bootleggers of Harper county, Kas., they are being spied upon by Guy Neal, county attorney, via the telescope route atop the Harper county courthouse.

Armed with his telescope Neal sits for hours in the tower of the courthouse surveying the county from limits to limits, looking for violators of the prohibition law.

And his quest is not in vain for several times in prosecuting bootleggers he was compelled to admit in open court that he obtained evidence with his trusty telescope.

Two tables of bridge were in play during the evening, prizes being given Misses Margaret Vogan and Martha Jenkins.

Halloween suggestions were used in the table decorations, and the hostess was assisted in serving delicious refreshments by Mrs. Ruth Hamilton. The club will meet in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Ruth Hamilton, of Beckford street.

Dismiss Charges Against Audino

Audino Claims Rent For House Paid To Executor Of Estate

Patsy Audino, temporary fireman for the city, accompanied by Attorney Joseph Leta today appeared before city council which met in the municipal building to reply to non-payment of rent charges made by Joe Woods. Council dismissed the case, stating it was one which did not belong under their jurisdiction.

Woods charged Audino had paid only two of 17 months rent.

Audino claimed he had made repairs and had paid rent to an attorney for an estate in which Woods is interested. The attorney is the executor.

Woods asked Audino to produce the receipts and Leta, his attorney, said the executor had them.

Solicitor Robert White told council that it could not act on the case unless a judgment had been handed down against Audino.

Planes Will Aid Feeding Game In Remote Sections

Test Last Winter Prove Efficacy Of Plane As Feeding Agency

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Airplanes again will be used in the winter distribution of food for wild game and birds under present plans of the Game Commission.

Initial experiments made last winter in the scattering of food of all kinds in otherwise inaccessible places convinced Commission officials that the airplane is the best means of feeding game.

Wild animals, unlike humans, are unable to draw upon sections of land but by the summer's drought for winter supplies of food. With the exception of squirrels which migrate readily in search of food, most wild animals depend entirely upon the supply adjacent to the place in which they were born. If no such supply is available starvation results.

In addition to the use of airplanes when they are available the Commission also will rely upon the co-operation of the many agencies which in former years assisted in the feeding of wild animals. Boy Scouts and mail carriers always assist the game protectors in the winter food distribution.

The Commissioner distributes a bulletin advising those interested the best ways in which to feed wild animals during the winter months.

Moscow's Red Square Is Being Repaired

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, Oct. 24.—The cobblestones of the historic Red square over which flowed the blood of thousands of beheaded political agitators in Czarist days are being replaced after nearly three centuries by cut stone paving blocks to smooth the march of soldiers and proletarians on Soviet holidays.

The street car line through the square will be removed and the high red stone wall of the Kremlin facing the square will be restored. Slow progress is being made on the new tomb of Lenin in the square, but most of the work is expected to be complete in time for the celebration of the 14th anniversary of the founding of the Soviet government November 7.

Suit For $10,000 Damage Resulting From Auto Smash

Accident In The New Castle-Ellwood Road In Which Joseph A. Rocco Was Injured

Joseph A. Rocco of Ellwood City is plaintiff and John W. Tilla defendant, in an automobile damage case on trial before Judge Hildebrand today in which Rocco is asking $10,000 from Tilla.

Circumstances surrounding the case are somewhat unusual. Rocco claims that he was driving south on the New Castle-Ellwood City road. At a point near the Rose homestead, something went the matter with his brakes and his car left the roadway and went into the ditch on the east side. Seeing that he could not get it out, he sent to Ellwood City for a wrecker, which came in charge of Samuel H. Stillwagon.

It had been raining and snowing and the road was slippery. The wrecker was stopped on the concrete opposite the car in the ditch, but sufficient room was left for an automobile to pass on the west side of the wrecker. As a precaution Stillwagon sent a man in each direction to warn approaching traffic. It was growing dark at the time. The watchers stationed themselves about 300 feet from the wrecker.

Stillwagon and Rocco then went to work. Soon Tilla came driving toward the wrecker from the south. The watcher attempted to stop him

Needlework Guild Is After Members
Local Branch Is Endeavoring To Increase Membership Now

Activated by a desire to accomplish even better things for the needy, the New Castle Branch of the Needlework Guild of America is seeking a membership drive here at the present time. A rather unusual membership drive for there is no money needed, no dinners held to pep up the workers, no overhead expense.

It is merely a campaign to invite more members in to the organization and all that is necessary to membership is this. A call on the telephone to one of the directors of the Guild and give two new garments to be distributed among the charitable organizations.

Mrs. James M. Smith, Sr., is president of the local branch of the Guild and has under her direction twenty sections, each one of which is supervised by a president.

There are no dues attending membership in the Guild. Merely contribute two new garments each November 1st and the thing is done. The annual gathering of the local branch will be held shortly after November 1st, it is announced, and in the meantime members are asked to get their garments in to their section president.

Speaking of night football, the sum taken from customers always seemed a little heavy for a daylight job.

New England Expects Record Hunting Season

Partridges Plentiful, With Season Opening Earlier
Many Hunters Take Field

MANY RABBITS ARE LET LOOSE IN DISTRICT

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Oct. 24.—Polish up that rod and put the dog through his paces, the hunting season is upon us.

Throughout New England and New Brunswick the opening hunting season began with a "bang" and indications point to one of the most successful seasons in years.

Large broods of partridges were reported to have survived late summer—much in contrast to recent years—when broods in both New Hampshire and Massachusetts thinned down considerably.

The open season on partridge began 20 days earlier in the granite state causing scores of ambitious gunners to troop across the borders in search of ruffed grouse and then continue the hunt in states farther south.

The woodcock shooting season in New Hampshire under federal law is limited to 30 days but in the Bay state the bird may be hunted until November 20.

The shortening of the open woodcock season caused much disappointment to the New Hampshire birds-men but were encouraged by the reports of numerous partridge thereby offsetting previously lean years of the bird. However, there should be many bag limits made on woodcock if a latent dry period does not drive the birds out of their summer ground.

Coincident with the inaugural of bird hunting, comes the open season on coons, foxes and rabbits.

When tracking becomes good,
coon hunting is enlivened and game of this kind becomes abundant.

The New Hampshire state game department during the past year liberated some 3,000 rabbits and when snow begins to fly, rabbit hunting should have its best season. No sport in the state exceeds rabbit hunting in popularity.

October 15 will see the beginning of deer hunting in New Hampshire and Coos county the season will end December 1. A big season on deer is predicted. While deer haunts in the southern part of that state have thinned out, they are reported coming back in several counties. The big cat has caused considerable damage to the deer and rabbit but great progress has been made thru the bob cat dog being used by the state in the elimination of the animal.

Duck hunting now legal in New Hampshire is open.

From New Brunswick comes the call that the deer season is on.
Moose and deer hunting began October 1 and closes on November 30.
Several changes have been noted in the game laws there including the new deer hunting license, a provision that a bull moose to be legally killed must have ten points or times on its antlers.

On the islands of the Grand Man-an group there will be no open season for partridge this year.

Autos Must Bear Inspection Tags After October 31

Inspection So Far Shows Many Cars With Defective Brakes

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—During the last few days noticeable increase has occurred in the number of motor vehicles inspected in Pennsylvania, as required by the recent order of Governor John S. Fisher, authorities said today. The period ends at midnight October 31. After that date, and for thirty days, operators of uninspected cars subject themselves to a fine of $10 and costs.

"It is noticeable that brakes are in unusually bad condition this year," said Captain Foster today.
"Our details, stationed on hill sections of highways, are amazed at the worthlessness of brakes on the average uninspected car."

"Two qualities of an automobile or truck subtract from the danger of accident. The quick thinking driver who seizes an opportunity to avoid danger by leaping out of its way—who, in other words, 'steps down on it,' and gets away, has taken advantage of one of these qualities. The driver whose brakes are so good that when he 'pushes down on 'em' his car stops, has taken advantage of the other. The operator whose motor is sluggish and whose brakes are bad gives hostages to misfortune and if he figures in an accident the chances are that it is his own fault. Some one is always at fault in an accident—usually the person with bad brakes and a lazy motor."

RESINOL DID WONDERS FOR Red Cracked Skin

"After suffering some time from a bad cold my nose became unusually red and sore. I tried various creams and salves without obtaining a bit of relief. I didn't have much confidence that Resinol Ointment

anyway and all I can say is it worked wonders. My hands also were so chapped they cracked and almost bled. They were in such bad condition I could not hold any-healed." (Signed) Mrs. Janet Gilmore, scarcely anything without being distressed with gas and bloating.

Even the most wholesome food disagreed with my stomach. Sometimes the gas caused a soreness in my stomach and made such a pressure and heaviness after a meal that I could hardly breathe. My liver must have been disordered, as I felt drowsy and sluggish and was inclined to fall asleep during the day. My appetite was poor. I had headaches, and there were pains in the region of my kidneys. Ten Herbs was beneficial to so many people that I tried your medicine and it helped me, too. My appetite improved, and food began to digest better than it had for a long time. I got more nourishment from what I ate and gas, bloating and soreness in my stomach were relieved. That feeling of heaviness and shortness of breath after a meal disappeared. My liver and kidneys were benefited. I became free of that drowsy, sluggish feeling, and gained in strength. I also got relief from headaches and the pains in my back. Ten Herbs

Renews Drive To Protect Children

Motorists Urged To Be On The Alert To Prevent Fatal Accidents

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—School authorities and teachers today were asked to be constantly on the alert to aid in reducing the annual toll of automobile accidents in which children are killed or injured, in a letter from Dr. John A. H. Keith, superintendent of public instruction.

The letter called attention to the fact that during the last school year 351 school children lost their lives and more than 6,000 were injured through their own carelessness or because of reckless automobile drivers.

"These startling figures," Dr. Keith wrote, "justly sustained, intense instruction, if child life is to be safeguarded. Much has been accomplished through safety teachings but much remains to be done. Daily instruction in safety practices is not enough. To be more effective should be constantly checked. It should be persistently stressed and followed until safety practices become habitual with all children."

The need for the teaching of safety is constant if its necessity is to be impressed upon young minds.
Dr. Keith asserted. Occasional speeches or instruction makes but little impression.

State school authorities cooperate whenever possible with local officials and teaching staffs in suggesting the best methods of teaching the necessity for safety on streets which are used by motor vehicles.

Officers Inspect Patrol Barracks

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Attaches of the highway patrols of North Carolina, West Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana recently have inspected the new headquarters of Pennsylvania state highway patrol at Harrisburg, a four-story brick structure located near state police quarters and storage sheds of the state highway department on eastern outskirts of the city. The structure was erected from motor vehicle funds and is foremost among American headquarters, according to Superintendent Wilson C. Price.

A class of 24 students is finishing the course at the patrol school, and will shortly be assigned to service at various sub-stations.

Children's Needs Will Be Discussed

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—A 10-year program for Pennsylvania's children will be the main topic of discussion at a meeting to be held in Harrisburg December 3 and 4, when this project will be launched, according to an announcement of the bureau of children, State Department of Welfare.

The launching of this program follows two years of study and discussion among local groups throughout the state which has culminated in the formation of definite objectives. Announcement of the program for the conference and the speakers will be made at a later date.

Pa Newc, Good Provider, To Find Turkey Supply For Thanksgiving Plentiful In City; To Be Cheaper

New Castle housewives who will shortly be confronted with the problem of buying Thanksgiving turkey will find a liberal supply of live and dressed fowl for the centerpiece of the festive board here, dealers and packers in the city declare. And reports from the market experts indicate that the gobblers may be had cheaper this year than they have been for nearly a generation, with plenty available.

Some local poultry dealers will obtain a supply of live turkeys from farmers in the country. The district about Volant and Plaingrove, dealers report, produces the large fowl in substantial amounts.

"There will be a liberal supply of turkey in New Castle," the manager of a packing branch in the city said this morning. He declared his and other packing houses here will receive large shipments of dressed turkeys from Milwaukee, Wis.

Prices for turkey have not been set and will not be definitely known in the city by the packers until shipments begin to arrive here.

Thousands of pounds of dressed fowl will be placed in store here by packers several days before Thanksgiving. One branch manager said the prices will not be set until November 1.

The report of out of town market experts that the turkey will be available at a low price this year by consumers, will not be due to a heavy carry-over of frozen turkeys from last year, but will be the result of increased production and the tendency of economic conditions to lower food price. For 36 years Texas has supplied most of the Thanksgiving turkeys, but recently the Rock Mountain states have entered the industry and nearly doubled this year's holiday supply.

The supply of turkeys in Pennsylvania is approximately 8 per cent higher than last year, the Department of Agriculture reported today.

Information gathered by the department shows that slightly more than half of the supply will be ready for the Thanksgiving trade and 40 per cent for Christmas. The rest of the supply is taken during the remainder of the season.

To Dedicate Training School November 15 At Slippery Rock

The dedication of the new $170,000 training school of the State Teachers college, Slippery Rock, is scheduled for November 15. Special invitations will be sent to the county, assistant county and district superintendents in the service area of the college and the school board members in the townships near Slippery Rock.

It is planned that the training school will be in session between 9 and 11 a. m., demonstrations being given in the kindergarten and up through the senior high school. The formal part of the program will take place at 11 o'clock in the chapel, where the dedicatory address will be given by Dr. James N. Rule, deputy superintendent of public instruction. The keys to the building will then be turned over to George Galbreath, president of the board of trustees, by George T. Titzel, district engineer of the state department of property and supplies. After accepting the keys, Judge Galbreath will present them to Dr. J. Linwood Eisenberg, president of the college, who will in turn give them to Dr. Lewis H. Wagenhorst, director of the training school. Following will be the dedicatory ritual, prepared by a committee composed of Miss Irene Kramer, Prof. William M. Tinker, Dr. Wagenhorst and faculty members of the institution, in which the audience as a whole will participate.

Short addresses will be given by C. E. Dickey, superintendent of Allegheny county and a member of the state council of education; John T. McConnell, superintendent of Butler county, and R. A. McBride, president of the local school board. At intervals throughout the program the high school orchestra, directed by Mrs. G. B. Arnold, will play several selections.

Later in the afternoon the West

Chester and Slippery Rock Teachers colleges are scheduled to compete in a football game and the program will come to a close in the evening when the sophomore class of the college presents a play, "Skidding", directed by Miss Mabel Eichler, one of the dramatic teachers of the institution.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE HUMBLER POSTS

The janitor was taken ill. And none there was his post to fill. The fires went out; the rooms were cold. The women folk began to scold; In bags the morning mail remained. And all about disorder reigned.

The office boy remained away And tippy turvy went the day. With none the messages to run A dozen things were left undone. And clerk and foreman grumbled long Because so many plans went wrong.

The president went out of town But naught occurred to cause a frown. The fires were lit, the errands run, The needful tasks were promptly done.

They scarcely noticed he was gone, So smoothly everything went on.

The point in this; all order needs The sum of big and little deeds. Though business leadership requires There must be one to build the fires. Since trivial cares disturb us most, Important is the humble post.

First Head Gave Life Working For Penn State Ideal

Dr. Evan Pugh, First President Of Penn State Is Remembered By Grads

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Oct. 24.—Virtually a martyr to higher public education, Dr. Evan Pugh, first president of the Pennsylvania State College, 1859 to 1864, is most prominent in the minds of Penn State alumni gathered this week end at State College for their home-coming and dedication Saturday night of rebuilt Old Main, new college administration and student union building.

Blacksmith apprentice, student, principal of his own academy, six years a student in European Universities, and president of the Farmers' High School of Pennsylvania all before he reached his 31st birthday anniversary, is the record of one of the principal founders whose memory is being observed during the college 75th anniversary of founding this week.

But the administration of Evan Pugh was cut short after only four years of service. In his effort to build the first successful and continuously operated agricultural college in the United States he overworked, and in a weakened condition contracted typhoid and died without even having opportunity to occupy with his bride of a few months a new residence for the college president.

Report Rush For Special Licenses

Many Hunters Seek Permits To Hunt Does During Three-Day Open Season

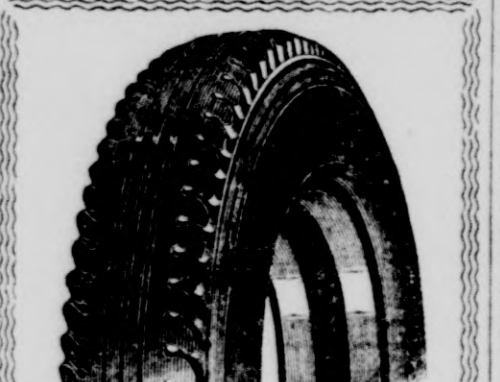

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Judged from the present rate of application the entire allotment of 56,024 special licenses which permit the shooting of doe deer in certain sections of the State will be exhausted in the near future, officials of the Game Commission today asserted.

The licenses are being issued in accordance with totals determined at the last session of the Game Commission. For each county or parts of a county the total number of does which may be killed during the special season; fall will be eight times the number of legal bucks reported taken during the regular season last year.

The special licenses will be valid only for three days, November 27, 28 and 29. The Commission does not accept personal, uncertified checks for the necessary $2.00 fee. Certified checks, bank cashier's checks, money orders or cash by registered mail must accompany each application.

Peter's Adventures

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

GRATEFUL COWS

To drink or not to drink, that was the question. Should Peter be polite and accept the drop of milk held out to him on the tip of Busy's antenna? Or should he risk offending his friend, the Worker Ant, by refusing to sip. In a second he had decided. He might not like the milk, but at any rate it could do him no harm—just one single drop. Peter bent his head and drank the drop of milk. And Peter was surprised.

"Why, it's fine milk, sweet milk!" cried he. And Busy stared at the boy, as if she thought her guest suddenly had gone crazy.

"Fine milk, sweet milk," mimicked the Worker Ant. "What did you think it would be?"

"How should I know?" Peter defended himself. "Your pastures are not like our pastures, your cows are different. There's no good reason why your milk should have agreed with me. But it does. It tastes as sweet as honey. I like it, and to prove it I am going to milk a cow myself."

True to his word, Peter did as Busy had done, and with a forefinger gently stroked a tiny aphide. To the boy, even as to Busy, the grateful cow gave a drop of sweet milk. One drop of milk at a time, is not very filling, and for some while all was still in the cow pasture as Busy and the boy made the rounds of the cattle and "milked" for their supper.

"Milk is a hard job in my country," laughed Peter. "But there's nothing to it, down in the Ant's cow pasture."

"Our cows like us too much to hold out on us," chuckled Busy.

Town In New York Held Responsible For Vote Machine

Lockport, N. Y., Is First To Introduce Mechanical Ballot 32 Years Ago

Thirty-two years ago Lockport, N. Y., "put one over" on nearby towns by becoming the first place in New York state to employ voting machines. Since that time the mechanical ballot has become popularized in 2,000 communities that use them.

According to a recent compilation of figures it has been ascertained that approximately 16,000 voting machines are now employed in upwards of 2,000 cities, towns and villages throughout the United States.

Of this large allotment of machines, 3,500 are used annually in the five boroughs of New York City. More than 7,000 machines are distributed among the larger cities, villages and townships of New York State, the initial user of the balloters. San Francisco is equipped with 1300 machines, Buffalo, 600; Rochester, 350; and Indianapolis, 350.

Other principal municipalities that are now utilizing the machines include: Albany, Binghamton, Batavia, Cohoes, Hornell, Ithaca, Jamestown, Kingston, Lockport, Glens Falls, Niagara Falls, Olean, Oswego, Port Jervis, Poughkeepsie, Rome, Salamanca, Schenectady, Syracuse, Watertown, and Yonkers. New York State, Baltimore, Maryland, Los Angeles, Calif., New Haven, Hartford, Waterbury, Bridgeport, Meriden, Stamford and New Britain, Conn., Des Moines, Davenport, Iowa City and Council Bluffs, Iowa; Gary and LaPorte, Indiana; Seattle, Tacoma, and Bellingham, Washington; Fond du Lac, Oshkosh and Sheboygan, Wisconsin; Grand Rapids, Lansing, Jackson, Saginaw, Bay City, Muskegon, and Royal Oak, Michigan. Hundreds of small villages and towns also use the machines.

Glenn J. Schultes, Secretary of the Board of Elections of Buffalo, N. Y., in commenting on the use of voting machines stated:

"Voting machines have been in use in this city for thirty years and have been very satisfactory. The cost of elections has been materially reduced by eliminating one-third of the election officers per district and reducing the number of districts by approximately fifty per cent."

"The returns are quick and accurate and, within one hour after the closing of the polls, newspapers are one the streets giving complete results of the election in the City of Buffalo."

Many Garments Given Away By Salvation Army

Ensign Thomsen Reports Big Demand For Clothing And Shoes

Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge of the Salvation Army work here today reported that the demand for second hand clothing and shoes is growing and that in the past three weeks, he had given out a total of 460 second hand garments and 52 pairs of second hand shoes. The demand made on Ensign Thomsen is not only by local people but by many transients, who are traveling about the country at the present time. He has also given away nine or ten pieces of second hand furniture in the same period of time.

Of the total amount given out, 31 garments were given to transients and 26 pairs of the shoes. The balance went to local needy people.

All the garments, shoes and furniture were collected by the Social service department truck of the Salvation Army from Youngstown and turned over to Ensign Thomsen for distribution here.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

Difficulties Of Parents Universal

Same Problems Unite Fathers, Mothers Of Country

By GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.

A short time ago I spoke before the state convention of the Michigan Child Study association, speaking early in the afternoon on character building, and answering questions on the pre-school child until upper time. In the evening I spoke in "How We Parents Annoy Our Children," which was followed by my answering questions from the floor till late bedtime.

Most were young mothers, and such a barrage of questions has not come upon me for some while. The women were high grade and earnest. Many of them had been reading "The Parent Problem," and all of them had been in local study groups. Always it is true that the more parents have learned the more they want to learn, and, therefore, the more questions they ask.

During the one day at Port Huron I think I must have heard at least a hundred questions, not one of which I had not heard or read over and over before, maybe in a class at the university, maybe a thousand miles away from it, maybe by mail from Oregon or Massachusetts or New Mexico. I did not hear a single new one all that day.

Nevertheless, the parent who asks a question verbally or by mail, usually thinks she is about the only one in all the world who has faced it. Often she will apologize for asking "such a foolish thing." But if she only knew, she would realize that all of us parents have many of the same problems which puzzle her. I have found that whether I am meeting parents in Denver, Columbus, Oklahoma City, Pittsburgh, Lansing, Knoxville, Richmond, or in any one of the other larger cities, whether the letter comes from Texas, Maine or California, the parent problems which I read and hear run about the same.

This fact makes us feel a common interest and sympathy, and enables us to speak to one another in a common language, almost as if we were face to face.

As I go about from city to city, appearing before groups of parents and teachers, I am always particularly glad to answer questions of my readers personally. In doing so there comes to me no weariness, because the questions always seem so genuinely appreciative and so earnest.

Highway Fill Sinking Again

GREENVILLE, Pa., Oct. 24.—The fill for the Perry highway across the swamp near Custards has again sunk, according to persons who visited the work yesterday.

For several days progress apparently was being made and the two ends of the fill had been considerably extended. Most of this fill now has dropped from sight, however, and the work is now back again practically to where it was when the first fill sank about a month ago. It is reported.

It is estimated the fill is costing the state between $1,000 and $2,000 daily.

Penn. Mother's Lucky Find

WHEN we find that some slight adjustment makes a marvelous improvement in a child we wonder why we hadn't thought before to give the child this help.

A good example is the experience of Mrs. J. B. Tull, 315 So. Frazier Street, Philadelphia. She says: "My little girl was doing fairly well but I noticed she didn't eat like she should and didn't seem to have much energy."

"I wanted to do something for her, and having used California Fig Syrup myself, I gave Ruth some. She improved so much I wonder why I didn't do something for her stomach and bowels before. It relieved her sluggishness, gave her a good appetite and plenty of energy."

To point up a child's appetite, increase energy and strength, assist digestion and assimilation, there's nothing more effective than pure vegetable California Fig Syrup. Doctors advise its use to open the bowels during colds and children's diseases or whenever bad breath, coated tongue, headaches, listlessness, etc., warn of constipation.

The genuine always bears the name California. So look for that when buying. At all drugstores.

Beautiful hair!

Modern hair dressers arrange the hair so beautifully that it's bound to attract attention. That's why it's so important to guard its color and lustre; keep it in perfect condition. There is no surer, simpler way to do this than with Danderine. Each time you use your brush, just moisten it with this delicately fragranced liquid. Then as you draw it through your hair, it removes the excess oil; brings out the natural color; makes the hair fairly sparkle with new life and lustre.

How much easier it is to arrange the hair afterwards. How it stays in place. And try "setting" the waves with Danderine. They stay in so much longer.

Danderine quickly dissolves the crust of dandruff; puts the scalp in the pink of condition; helps the hair to grow long, silky and abundant!

Auxiliary Plans Drive For Members

Mercer Cottage Hospital Unit Seeks Members To Aid Institution

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 24.—The Mercer Cottage Hospital Auxiliary will conduct a membership drive on Monday and Tuesday of next week. Every person in the community will be given a chance to join, men as well as women.

The Mercer Cottage hospital has been called upon to do a great deal of charity work since it was opened and this is a continual drain, so the auxiliary was formed and meets every third Wednesday in the sewing room of the hospital to sew and mend.

PLAN RED CROSS DRIVE

There will be a dinner meeting of the executive committee of the Mercer County Red Cross at the Hotel Humes next Tuesday evening. At this time a chairman for the membership drive will be chosen and plans will be started for the drive which will start on Armistice day November 11.

FARRELL CLUB RAIDED

County officers raided the Croation Club located at 412-414 Stanton avenue, in Farrell on Wednesday and found two quarts of moonshine behind the bar. Mike Budanko of Farrell claimed possession and was taken to the Farrell police station where he was held and will be given a hearing before Squire Phipps today.

SUIT IS FILED

Joseph Mikita, a grocer of Sharon has started suit against Mike Kilar and Caroline Kilar of Sharon for a grocery bill amounting to $649.52 with interest from Oct. 15, 1930.

GET VOTING MACHINE

The first township in Mercer county to ask for voting machines was Hemphill township. The commissioners will submit the question to the entire electorate at the election on November 4th. A special ballot is being prepared for this purpose.

DRIVE FOR TAGS SHOWS UP

At the present date only 3200 hunting licenses have been issued by County Treasurer Ralph McQuiston. The number is in par with other years. A few weeks ago the figure was so large that it was thought that there would be more hunters this year than there had ever been in Mercer County.

GUARDS REMOVED

A guard was placed on Harry Bell at the Mercer Cottage hospital where he is a patient after being a fugitive from justice for several months. After it was found that he was in a really serious condition, the guards were recalled.

Mrs. Laura Linton Finds, Among Souvenirs, Strange Menu Prepared Here In 1887

Women seated at a long table in the First Presbyterian church on Thursday, March 17, 1887, were secretly gloating over that fact that the supper that was soon to be served, had been furnished and prepared by the men of the church.

That is, they gloated pleasantly until they received their menus. After reading the menu from page 1 to page 4, they looked up suspiciously at the men, and then at each other.

The menu was so strange that Mrs. Laura Linton, of North Mill street, has kept it all these forty some years and this morning she read it over again.

And here is what caused the suspicious looks at that memorable dinner in the gay '87's.

Feed Me & U.
Oysters—A la R. None.
Soup—Don't Terrify the waiter—we have none.
Fish—(whale) A la Jonas.
Meats—not Bicycle.
Notice—If there is any meat here that meets your appetite it is meat that that meat be meted out to you.
Dead gobbler—Dead, very dead.
Chicken—not eggactly spring; about February, 1887.

Roast beef—very rare.
Ham—pork-cured at great expense.
Tongue—None genuine without Ford Brand-on.
Dried beef—McCready for some.
Bologna—you never sausage Bologna before.

Entrees.
Olives—and that's Olive it. Supper only 25 cents.

Miscellaneous (very)
Jelly—our brand Knox all others out.
Pickles—too many will put you in a bad pre-Dickeyment.
Potatoes—Irish a la "Chip."
Butter—Warranted without Linton.

Cheese—Burger.
Dessert
Cake—P. and L. E.—"Plenty, Loss Eat." See Blackford.
Pound—a la George Permar.
Fruit—It is Polite (s) to ask for it.
Jelly—jelly will be there Raney or not.
Bread—no explanation necessary.
Wine
Pulaski water.
Notes—"Any inattention on the part of the waiter will be reported to squire Tidball. Owing to the liberal Celery paid the waiters guests will please not fee them. Young ladies will please not occupy too much of the susceptible treasurer's time. Pencil marks across any item means: "Sorry, we are just out."

Yes, the Me & U is crazy and perhaps that is reason that when there is dinner to be served in the churches nowadays, the men do the eating and the women do the serving!

The cost of fiction has gone down, unless you're telling it to the judge.

Connecticut Holds Yearly Bee Census

(International News Service)
HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 24.—Connecticut is in the midst of its annual bee census, taking steps thereby to locate more than 8,000 colonies that have failed to pay a cash tribute to the state. A checkup showed 6,752 colonists registered out of an estimated 15,000 in the state, and officials want to examine the rest. A registered hive costs 25 cents, and the town clerk in each town does the registering. An inspection has revealed 46 diseased colonies in the state, all due to what is known as American foul brood. The check-up is taken to prevent spread of the disease.

This Woman Fat and 40 Tells How She Reduced

Her Physical Attractiveness Compels Admiration

It was this way—I was reading the evening paper and right before my eyes was an article headed "How one woman lost 47 pounds of fat in three months" and you can just bet I woke up and got interested right away.

And all this woman did to lose all that fat was to take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

That seemed easy to me—I was sold on Kruschen Salts and took my first dose the next morning—and there was four months ago.

Well, as you can all see, my fat is gone—I've gained a shapely figure—bright eyes—clear skin—and tireless energy—and I never felt better in my life.

Kruschen Salts (It's the Little Daily Dose That Does It) brings activity to mind and body—its rejuvenating influence causes the stomach, liver and bowels to do their work naturally and faultlessly.

There is nothing so good as Kruschen—(remember the name) taken every morning—it causes every organ, nerve, gland and fibre in the body to function naturally. One woman lost 18 pounds in four weeks. A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks cost but 85 cents at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. or at any drug store in the world.

Mrs. Betty Luedke of Dayton, writes, "I am using Kruschen to reduce weight—I lost 10 pounds in one week, and cannot say too much to recommend it."

Pinchot To Confer With Leaders In Allegheny County

Gifford Pinchot Will Wind Up Tour Of Western Pennsylvania To-night

REITERATES CHARGES AGAINST UTILITIES

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—Winding up his final tour of Western Pennsylvania counties, Gifford Pinchot today was to arrive here for conferences with Allegheny county political leaders after spending a strenuous week throughout the section. Before arriving here, the "Tall Forester" was scheduled to speak at a meeting, returning here after the day.

At Beaver Falls last night, the former governor reiterated his charges against Pennsylvania utilities and again asked that his opponents show why it would be bad for the industries of the state to have lower electric rates.

"No one has yet shown," he continued, "why it would be undesirable for the shopkeepers to have electric rates brought down to a level that would have some decent relation to the cost of supplying service."

Pinchot Is Tired
"If this period of depression can be relieved, if the utilities, for example, could be replaced by fair and reasonable rates, why will it be bad for business if what I am demanding is done?"

Pinchot charged that the wet issue interfered into the campaign by Hemphill was "childish" and that "voting for a nonentity" would not bring about a change in the prohibition situation.

Plainly tired from the strenuous activity of the week, Pinchot spoke only briefly here. Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell one time Democratic candidate for governor, who is accompanying the former governor on his tour, made a brief talk, denouncing the Philadelphia "gang" for sponsoring the type of government which has "forced thousands of small home owners into starvation, want and misery."

Harmony Company Will Cede Street To New Castle

City Solicitor Robert White informed councilmen in session at the city building today that the public service commission had handed down authority to P. E. H. & N. C. Railway company to give to the city a strip of ground, 30 feet wide, between East Washington street and Cunningham avenue. The deed will be given to the city soon, White anticipates.

To See "Big Ten" Clash At Purdue

Off to witness the Purdue-Wisconsin football game at Lafayette Ind., tomorrow, Superintendent Herman T. Frushour of the local Pennsylvania railroad division left the city today.

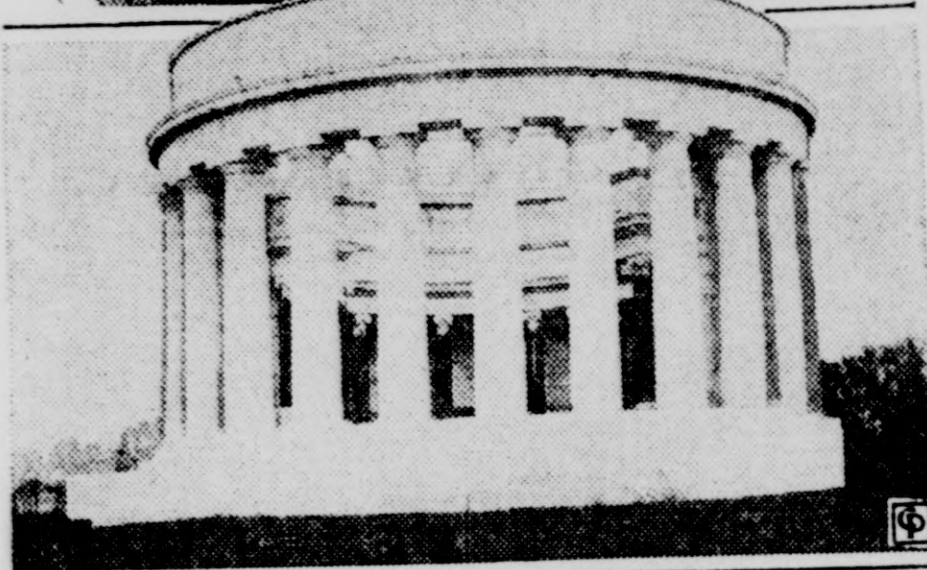

Frushour, himself a former Purdue star, will spend the week-end with his son Robert, who is enrolled there.

POSTPONE HARDING CEREMONIES

All plans for the dedication of the memorial to the late President Warren G. Harding, at Marion, O., his home, have been temporarily abandoned following adoption of a resolution by the Harding Memorial association, introduced by Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general in Harding's cabinet. Unsuccessful attempts have been made to get either Calvin Coolidge or President Hoover to dedicate the memorial and, in the resolution, Daugherty asked that the dedication be postponed so that it could be kept out of politics and no one need be importuned to make the address. Harding is at left, above, and Daugherty, right.

Robbers Enter Leesburg Depot

Effort To Break Into P. R. R. Station Safe Is Futile; No Loss

An attempt of burglars to rob the Pennsylvania railroad station at Leesburg, Mercer county, some time last night terminated in a failure, railroad police announced at noon today following a thorough investigation of the case. The station was broken into.

The unsuccessful effort of the thieves was discovered when L. M. Coleman, company section foreman opened the depot as usual at 6 o'clock this morning. He found evidence of a futile attempt to open the safe. Railroad tickets had not been disturbed.

According to company police the station had been closed by the ticket agent at 10 o'clock last night. No one had been seen in the vicinity of the depot at any time.

Chief of Police W. E. Gastinger and Patrolman Monte Richards were continuing their investigation this afternoon.

Pen And Sword Join Hands In Russia

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Oct. 23.—A "Pen and Sword" society has been organized by Soviet writers, poets, theatrical producers and officers of all branches of the military service on the assumption that the pen and sword are mightier than the pen alone.

The literary men pledged to give their creative talents to the defense of the country, while the soldiers promised to defend the country by force of arms. Both will exchange knowledge and ability for the protection of the proletarian dictatorship. The soldiers will impart an understanding of the fine points of military science and tactics to the writers so that the latter may write about war more intelligently. The writers will teach the soldiers how to express themselves on paper and on the lecture platforms of army club houses. The military men will also be taught to put on plays for the political education of the troops and edit attractive regimental newspapers.

Among the members of the Executive committee of the society are Maxim Gorky, A. Fadeyev, Vsevolod Meyerhold, A. Serafimovich and Bela Illesh, Hungarian writer now living in Russia.

Harbor L. T. L. Entertains Members

The home of Mrs. Herman Byler at the Harbor presented a beautiful setting for the masquerade party held by the members of the Harbor L. T. L. Thursday evening when 33 children and seven grown-ups gathered to make merry.

The home was prepared for a regular Halloween party and witches gazed out at one from the corners and jack-o-lanterns shed a weird light from their shining eyes.

The judges reviewed a parade of the "mummers" and prizes were awarded Mrs. William Cisar, Lucille Potter, Collette Thorpe, Anna Byler for their cleverness in costuming.

Games and a general good time filled in the hours after unmasking and the hostess was assisted in serving a lunch in keeping with the nature of the party by Mrs. Bernice Steel, Mrs. William Cisar, Mrs. Leasure, Mrs. Donald Vanetta and Mrs. H. J. Kenahan.

Each child was presented with a novel favor before departing for their homes, to meet November 15 at Mrs. Byler's home for the regular meeting.

NOTES OF TROOP "F"

103RD U. S. CAVALRY OF NEW CASTLE

The military correspondence course, "Care of Animals" has been received at the armory the commander announces. The non-com school will take up the subject at the meeting Monday evening. Any reserve officer or ex-service man in the city who is interested may take up the study with the troop men.

The quarterly payroll—which always spells good news—is expected to arrive Sunday. It has been returned several times because of errors.

Zip, dark bay at the stables, is reported doing as well as may be expected. The animal was sick this week.

Fifty per cent of the guardsmen have received their winter uniforms from Supply Sergeant St. John.

Capt. Bintrim said today that those who already have the winter uniforms should not wear them for drill Sunday. Wear the cotton outfit.

Today was a busy day for the commander and Mrs. Bintrim. Moving, like moving from one armory to another, something which is not altogether new to the troop, is trying sometimes.

Cameraman Finds American Desert Superior To Sahara

By FREDERIC A. CHASE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 23.—America's Sahara is more beautiful than the great North African stretch of sand, if you will believe Roy Hunt, cameraman just returned from Morocco with a film troupe and now engaged on a picture being made from the Mojave Desert, a few hours ride from here.

Hunt, as a cameraman, has had a first-rate chance to compare the two great deserts. His trade includes a study of the photographic effects, the lighting, the artistic composition and all such attributes of filming scenes.

"Conditions on the Mojave Desert are exactly the same as on the Sahara, except for one important factor that makes the American Sahara the more beautiful," Hunt said.

"On the Mojave, the beautiful shadows and contours of the dunes and the ripples in the sand are clear almost all day, whereas on the Sahara the vertical sun flattens the desert to the eye and heat waves obscure the distances, so that the Sahara's panorama is only visible just after sunrise and before sunset.

Other than that, the deserts are so much alike that no one could tell them apart, Hunt declared. They have the same great mountains of drifting sand, the same ripples, the same white desert sand.

If you want to see for yourself the similarity of the Mojave and the Sahara, go to "Beau Ideal," for both deserts are shown in there as backgrounds to the story, even though both are called the "Sahara."

Some of the scenes were actually made in Morocco. Others, requiring Hollywood actors, were filmed near Yuma, Arizona, because of the tremendous expense that would be required to transport an entire company to Morocco—with an exact replica here at Hollywood's back door.

One result of the Mojave trip was to teach the company that "the changeless desert" is nothing but a poet's illusion. Four years ago Herbert Brenon made his "Beau Geste" picture on the Mojave, and the company left its "set" there, thinking they might use them later.

The sets were in a valley between two ranges of sand dunes. Two or three months ago, Brenon went out to find them, and discovered the sets in an entirely different ent topography. The dune mountains had moved three miles away. The wind, shifting the sand before it, had moved the sand hills at a rate of slightly less than a mile a year.

Brenon couldn't move his background back, so like Mohammed he had to pick up and go to where the mountains had gone.

Abdeslam Ben Mohammed Khoubarik is a family man, and he loves his wives.

This Moroccan shiek frankly told a group of interested film beauties who gathered around him in "Beau Ideal."

"I am a quiet, peaceful man. I am not a 'shiek' as you think of them. I have never heard of any 'grande passions' in the desert between shieks and white women. I live quietly with my five wives and my children, and we are happy," he advised the excited group.

Five wives apparently is a good number, for Abdeslam denied any intention of taking unto himself a sixth while here in Hollywood where beauty is the rule and plainness the exception.

One more thing Abdeslam told them. He prefers brunettes. And he certainly should know a little about women by now.

Swimming pool days are over, but you can collect as many germs by associating with open-face sneezers.

Religious Scandal Intrigues Russians

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, Oct. 23.—A religious scandal holding possibilities of serious political consequences has developed in the Barda district of the Caucasus mountains about the sacred tomb of a Moslem prophet.

Inspectors from Moscow discovered that the businesslike executive committee of the Barda district had given an influential mulah the collection box concession at the grave, which was visited by thousands of pilgrims annually seeking miracle cures for all kinds of ills. The mulah paid the committee 800 rubles a year for the concession.

The scandal made fine anti-religious propaganda, and the Soviet press of the Caucasus has been making the most of the priest's sacrilegious deception of his own people. Numerous arrests are likely when the official investigation is conducted. Some officials are demanding that the tomb be closed.

Defense Opens Argument Today In Merger Suit

Bethlehem Steel Counsel Admits In Part Commission Of Fraud

DEAL RATIFIED
BY STOCKHOLDERS

(International News Service)
YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 24.—After launching his argument with a refutation of certain allegations made by plaintiff attorneys in the injunction suit being tried in common pleas court here to prevent the merger of Youngstown Sheet & Tube company with Bethlehem Steel corporation, Frederick H. Wood, Bethlehem counsel, today continued the battle of the defense to set aside the injunction plea of the Cyrus S. Eaton interests.

Declaring that the plaintiffs were not privileged to sue in their own names on grounds of constructive fraud, Wood took the floor for the pro-merger side upon the completion of the closing argument of Park Chamberlin, the third of the plaintiff attorneys to speak.

Wood admitted that the allegations of the plaintiffs that the Youngstown Sheet & Tube officers were guilty of certain acts of commission and omission, might constitute a case of alleged constructive fraud. The right to sue for relief, however, is invested only in the corporation or in the behalf of the corporation, he said.

Summing up the testimony given in connection with the approval of the merger, Wood reiterated that six of the nine directors of Sheet & Tube recommended the deal on March 12 and that it was ratified by the required number of stockholders at the special meeting April 8. He maintained that the injunction suit was instituted by a minority group which desired to override the will of the majority.

Middle West Youth Wins Science Award

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Oct. 24.—After two years of work as a life guard, tree-trimmer and road builder in order to defray college expenses, William Frackleton, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, came east and began his studies at Boston University as Augustus Howe Buck scholarship winner, awarded annually to the student showing marked ability in science.

Frackleton had been a student at Marquette University for two years and had majored in science in order to study medicine. He has won many honors, and perhaps his outstanding achievement was in being selected by the state of Wisconsin to represent the ideal American youth at the Sesqui-centennial celebration at Philadelphia.

Last summer, while working as a day laborer on a road construction job, Frackleton learned of the Boston University scholarship and applied for it. His marks easily gave him the award.

Canada's Prizes Don't Awe Locals

According to reports from Canada the Canadian railroads have just awarded the prizes for the largest fish caught in the Dominion this season. The prize catch of the finny tribe, a muskellunge weighing 35 pounds had been caught in the French river district. The other award was a small mouth bass which weighed four and a quarter pounds and was caught in the Nipigon lake.

Local sportsmen, among them H. Clare Stockman, point out that in 1928 a "loun" was caught in Conneaut lake that overshadowed the Canadian catch. The fish caught in Conneaut weighed 52 pounds.

And Bert Yoho caught a five and a quarter-pound bass in Shenango River in Mercer county that, according to sporting enthusiasts "has the Canadian bass beat a mile."

Cagnetti Lays Wrong Sidewalk

Frank Cagnetti, contractor, today was advised by the city that the city solicitor would try to have Harry C Woods, Morris Street, pay him for a sidewalk Cagnetti built in front of the Woods property, Morris St. Cagnetti was given a contract to lay a sidewalk at the Moorhead property. He found it had been put in. He then went ahead at the Morris property, as sidewalks had been ordered.

He said he understood an engineering department attaché to advise him to put in the Woods sidewalk. The attaché denied telling him to put it in but inevitably it would be put in and Council asked the solicitor to help Cagnetti.

Solicitor White To Settle Deal

City Council convened in the municipal building today and authorized City Solicitor Robert White to handle the financial end of the city's purchase of the Day Realty company's plot, south of the Jameson Memorial hospital. The land is to be acquired for park purposes and which will prevent buildings being erected close to the hospital. The company is to pay out of the money received all taxes and liens.

Readers Of South Side Branch Will Organize Star Club

Juvenile Library Readers Will Have Blue Star Club At South Side Library

The Blue Star club at the local free public library has proven to be so popular with the juvenile borrowers, that it has been decided to organize another Blue Star club in the South Side branch library, South Mill street.

Today will be the first day of the South Side branch Blue Star club and any child who borrows from that branch is eligible to join. Just stop in today and give your name to the librarian in charge. Members of the South Side Blue Star club will strive to obtain a blue star on their enrollment card. This is possible when they complete the reading of ten books and bring each book back to the library in its turn, with covers and pages clean and undamaged. One new book can be borrowed by the members each time and, after obtaining a blue star, a member may then have the privilege of taking two news books out. The library is open every Tuesday and every Friday.

Local Girls To Broadcast From WLBW Saturday

Betty Jane, Francis and Claribelle Cope, daughters of Mrs. Francis Jones Cope of this city will again be on the air from Oil City's radio station WLBW, when on Saturday morning between 10:30 and 12 they will broadcast. With them will be Eleanor Kiefer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kiefer.

Some time ago Betty Jane Cope won first prize at the Grove City station and this was responsible for a request for a return engagement.

Condition Of Mrs. Ketler Is Better

Mrs. Martha Ketler's condition was reported better this morning at the Jameson Memorial hospital, but she is still irrational at times due to injury. Mrs. Ketler received a fractured skull when knocked down by an automobile on Monday evening.

Missing Financier

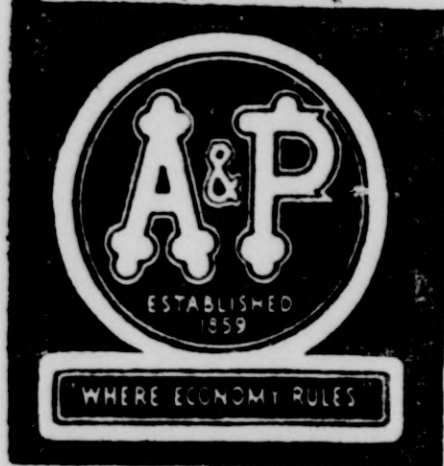

This is a recent photo of Charles V. Bob, missing New York financier, and aviation enthusiast, who is being sought by the attorney general in charge of the state bureau of securities on the charge that he falsified his accounts. When the safe of Metal and Mining Shares, Inc., was opened by state authorities they found $6,000,000 in securities missing.

53rd Birthday — and Never Felt Better in All My Life — No Wonder I Am Profoundly Grateful to Flaxolyn

What follows are not the words of an advertising writer, but the sincere personal experience of a man who tells in his own language just what Flaxolyn did for him.

"I found the way to great improvement and I am profoundly grateful. My great debt to this wonderful, simple compound for its value to me is beyond all words. I have been suffering from indigestion, heart trouble, and general weakness for many years. I have tried every remedy known to me, but nothing has helped me until I began to take Flaxolyn. In just a few days I felt a great improvement. I have gained at 53 years of age, and all through this most efficient Flaxolyn. It is almost unbelievable — till one investigates. Folks, don't hesitate — give Flaxolyn a fair trial."

Pasteur Institute Doctor Hearty in Praise of Flaxolyn

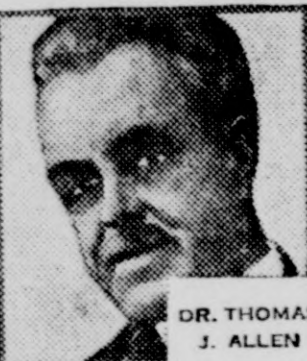

No praise could be higher than that received from a physician of the Pasteur Institute of Paris, Doctor Leon Charrier, for years connected with this famous health institution, retained to give his sincere personal opinion of Flaxolyn, says:

"My experience with medicines has been wide. I have examined medicinal preparations from all parts of the world, and find Flaxolyn by far the most acceptable and scientifically effective of all preparations of its type. It combines herbal extracts with modern medicinal, and impresses me as being a decided step forward."

FORMER BATTLE CREEK DOCTOR ENTHUSIASTICALLY ENDORSES FLAXOLYN

"In all my experience at Battle Creek and here in this wonderful health resort of Eureka Springs, Ark., I have never found a more potent preparation than Flaxolyn. It is an excellent combination of Nature's herbs, together with other valuable ingredients. I have used Flaxolyn in a number of cases with splendid results, and do not hesitate to give my public endorsement of this worthy formula."

The Flaxolyn Open Formula

Flaxolyn Gives Wonderful New "Pep" to the APPETITE
Flaxolyn is a splendid STOMACHIC
Flaxolyn is a Cathartic — Drives out GAS
Flaxolyn Gently Activates the KIDNEYS
Flaxolyn Has a Marvelous Natural Laxative and Corrective Action on the Entire INTESTINES

Flaxolyn Contains Herbs from the Four Corners of the World

Flaxolyn contains no drastic or habit-forming drugs. No irritating jitters.
Flaxolyn owes its great popularity just to one thing — pure herbs in effective combination with highly approved vegetable extracts, bile salts and organic medicinal.

It takes weeks to extract all the good out of the raw herbs. For Flaxolyn, many processes are gone through before you get your bottle. But at every stage, expert chemists guide the manufacture, and a physician of reputation stands in control.

For 12 solid months the newspapers of this vicinity have published a positive written guarantee, offering to hand back the full purchase price to any Flaxolyn user not thoroughly satisfied with his or her improvement. Yet, despite this liberal and clear-cut offer, not even two ten-thousandths of one per cent. out of half a million purchasers, have ever asked for their money back! Never has there been such an amazing record!

Don't delay. Clip the guarantee coupon. Hand it to your druggist this very day.

Self-Expression Vs. Self-Control

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. —I Corinthians 9:25.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL
In these days when "behaviorism" and other high sounding titles are attempting to give dignity to a "do-as-you-please-ism," which is little more than a cultured paganism, it is good for our Bible schools to give us this lesson on the right and wrong use of liberty.

There are few things more precious than liberty. We prize it even above life itself. But as every virtue may be prostituted into a vice, so liberty has its uses and its abuses, and the abuse of liberty gives us unrestrained license. Every Christian knows that there is no such thing as absolute and unqualified "personal liberty." Accordingly, he has learned how to live "as free, and not using his liberty as a cloak of maliciousness, but as the servants of God." So there is something greater than liberty, and that is love.

And love is to liberty what the governor is to the steam in an engine; it controls it and keeps it within bounds, and prevents its becoming destructive of those who use it. So, Paul says, "Ye were called for freedom; only use not your freedom for an occasion to the flesh, but through love be servants one to another. For the whole law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." Only when governed by love and consideration of others is liberty safe to ourselves.

If we truly loved we would need no laws to guide our conduct. Self-Expression
We hear much today in favor of self-expression. Magazines reek with sex rot. Restraint of personal development upon a stifling personal development. But it should be inquired, which self is to be allowed expression, one's better self or his baser self? For both urge for expression. "For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; for these are contrary the one to the other that ye may not do the things that ye would." Expression of the baser self produces that foul brood of evils Paul enumerates as "the works of the flesh, viz. fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness, idolatry, sorcery, enmities, strife, jealousies, wraths, factions, divisions, parties, envyings, drunkenness, revellings, and such like." This filthy brood is "self-expression"; this is liberty unrestrained by love of God or man or self; this is personal liberty producing license.

Religion the Safe-Guard of Liberty
But Christianity is not a religion of negatives, but rather of positives. It offers us more than a bundle of "don'ts." It offers us an adequate inner force which more than counteracts all evil forces arising in the lusts of the flesh. It offers us the indwelling divine Spirit, and says, "Walk by the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh." As weeds are choked out by planting the field to good seed so opening the life to the Holy Spirit crowds out the works of the flesh by "the exuberant power of a new affection," for "the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, meekness, self-control; . . . and they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the passions and lusts thereof." The thing, therefore, which we should encourage instead of self-expression is letting Christ express himself in and through us by the Spirit.

The Uniform Sunday School lesson for Oct. 26 is Gal 5:13-26, the subject being "Spiritual Weapons in a World War," and the Golden Text, 1 Cor. 9:25. "And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things."

the Bite falls into the clutches of the law.

As my friend, The Old New York Police Detective puts it:

"They ain't no closed season on rats."

LUCKY BUSINESS.
A gentleman writes to tell me that some time ago, traveling out East he was fortunate enough to stumble across a little metal image of "Bele," secret Mascot of Good Fortune of the Ruling Classes of India for over 3,000 Years.

He says that if "the Ruling Classes of India" had found out he had the image his life wouldn't have been worth a plugged nickel. He smuggled it out of the country and immediately, his business, that had been on the bum, took on fresh life, and thanks be to "Bele," he is now on Easy Street, eating pie for dessert every day and ice cream on Sunday.

But the gentleman isn't the sort of man to keep a thing like this sewed up. "Why not share this good luck with others?" he asked himself.

And so he's hit upon a plan. He's had duplicates of the little metal image of "Bele" struck off and hired a lot of agents to go around and dispose of them at a buck a throw. If one of his agents doesn't come your way, he says, don't be discouraged. Write direct to him at the New York studio, being careful to enclose a dollar, he'll send you "Bele" and thereafter yours is the world, and everything that's in it.

MASTER MIND.
An Italian dock laborer has become entangled with the law owing to a certain liberality he professes with respect to the interpretation of the marriage law. Tiring of his wife and three children, he waived all formality and married a widow with kids.

As soon as he gets out of jail the Treasury Department should take him in tow. A man who can support two wives and nine children on the salary of a dock laborer, is a financial genius whose energies should be harnessed.

Bolsinger Says
Many Cars Not As Yet Inspected

Only Seven Days Remain In Which To Have State Test Made

With but seven days remaining of the September 15 to October 31 period set aside by the State for compulsory inspection of motor vehicles, R. W. Bolsinger, president of the New Castle Motor Club, today warned owners who have not yet had their cars inspected and approved to do so without delay.

There will be no extension of time, he said, and any motorist on the road after October 31 without an official sticker on his car will be dealt with in a drastic way.

In this connection Mr. Bolsinger called attention to the results of the Save-a-Life Campaign being conducted in co-operation with the Pennsylvania Motor Federation in this section. "There has been a noticeable decrease in the number of accidents in this section," he said, "since the Save-a-Life Campaign got under way. To be sure, there still are far too many careless and reckless drivers, but for the most part the motorists in this vicinity seem to be exerting an extra effort to drive carefully and it is hoped that this will continue, not only during the remainder of the Save-a-Life Campaign, but throughout the year."

The Pennsylvania Motor Federation, with which the local club is affiliated reports that throughout the State there has been a considerable decrease in accidents since September 15. President Bolsinger said, "As drivers come to realize more fully the importance of safe and sane operation of a car they are inclined to take fewer chances," he stated, "and that is what the Federation and the New Castle Motor Club are endeavoring to bring about through this Save-a-Life Campaign. And if it results in the saving of but one life in this community it will be worth while."

A survey made by the club in this section reveals that less than 75 per cent of the motor vehicles registered in this territory have been inspected and approved thus far in the State's inspection campaign, with which the P. M. F. Save-a-Life campaign is running simultaneously. This leaves more than 4000 vehicles to be inspected.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24. —Nature played a mean trick on some of our Harlem Night Club proprietors when it set a limit to nudity; but this much can be said for The Brothers. They've done their best to overcome the handicap. Beside some of these "beauties" who disappear nightly in the joints of The Ebony and Ivory Belt, the eight-ball on a pool table takes on the appearance of an over-stuffed couch.

POLICE "MASSAGES."
"Mannie" Lavine, reporter, has "covered" Police Headquarters in New York for 25 years. He's just written a book published by the Vanguard Press, called "The Third Degree." It's a tough book. Nevertheless, it should be read. He explains that he can't possibly describe every "massaging" by the police he has witnessed. "I can't remember them all," he says, "any more than the reader can recall every time he has seen a street car pass."

Mulrooney, the Police Commissioner, pretends to be not the least impressed by "Mannie's" exposure, denying that any such thing goes on in the New York Police Department.

On the other hand, there's Lavine's 25-year record at Headquarters. If he were inaccurate, or the sort of fine and fancy liar he'd have to be to fabricate a book such as "The Third Degree," his paper would have found it out long ago and canned him.

The book appears on the heels of a merciless denunciation of New York Police Third Degree methods by one of the higher courts reversing the conviction of a man convicted of murder.

ATTENTION NEEDED.
There are so many other important things in life that few people give more than a passing thought to the story of some gangster being beaten up by the police. The average man says to himself: "Well, that's one of the chances a gangster takes when he steps out to violate the law and make life miserable for the rest of us."

That's true in a way. There are times when rose water won't do and you have to fall back on chloride of lime.

If men of the stripe of Owen D. Young were attracted to police work some way might probably be found to make kid-glove methods effective. But so long as the existing system endures and the average cop is, what he is, there's going to be rough stuff in the back room of the station house every time Mike immediately, his business, that had been on the bum, took on fresh life, and thanks be to "Bele," he is now on Easy Street, eating pie for dessert every day and ice cream on Sunday.

Coast To Coast Air Passenger Line Is Ready

Thirty Six Hour Service
New York To Los Angeles To Be Inaugurated

(International News Service)
NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 24.—Thirty-six hour airplane service between New York and other nearby cities and Los Angeles will be put into operation tomorrow when a trimotored plane of the Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., takes off from Newark airport.
Under the schedule a plane leaving here Saturday morning will arrive at Los Angeles Sunday evening with an overnight stop at Kansas City. It is expected that the coast-to-coast flying trip will be cut another 12 hours in January, when lighting facilities will do away with the overnight stop, permitting planes to fly through the night hours.
The plane leaving here tomorrow will carry dictaphone records of speeches of greeting by Mayor Walker of New York City and Governor Roosevelt of New York to the mayor of Los Angeles and the governor of California.

Historic Tree Is Destroyed By Fire

(International News Service)

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 24.—The old chestnut tree on Pine street is gone. Fire started by accident destroyed the tree which had a history. Under its branches Washington once at his lunch. He was present then. The tale has it that the children of the town were put on their good behavior and permitted to look at him from a distance. A little girl approached and looked at him closely.
"Why," she said, "You are only a man."
"Yes, my child, only a man."

What The Editor Forgot In Bill Spink's City Trip

HARBOR BEACH, Mich., Oct. 24.—William Spink, of this village, who went to Detroit yesterday to buy a suit has returned. Bill says he is going to buy his suits at home in the future.

And this is what the editor left out.

Arriving in Detroit, Bill bought a natty suit, pocketed $35 change, tucked his fiver in a garage, and set out to "do" the city.

Three blocks from the garage, Bill looked into the muzzle of a big black automatic, while a tough guy with hard eyes opened his mouth wide enough to say "hands up." In a fraction of a second Bill's $35 disappeared along with the holdup man.

Penniless, Bill returned to the garage to get his car. The unfeeling garage man demanded payment for storage. Under great mental stress, Bill remembered a $5 bill hidden in his vest pocket. He bailed out his car and started for Harbor, Mich.

A movie advertisement caught his eye, so he parked his car, locked the doors and for two and a half hours forgot his troubles.

When Bill strolled out of the door of the movie palace, he saw a cop sitting on the running board of his car. One glance was enough. The window was broken, and his natty new suit was missing from the back seat.

"My new suit," yelled Bill. "It's been stolen."

"I dunno anything about the suit," said the officer, "but here's a ticket for parking overtime on this street."

Billie broke down then, sobbed out his story to the cop, and got his only break in a bad day. The officer visibly moved, tore up the ticket.

Bill Spink is back home in Harbor beach today, to stay.

Confer With Hoover on Unemployment

Farm Couple's Hospitality To Flier Earns Them First Trip In Plane

(International News Service)

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 24.—As a reward for hospitality shown him when he was forced down on their farm near here late yesterday, Larry D. Faurot, Pennsylvania Inspector for Aeronautics, today gave Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Briceland their first airplane ride.

Faurot was enroute to Pittsburgh from Columbus yesterday when the blizzard which forced Col. Charles A. Lindbergh to turn back to Pittsburgh while trying to get to Columbus, forced Faurot to land in a vacant field on the Briceland farm.

The Bricelands took Faurot to their home, warmed him with a good old-fashioned chicken dinner, and gave him the only bed in the tiny farmhouse.

Today, Faurot returned to Pittsburgh and brought the couple with him. Neither had ridden in an airplane previously.

Auto Dealers To Meet Tonight

Will Inaugurate Plans For State Convention To Be Held Here Next Fall

Members of the New Castle Auto Dealers Association will meet this evening at a dinner meeting in the Elks club at 6:30, when plans will be gotten under way for the big state convention to be held here in 1931, during the early part of October.

Reports of the state convention held two weeks ago will be given by President A. C. McCoy, Secretary Ray F. Hall and James P. Cope who represented the New Castle Association. This report was to have been given last week, but was withheld because of the small attendance at the meeting.

Capital is timid, which may explain why Nature made gold yellow.

Scout Tribunal Makes Awards

Deserving Group Of Youths Given Advancement At Court Of Honor

Awards for distinguished service were conferred by the October Boy Scout court of honor for the New Castle district when it took place last night before an assembled audience of scouts and visitors in the First Christian church, with Chairman G. S. Bennett in charge.

Preceding the court of award session, the council's board of review met to pass on the applications of scouts for advancement to higher rank. Scout Executive Herbert Horton and Committeeman E. B. Hawkins were in attendance.

Receiving honors last night were the following:

From tenderfoot to second class rank: John McClelland, Troop 13; Roy Baynham, Troop 15; and Robert Moore and Tom Strausbaugh of Troop 17. Merit badge awards: Robert Ray, Troop 15, public health and swimming; William Powell, Troop 17, cycling, woodwork, first aid, first aid to animals and Jr. Assistant Scoutmaster rank; to receive this rank, Scouts must be first class rank, at least sixteen years of age, and must show leadership ability.

Marking the court session was the short conference during which discussion centered about a proposed increase in the number of merit badge counselors to serve the growing needs of the troops. These men give merit badge tests to scouts applying for them, and also give to them an insight into the possibilities of that profession as a life's work.

Commissioner Ralph Davis closed the court meeting, announcing Thursday, November 29, as the date upon which the court will next assemble.

Liquor Smuggling Boats Captured By Coast Guard Patrol

Crew Of One Speedboat Arrested, Valuable Liquor Cargo Is Seized

(International News Service)

WESTERLY, R. I., Oct. 24.—A pitched gun battle between four coastguard patrol boats and two powerful alleged liquor smuggling speed boats off Mapapree Point near Stonington, Conn., today resulted in the capture of the two speedboats, the arrest of the crew of one of them, and the seizure of nearly 1,000 cases of liquor.

Nearly 200 rounds of machine gun bullets were sprayed upon the two speedboats in the battle that lasted 20 minutes. The fire was returned with pistols from aboard the alleged liquor smugglers.

It was believed no injuries resulted, although the bigger of the two boats was riddled with bullets. A number of summer cottages at Mapapree Point were also struck by bullets.

Post Office Lays Christmas Plans

Authorities Turn Attention Ahead As Holiday Rush Time Nears

Two months from Saturday will find the New Castle post office happily putting aside for another year the holiday season rush plans which Postmaster Edwin Crawford and others of the force were making ready to consider today.

From Washington headquarters has come instructions urging the local office to co-operate in every way with the Christmas plans of the department. Usually commencing about two weeks before the holiday itself, officials look forward this year to the December 10-24 period as the time when the volume of mail is expected to reach its height.

While officials here have outlined but tentative plans, attention during the coming weeks will be focused largely on the yuletide season. A downtown storeroom, to serve as a sub-station for handling surplus parcel post, must be secured.

Department officers have asked local officials to pay special attention to the dispatching of outgoing mail with the hope of preventing confusion. Untold annoyance and congestion sometimes result from improper dispatching, and the condition becomes doubly worse during the Christmas rush.

Special consideration will be paid to the handling of Christmas gifts, cards and parcel post, the principal types of mail which the holiday boom affects.

Optical Department Opens At Gersons

Jack Gerson Announces Opening Of New Department Of Store

Elsewhere in today's News will be found the announcement of the grand opening of a new optical department by Jack Gerson, Jeweler, 18 North Mercer street. This department, the finest of its kind in western Pennsylvania, is located in Gerson's newly remodeled and enlarged downtown store.

It is outfitted with the newest and latest equipment for testing eyes, and is complete in every detail.

Dr. M. C. Raffel, a graduate optometrist, with 18 years of practical experience in every phase of eye correction, will be in charge of Gerson's new optical department.

The public is cordially invited to attend the grand opening which will be held tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock, and Saturday from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. Useful souvenirs will be given to all those who attend, including the kiddies.

Once Hotbed Of Revolts Mexico Now Enjoys Peace

By RICHARD C. WILSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 24.—While several South American countries fret with revolutionary troubles, Mexico, prominent in the past for the frequency of her revolutions, remains at present more peaceful than in many years.

On the surface, at least, there is every indication that Mexico will go ahead with her economic revival and seize the opportunities offered by the South American revolts to strengthen her position in Latin American commerce.

In past years, Mexico with her periodic revolutions has borne the brunt of editorial jabs in the press from other Latin and South American countries. Mexico was pictured in the Latin and South American continents as the bull in the china closet and her revolutionary leaders were more widely known than the leaders of constructive movements. During the current overturning of governments in Argentina, Peru, and Bolivia, the Mexico City press has expressed little sympathy. On the other hand, the attitude has been one of "he who laughs last, laughs best."

The last revolutionary outbreak in Mexico, a year and a half ago, since that time Mexico, led by President Pascual Ortiz Rubio, has been making definite moves toward a revival of agriculture and industry. During this period there have been no revolutionary rumormongers and fully 50 per cent of the federal army has been assigned to highway construction work.

One of the most conspicuous, although not significant, symbols of Mexico's peaceful era of the present according to one pioneer business man here is the resumption of construction work on the National Theatre. Construction of this huge and costly structure, located in the heart of the city, was abandoned in 1912 after the fall of the 30 year reign of peace of President Porfirio Diaz. The building remained in its uncompleted state until two months ago when the government ordered work to begin on the large dome which will cap the building.

What a land! Thousands of books on child training, while children must train their parents without any instruction.

Salvation Army In Need Of Cots

Ensign V. Thomsen, officer in charge of the Salvation Army Corps in this city, stated this morning that he was in need of a number of canvas cots to be used in caring for transients, who stop in this city and need a night's lodging. He could use several in addition to other equipment that he has and would appreciate it, if there are those persons in the city, who have such cots and would be willing to give them to him for use in caring for the down and out men, who are now visiting this city in increasing numbers. If there are persons, who desire to donate cots for this purpose. Ensign Thomsen would appreciate a telephone call telling him where to call and get them.

Undertakers Hit By 'Funeral Racket'
(International News Service)
DENVER, Oct. 24.—The "funeral racket" has appeared in Denver. A local undertaker was called on by a stranger who wished to pay for the funeral of a person recently buried. He wished the payment to be kept a secret from the other relatives.

The stranger said he had a certified check for $850 at his hotel. If the undertaker would send $500 in change he would pay $350 towards the burial expenses of the deceased. The messenger arrived with the $500. The stranger gave him the "certified" check. The undertaker learned the next day that the check was a forgery.

TIRED people...
So MANY WOMEN, so many men can barely finish out the day. Even mid-afternoon finds them tired... listless.

What a difference if they only realized the importance of correct diet. Diet which contains enough "bulk" to rid the system of poisons that sap strength and lead to serious disease!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN supplies this needed "bulk" to millions of happy, energetic people. It is the largest-selling all-bran cereal on the market. It prevents and relieves both temporary and recurring constipation.

Try it—and notice the difference in the way you feel. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily—three times daily in severe cases. Relief is guaranteed. Look for the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Chicago Churches To Spend Big Sum

Will Spend Seven Millions Preparing For World Fair Visitors

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 24.—Churches of Chicago are planning to spend millions of dollars preparing for world's fair visitors in 1933. It is revealed in the yearbook of the Chicago Church Federation, just published.

Various religious groups here intend to build new houses of worship, modernize parish plants, landscape their grounds, and beautify the interiors of their buildings.

In conjunction with the fair there will be a world parliament of faiths, according to George W. Dixon, chairman of the committee on churches of the 1933 exposition. This is expected to bring to Chicago representatives of all the great religions of the world to seek a common understanding of the purpose and the will of the one God and Father of us all.

Commenting upon the work of his committee, Dixon declared: "Nothing short of daring vision describes the way the churches are preparing for the fair. It is a goal they have set for themselves for having their buildings and equipment in the finest condition to receive the millions of guests who will be here at that time."

Reporters To Carry Broadcasting Set
Expected To Aid In Reporting Events Outside New York City

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—A miniature broadcasting station, one that can easily be carried on the back and which has a radius of from four to six miles, will be an innovation of the Columbia Broadcasting Company this year in reporting special news and sporting events.

The tiny broadcaster, which will be known as 10-XAC, will have an antenna built like a fishing rod, which is made of copper tubing and is four feet in length. When in operation it is set into a socket in the top of the transmitter.

Technical directors of the broadcasting company state that the unique invention will be particularly effective when used in the open country where there is no interference from steel buildings.

The small set, which weighs only 25 pounds and which is strapped to the reporter's back, is turned exactly to the frequency of the special receiver making "tuning in" unnecessary.

GRANT CITY
The young people's council of this district met at Harlanburg Baptist church on Sunday afternoon and evening. A large audience enjoyed the evening program. Rev. Jones again presented the slides on missionary work in Africa. Special music was also rendered by the Zion mixed quartet and by the Harmon quartet.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Dean entertained on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. William Weigle of New Castle, R. F. D.

William King has returned to his home after visiting friends and relatives in Scotland.

Robert Harned, who is employed here, spent the week-end at his home in the southern part of Pennsylvania.

Mr. and Mrs. John Neely and children of Portersville Station and Mrs. Joseph Sharnol and children Anna May and Virginia, visited Mr. and Mrs. Gale Dean on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William McCracken and daughter Evelyn attended the funeral of the late John McCurdy on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Young and son Bobby have moved to Wurttemburg for the winter.

A box social will be held at Grant City school on Thursday evening, Oct. 29, and a spelling bee will be one of the features of the evening.

Palestine Jews Oppose Mandate

Great Britain Faces Unified Opposition Of Palestine Jews

NEW POLICY IS NOT WELL LIKED

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Great Britain today faced the unified opposition of Palestine Jews in its new policy on Palestine, dispatches from Jerusalem indicated.

Definite indication that publication of the MacDonald government's "White Paper" consolidated Palestine Jews against the British mandate was foreseen upon information that Agudath Israel, extremely Orthodox organization and normally opposed to Zionism, decided not to participate in the legislative council to be held as proposed by Great Britain.

Many Refusals.
The British colonial office received a copy of resolutions from the Jewish national council advising it that this legislative body would refrain from any participation in the legislative council.

Similar refusals have come also from various other organizations.
The Palestine Jewish Labor Federation arranged mass meetings throughout the country to protest the new declaration.

The legislative council was one of the points contained in the government's policy statement. The declaration brought the immediate resignation of Dr. Chaim Weizman, president of the World Zionist organization and of the Jewish agency, as well as to that of Lord Melchett, chairman of the Jewish agency.

The latest influential leader to ally himself with Zionist protests was General Jan Smuts, South African statesman, who was one of the organizers of the mandate system.

Lindbergh Talkative When Interviewed By News Service Reporter

Colonel Lindbergh Stranded In Pittsburgh By Ead Weather Talks "Shop"

Thinks Commercial Aviation Slowly Coming To Front, Talks About New Line

By GEORGE E. DOYING International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 24.—An informal chat with Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his companion pilots—swapping yarns, "talking shop" on the "inside" of this adventurous career of a nation—was the interesting and perhaps a bit unusual experience of the writer today.

An exclusive interview with America's flying hero in the most free and easy conditions imaginable, seated in a cozy little hotel room with Captain Andrews, Captain Ted Weaver and Major Altus—all famous in their chosen field—came about when Lindbergh was "stranded" here with "nothing to do" but wait for clear weather before continuing his inspection tour of the Transcontinental Western Air Service new line from New York to Columbus.

Like "Pittsburgh"

"Too bad you were unable to finish your inspection trip according to schedule," Lindbergh was told. His reply came back quickly.

"Well, if one must be stranded," he said with a broad grin, "Pittsburgh is as good a place as any to pick." He became serious. Then, pointing out:

"We could have gone on through to Columbus, but it is a policy of the company not to fly with passengers during bad weather conditions, so we returned."

The interrupted banter and jokes was resumed, with Lindbergh taking a large part in the rough-and-ready repartee. Roscoe Turner, famous west coast air mail pilot, came in for his share—by proxy. Roscoe, it seemed, recently purchased a lion cub for a mascot.

Joke About Lion

Lindbergh and Captain Andrews chuckled, each supplying missing portions of the narrative, as they told how Roscoe's pet had grown rapidly, both in size and ferocity. A short time ago, the "cub"—a cub no longer—turned on Roscoe, gave him a battle royal and inflicted considerable damage with his claws before being subdued.

The carefree days of Lindy's adventures in the airmail service—the days when "Slim" to his associates—came into the conversation.

"Those were interesting days," the Colonel remarked with a reminiscent smile. "You know, I consider St. Louis my home"—he used to fly the mail from St. Louis to Chicago over C. A. M. 2—"Do you know whether they have moved the airport at Springfield, Ill., yet? That field west of the city was a hard place to land on bad days."

He was told that the Springfield Airport had been changed to a new location and that the new field now was being used by all air-travel.

Discuss Smoky Cities

Smoky conditions obtaining in the vicinity of big cities and their hindrance, if any, to operation of commercial aviation routes also came in for discussion.

"Is it true that smoke and soot conditions in and around Pittsburgh are not nearly as bad as many other cities?" Lindbergh was asked.

"That is something that could only be answered after extensive tests throughout the year had been made with comparative data on hand," he replied. "It has been said that St. Louis is one of the worst cities in the country in which to land, but again it would be unfair to say, unless the data was at hand, just what cities have a large smoke hazard and what cities have a small smoke hazard."

Lindbergh politely turned the conversation when the writer asked him if and when he proposed to attempt a betterment of Captain Frank Hawks' coast-to-coast flight record. He praised the work of the speeding king with this observation:

Won't Discuss Baby

"These flights show us the possibilities of commercial aviation—what commercial aviation will be doing in the future."

"It is true, of course, that commercial flying is behind pleasure flying, but as the latter advances the former follows in the beaten path."

Then the writer wondered verbally if "Lindy Junior" had been taken on his first "sky ride" yet and, if not, when that event would take place.

"That's a subject," smiled the Colonel, "about which I do not care to talk."

Lindbergh became "strictly business" again, changed the subject and discussed the new transportation route which represents a merging into the Transcontinental Western Air Company of Transcontinental, the Maddux and Western Air Express.

"It is an attempt on the part of these three companies to give the public an all-air, coast-to-coast service, offering the best aviation can afford," he explained.

Better Service

"The new line will use Ford and Fokker eight to thirty-two passenger planes and will make the trip in 36 hours, including a night stop-over in Kansas City. The old rail-air service took 48 hours."

The talk then veered to continent-to-continent flights across vast stretches of water. When asked his opinion of the possibilities of trans-oceanic heavier-than-air service, with regular schedules, Lindbergh said:

"That again is something only future can tell. I believe that is one of the next things in store for aviation but when, and on what basis, it will come, I would not be able to state."

The mooted question as to which is more practicable—lighter-than-air or heavier-than-air craft—bobbled up, but it wasn't answered, definitely.

"That is something that will be known only after practical tests have been held comparative date made available," Lindbergh said.

Digibirds have proved that they can fly the oceans successfully with mail and passengers and planes have flown with passengers and some have carried small loads of mail."

Reserve Officers Meet On Thursday

Plan Participation In Membership Drive, Also In Armistice Day Celebration

CAPTAIN ROY SLOAN OF ERIE IS SPEAKER

First meeting of the fall and winter season for the Shenango Valley Chapter, Reserve Officers Association, was held last night at the Elks Home and was a dinner meeting, which attracted a considerable number of the members.

The speakers of the evening were L. B. Round, general chairman of the Tri-County Armistice Day celebration and Captain Roy Sloan of Erie, executive officers of the 395th Infantry.

Mr. Round spoke on what is being planned for Armistice Day and urged the continued co-operation of the Reserve Officers in helping put across this celebration in a big way. Captain Sloan spoke relative to the activities of the officers of his regiment, expressing his pleasure at the interest manifested here by the Reserve Officer group.

Colonel Dan McQuiston, member of the chapter and commanding officer of the 395th Infantry, spoke at some length on the meeting to be held November 8-9 at Franklin by the 395th Infantry for its officers and all regular army, national guard and other reserve officers in North-western Pennsylvania. It is being planned for the benefit of the wives and sweethearts of the officers attending as well as the officers.

Lieutenant Paul A. Welsh reported that Lieutenant Cowan, Lieutenant Solsberg and Major Arthur B. Foster of the chapter has gained recognition in marksmanship at the school of Infantry weapons at Fort George G. Meade, Md., which was held for officers of the 99th Division.

He also reported the request from the National Commander of the Reserve Officers Association asking all Reserve Officers Chapters to co-operate in the national observance of Armistice Day which had been arranged by the Military Order of the World War. Under the auspices of the latter order, there will be a program presented on the night of November 11 from 10:30 to 11 p. m. over a national hookup. The speakers will be General John Pershing, Secretary of State Stimson, and Secretary of War Hurley. The local chapter voted to co-operate and endeavor to have the program heard at the Armistice Day celebration here that evening at the Cathedral.

Major W. Fulton Jackson spoke of the coming membership drive for the Reserve Officers Association and also in regard to the benefits that had been derived in the co-operation of the chapter with Troop F of the National Guard.

Captain R. C. Lutz also discussed matters of importance to the chapter. Major C. E. Imbrie of Butler told of the plans being made in Butler to co-operate with the Tri-County celebration here on Armistice Day.

It was decided to dispense with the November meeting and hold a meeting early in December, which would answer for both the November and December meeting. The election of officers will take place at this meeting. President John D. Kennedy presided at the meeting last night.

Those in attendance last evening were: Louis B. Round, John D. Kennedy, First Lieutenant, Finance Reserve; Roy Sloan, Captain Infantry, D. O. L.; J. W. Thompson, Second Lieutenant, 1301 Service Unit; F. D. Perrine, First Lieutenant, Engineers Reserve; Robert M. Strickler, First Lieutenant, Infantry Reserve; D. A. McQuiston, Colonel 395th Infantry; W. F. Jackson, Major, 27th General Hospital; Paul A. Welsh, First Lieutenant, Field Artillery; Raymond C. Lutz, Captain, 343 Medical Regiment Reserves; William F. Pohl, Captain Medical Reserve; C. E. Imbrie, Major, Medical Reserve; H. K. Bell.

Deny Forgery Of McQuiston Note

Mr. and Mrs. John Bellian Say That They Saw Mr. and Mrs. McQuiston Sign

An answer to a rule issued on John and Mary Bellian to show cause why John and Harriet McQuiston, should not have a judgment opened and be let in to a defense, was filed by attorneys for Bellians at the prothonotary's office this morning.

This is a case in which the McQuistons recently alleged that they had never signed a note for $339.25 held by Bellians, claiming that it is a forgery.

In their answer Mr. and Mrs. Bellian say that they personally saw Mr. and Mrs. McQuiston sign the note in question and that it is no forgery. To the allegation by the

Bellians say that the note for $339.25 was given to them by the McQuistons for borrowed money and for supplies purchased from them at their store.

The note was dated August 5, 1929, and was payable in one year. Judgment was entered on the note for $339.21 being the amount of the principal debt with interest and costs. It was after this judgment was entered that the McQuistons claimed that they had never signed the note and asked the court to be let in to a defense.

In the answer of Bellians it is asked that the rule be discharged. Arguments will be heard by Judge Hildebrand on the motion.

SERVE OUR MEATS AT HALLOWE'EN PARTIES

On Friday night, October 21, Halloween will be celebrated in this city. It is almost a certainty that following the big parade downtown groups of friends will sojourn in their homes, where the celebration will be continued with a round of gay parties. And, in all probability, there will be Halloween parties held all of next week.

Parties never seem to be quite successful unless a midnight supper or a luncheon is served, and at this time we wish to suggest to those planning parties that they visit our market and purchase "better meat"—a tasty, delicious meat. Whether it's cold cuts you wish for sandwiches, a nice steak or roast for a midnight supper, we can serve your needs.

We also carry a nice line of groceries and fresh vegetables. We list a few of our Saturday specialties:

Inventors Hold Annual Exhibit

Ingenious Devices From All Over World On Display In London

By JOSEPH THOMAS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Inventions of ingenious men and women in all parts of the world were on view when the annual international exhibition of inventions was held here.

Inventors from America, Norway, Germany, France and even Iceland competed for the medals that were offered.

A rather weird-looking model resembling an airplane, submarine and a small battleship rolled into one created a great deal of interest.

The inventor of this queer model said he hoped in the near future to cross the Atlantic in this machine with 600 passengers in 12 to 15 hours. It is called a helicopter, and it rises straight off the ground without any preliminary run. The inventor first worked out his theory 32 years ago.

Another inventor would like to make the world punctual. His idea is simply a specially prepared glass face of a watch on which appointments can be jotted down.

A remarkable contrivance which is especially useful for caravans, houseboats, small bungalows and apartments, was the exhibit from an inventor from Iceland. It can be turned into ten or more different uses! That is to say, it can be a dinner wagon, writing or victrola, or card table, child's high chair and food table, baby's cot, baby's collapsible rubber bath, settee with book-stand and tea tray, piano stool with music stand, scholar's desk, child's play table, housewife's trolley, etc.

Inventions from about 20 women were shown. They were mostly domestic improvements in furniture, cooking utensils and so on.

National Farm Outlook

By ARTHUR H. JENKINS
Editor, The Farm Journal
Written for Central Press

I had a letter from a farmer, not long ago, asking what was going to happen when so much farm land was abandoned to the county for taxes, that the remaining farms could not support the expense of a county government.

I was pleased and shocked. Shocked because the letter was so pessimistic, and pleased because this correspondent thought I might be capable of supplying some solution to their problem.

As a matter of fact, I am not at all sure that a condition like this is not at bottom a healthy one. The letter was from northern Michigan, a section that was once magnificent forests, was lumbered off, and since has been trying to get along as farm land.

In other words, this is strictly what the economists call "marginal farm land"—land not really adapted to farming at all, and totally unable to compete with the rich soils of good farming country.

It ought never to have gone into farms. And when the inevitable happens, and the farmer turns over the ground to the county or state for taxes, and moves away, it is only correcting an earlier mistake.

But what is to become of the county? There are fixed expenses for roads, schools, courts and record keeping. If a quarter or a third of the inhabitants move away, how can the other two-thirds or three-quarters carry the increased tax burden?

They can't, at least not in many counties. Something must be done and the only thing to do is to reverse the process that began many years ago, when population was pouring in, and a large county was sure to be broken up into several smaller ones.

Marginal counties must consolidate, making one county out of two or three or four. If this process throws a number of county officials out of jobs, that is just too bad, but the community will be, in most cases, none the worse off.

Indeed, it is likely that the consolidation of counties ought to be adopted as a national policy, in rich country as well as "marginal" country. Counties were mostly laid out years ago, as the amount of territory that could be comfortably covered by horse transportation in a day.

The automobile and telephone have changed that, as they have changed so many of our old ideas. A county 100 miles in diameter can be governed from one county seat just as easily as a county 30 miles across, in 1900.

There will be plenty of obstacles to such a program of consolidation, of course. But conservative ideas, county jealousy, and jobs of politicians must all give way, when economic forces once begin to apply pressure.

And so I told the man from Michigan.

RALPH'S TRICKERY
Ralph Thorn, the popular press agent for the Hamburg fair, walked into the Bingle office yesterday, and laid a couple of camps for the fair on ye'd's desk. P. S.—We wrote this Tuesday to have it ready for use in case he came in. He hasn't shown up yet.—Buffalo News.

Some New York tourists drove to the Pacific coast last week and said they didn't look behind the billboards.

Potato Tuber Moth Is Found In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Potatoes infested with the potato tuber moth, a serious pest in several southern and western states, have been found in Franklin county, according to an announcement by R. H. Bell, director, bureau of plant industry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. An investigation revealed that the tubers containing the unwelcome insects were transported by truck from Baltimore and were distributed by a dealer in Shippenburg. Every possible effort is being made by state inspectors to secure and destroy all infested potatoes in order that the insect may not become established in Pennsylvania.

The insect is particularly destructive in the "worm stage" when it feeds on the interior of potatoes. The pest usually enters the potato at an eye and the only external evidence is the dark sawdust castings about the eyes of the tuber. Upon opening the potato it is found that the worm has made irregular, rust-appearing tunnels throughout the tuber, rendering it unfit for food.

An actual field infestation of this insect has never been found in the commonwealth, entomologists report. In 1925 an infestation was found at Wilkes-Barre in a shipment of potatoes from the South. These were quarantined and destroyed with the result that a more serious infestation was prevented.

It is believed that the potato tuber moth might easily become a pest in stored potatoes, and in a favorable season, might prove destructive to tobacco plants, if allowed to establish itself in Pennsylvania.

The plant pest act of 1927 (sectioned without more drastic action.

The department advises all potato dealers receiving shipments, either by rail or by truck from the South, to be extremely careful about purchasing stock which may carry the tuber moth. Low grade tubers are most likely to be infested with the insect.

The department is anxious to secure from any part of the state specimens of potatoes affected as above described. Such specimens should be sent to the bureau of plant industry, Harrisburg, accompanied by a letter stating where the potatoes were grown.

Bismol quickly and effectively stops food fermentation and checks the formation of harmful acids. Pepto-Bismol can never affect the helpful acid needed for digestion. On the contrary, Pepto-Bismol soothes the irritated membranes of the stomach and helps nature restore normalcy.

The next time your stomach acts up, settle it with Pepto-Bismol. You'll find it amazingly effective. Relief is quick—and gentle. Pepto-Bismol causes no violent internal reaction or distressing hiccoughs as soda compounds often do.

Pepto-Bismol has a pleasant taste, too. Even children like its agreeable flavor. It is perfectly safe. Doctors have prescribed it for over 25 years. Remember the name—Pepto-Bismol. In the 3-cornered bottle at your drugist's—only 50c. Get a bottle today and enjoy serene comfort after every meal. The Norwich Pharmacal Company, Norwich, N. Y., Makers of Unguentine.

MAKE NO MISTAKE ABOUT STOMACH ACIDS

Modern Science Explains Real Source of Digestive Distress

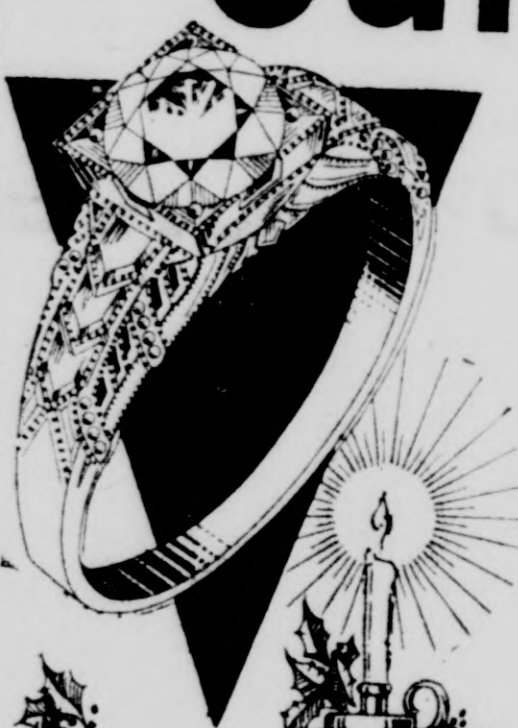

Doctor's Formula Urged For Speedy, Safe Relief

It is true, modern authorities explain, that indigestion, gas, heartburn, sourness, etc., are often traceable to harmful acids. These acids form when foods ferment in the stomach. To get relief, these acids must be checked. But the habit many people have of resorting to extreme correctives is dangerous and often leads to more severe suffering.

For it is a mistaken idea that stomach acidity is harmful. It isn't. The digestive juices are normally acid. They must be acid. If this vital acid is destroyed, digestion stops. This explains why medical experts so wholeheartedly urge Pepto-Bismol for digestive disorders. Pepto-

Masque Party Is Enjoyed Thursday

Women's Service Club And Guests Of Wurtemburg Enjoy Masque Party In Club House

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Members of the Women's Service club of Wurtemburg enjoyed a Halloween party Thursday evening at the Community club. All wore fantastic costumes and the hall was gaily decorated to conform to the Halloween season.

At the conclusion of a program of exciting games and contests, it was announced that Mrs. William Frazier had won the prize for the most comic costume and that Mrs. Mary French had captured the trophy for the best costume.

Later dainty refreshments concluded the pleasant party. Those of the club enjoying the event were: Mesdames Vinnie Glasser, May French, Sadie Hazen, Lulu Koach, Iola Falen, Clara Ketter, Wilbur K. Klages, Eva Koch, Amanda Duncan, Mary Lloyd, Amy McQuiston, Anna Gallacher, Mary Frazier, and the following guests: Mesdames Ella Wiltout, Viola Wimer, Helen Cowal, Eleanor Holleman and Miss Amy Ketter and Maizie and Ora Falen.

Women Organize Bowling Leagues

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Professional bowling leagues have been organized here by representatives of the various local lodges and clubs. The first game of the series will take place next Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Shelby bowling alleys, and at the end of the season, the club having the most victories, received a trophy by the Shelby club managers.

So far there are five teams, with representatives from the clubs as follows: O. E. S. Mrs. Oliver Bauer, P. H. C. Mrs. Ida Duncan, G. A. R. Ladies, Mrs. Wilkinson, Malta Auxiliary, Mrs. N. A. Yoho, Orange Lodge, Mrs. T. A. Vogt.

Jesse Morrison Is Party Host Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Jesse Morrison entertained a group of young people Wednesday evening at the home of his brother Gail Morrison of Spring avenue. There were 26 young folks present, and the usual exciting Halloween games were enjoyed, and the masked faces of the guests lent an air of mystery to the gaily decorated home.

At the conclusion of the program of games and contests, the host served refreshments, assisted by Mrs. Gail Morrison.

FUNERAL SERVICES
ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Funeral services for Abraham Ottaviani of this city who passed away Wednesday evening from his home in Second street, were conducted this morning at 10 from the Italian Catholic church.

Many friends paid final respects to his memory, and the remains of Mr. Ottaviani were buried in the family burial lot in Locust Grove cemetery.

John MacDonald Taken By Death

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—John MacDonald, long a highly respected and honored resident of this city, passed away at 5 o'clock from his late home yesterday on Fifth street. Mr. MacDonald had been bed-ridden for many years and death is thought to have been caused by a paralysis of the throat.

Having been a resident of this city for many years, Mr. MacDonald leaves behind a large circle of friends. He is survived by his wife Mrs. MacDonald, a son Sing and a daughter Miss Mary. Funeral service plans are incomplete.

Hallowe'en Plans Are Shaping Up

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Gradually the plans for the Hallowe'en celebration are assuming gigantic proportions for a gala celebration in Ellwood City on Friday evening, October 31.

The Chambers of Commerce announced this morning that 125 prizes have been solicited and that there will be 34 men's prizes, 35 for women and 46 for children's characters. There will also be a special cash award for the best rube band, and for the best group of three or more.

The parade will start early and will form on the Pittsburgh Circle between Fountain avenue and Glen. The line of march will include the principal streets of the city.

Dinner-Party At Hunter Residence

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hunter of Glen avenue entertained at an informal dinner party Thursday night in their home.

Covers were laid for nine at one large table and a delicious menu was enjoyed. Later two tables of bridge were in play and a social evening was enjoyed. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kuhn, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Haines, Capt. and Mrs. J. Jenkins and Mrs. Burton J. Bell.

Bugle And Drum Corps To Parade

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Members of the J. Wilbur Randolph post of the American Legion Bugle and Drum corps will form a part of the large mummers parade which will feature the annual Hallowe'en celebration here the evening of October 31. It was learned that the corps will turn out en masse, and it is very likely that they will lead the large parade. This snappy aggregation will do a great deal toward putting over a successful parade.

Hadassah Has Meeting Here

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 24.—Members of the Ellwood Chapter of Hadassah conducted a pleasant meeting Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Anna Bolotin of Park avenue at which time Mrs. Jack Britten was an assistant hostess.

There was a business meeting at which time the members decided to have a Benefit bridge party November 3, place to be selected later. The meeting concluded with the serving of light refreshments.

DAYTIME MODE CHIC; EVENING GOWNS ARE ELEGANT

While the more formal daytime frocks are quite decorative, the more practical sports and business mode may be said to be chic, as witness the two models posed left and right here. The youthful jumper frock, left, is made of cotton tweed in a colorful plaid design with velvet jacket. New tweed printed corduroy in rich shades of brown combined with bud green is used in the sports suit right. The collarless neckline with separate scarf encrusted with green are new features. Sophisticated grace is expressed in the princess lines and low flaring skirt of the evening model, center. It is fashioned of black velvet trimmed with ermine. The dropped shoulder gives the final touch of elegance.

Fish Sales Cause Stir In Russia

(International News Service)
LENINGRAD, Oct. 24.—Fish heads were placed on sale by the thousands in Leningrad cooperative food stores. In a few hours Communist party officials were asking "Where did the fish bodies go to?" They inquired and found scores of private peddlers selling headless fish for 4 rubles ($2) a kilogram, a price which no worker or office employee could possibly afford. This discovery immediately gave birth to a much more serious political problem: Who sold the fish bodies to private merchants? Or did peddlers private merchants sell the fish heads to the cooperatives? Officials instituted an investigation.

And one newspaper dared venture the comment that this little story tells more than a book could tell about the muddled state of such an important state business as proving people with something to eat.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

CAN STORE ROOT CROPS IN CELLAR OR OUTDOORS

A convenient place to store root crops for family use is in a large barrel, placed in a horizontal position in the side of a bank.

Cabbage, carrots, beets, turnips, and other root crops keep well in this storage place, where the temperature is kept low and sufficient moisture is always present to prevent shriveling. The location should be well drained. A layer of soil is placed over the barrel, and a layer of straw or leaves placed on this. Then, another layer of soil is placed over the straw or leaves. The barrel head makes a convenient door. A pile of straw or leaves is placed over the entrance for protection. In severe weather a layer of dirt is placed over the straw or leaves for additional protection.

These same crops that keep well in a barrel storage pit may be stored in a cool, well-drained, frost-proof cellar with a moist atmosphere and dirt floor. A small amount of carrots, beets, or other root crops may be stored in any cool cellar by placing them in an old milk can, or other similar receptacle, and placing about three inches of sand or light soil on top. The soil is kept moist by sprinkling water on it occasionally.

MULCH SAVES BERRIES FROM WINTER DAMAGE

Strawberry plants are short of runners this fall because of the unfavorable conditions prevailing during the past summer.

Lack of rainfall in the growing season and a poor stand of the plants originally set account for the unfavorable conditions with this situation prevalent in the section producing most of the main season strawberry crop. It behooves growers to employ the best practices used in heavy production. In order to secure profitable crops of strawberries it is absolutely essential that the plants possess a large number of runners at the start of the bearing season.

Conditions at this time indicate that large crops next spring will be unusual, and to secure average yields winter protection will be necessary. It is customary in this state to protect the berry plants by applying mulches of the available straws, such as oats, wheat, rye, and buckwheat. In some sections, marsh grass and straw manure are used. Of the materials mentioned growers will find wheat straw most satisfactory, unless it is possible to obtain chopped rye straw.

In applying the mulch, 2 or 3 inches of straw should be sufficient. The mulch should be put on as soon as the ground is frozen slightly. In windy places where it is difficult to keep the straw in place, the trouble can be overcome by putting a top-dressing of manure over the straw.

HEALTH DEMANDS THAT PULLETS HAVE COMFORT

Pullets need plenty of room in winter quarters if they are to maintain health and keep up production.

It is a common practice among farm flock owners to crowd too many birds into their houses. As a general rule, these same farmers would make more profits from their birds if they culled the old birds and pullets harder and kept only the birds which can be housed comfortably in the buildings.

Overcrowded houses usually are damp. Dampness lowers the vitality of the birds and makes them susceptible to all kinds of fall and winter diseases. Allow three square feet of floor space per bird for the light breeds, such as Leghorns and Anconas. Four square feet generally is considered necessary for Reds, Rocks and Wyandottes. Allow seven inches of roosting space for the light breeds and eight inches for the heavy breeds. Birds overcrowded on the perches at night become overheated and may catch cold when they get down off the roosts in the morning.

If housing conditions are satisfactory, keep the pullets confined during the fall and winter months. Pullets thus confined will not be exposed to the disease germs and parasite eggs in the contaminated soil near the laying house.

FARMERS FEED WHEAT TO FATTENING LAMBS

County flockmasters are finding wheat a good substitute for corn this year. At present prices, wheat is cheaper for than corn.

B. And O. Builds Huge New Bridge

Replace Present Structure At Harper's Ferry, W. Va., At Cost Of $800,000

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 24.—A new double-track bridge 1,400 feet long will be built by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad across the Potomac river at Harper's Ferry, W. Va., to replace the present span at that point. The new bridge will consist of eleven deck-plate-girder spans, requiring 4,400,000 pounds of structural steel and 4,000 cubic yards of concrete. Work has been started.

In addition to the new bridge, the line of railroad will be changed to afford easier crossing of the river by reducing curvature and shortening the line.

These improvements will cost $800,000.

Forbids Sale Of Bootleg Ice Cream In State

Substitution Of Low Grade Product Will Not Be Permitted

DEALERS WARNED AGAINST PRACTICE

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Dr. Jas. W. Kellogg, director, bureau of foods and chemistry, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, has issued the following statement regarding a practice which he terms "bootlegging ice cream."

"The practice of 'bootlegging' ice cream, which has come to the attention of the department recently, consists of an unscrupulous manufacturer taking advantage of another manufacturer's contract for the sale of a well-known recognized brand of ice cream by submitting the former's own brand to be sold under the advertising devices and contracts of the other manufacturer."

"In some cases these manufacturers entering into such a competition buy so-called ice cream mixes from wholesalers and without much equipment can arrange to complete the product by addition of flavors, fruits etc., at a much less cost than the person can afford to manufacture and advertise when operating a well-equipped ice cream factory."

"Such a substitution of ice cream is in direct violation of the Ice Cream Law, Section 3, which makes it unlawful for any person to sell any ice cream from any container which is falsely labeled or branded or to misrepresent in any way the place of manufacture of ice cream or the name of the manufacturer."

"While the practice has not gained a very strong foothold in Pennsylvania, ice cream dealers are warned against the sale or substitution of so-called 'bootleg' ice cream for the product which they may be selling under contract with other ice cream manufacturers."

"A checkup is being made by agents of the bureau regarding correctness of advertising and selling ice cream throughout the Commonwealth and any persons found engaging in dispensing 'bootleg' ice cream will be held responsible under the provisions of the Ice Cream Law."

Center Church Thank Offering Sunday Morning

The annual thank offering of the Center United Presbyterian church, of which Charles Garman Johnston is minister, will be held Sunday morning at 11 o'clock.

Rev. S. Irvine Acheson, who has been a missionary in Egypt for a number of years, will deliver the address of the day. Mr. Acheson will be remembered by many of the members and friends of the church as the son of a former pastor.

Special music will be an added feature to the service.

"Meanest Burglar" Steals From Pastor

(International News Service)
DENVER, Col., Oct. 24.—Denver police are searching for another "meanest burglar." This one stole a preacher's pay check.

Rev. A. C. Hoover, was preaching his first sermon in the Highlands Methodist Episcopal church. He had come here but a few days before from Las Vegas, N. M. He thanked the congregation for the cordial welcome they had given him on his arrival here.

Then he returned to his home next to the church and found that his house had been ransacked. Articles valued at $77.50 had been taken, including his first salary check for $54.

Is Mother of Eight

"The first year after I got married I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I was so weak that the minute I would start to do something I would feel badly. It did me a lot of good. Since then I have taken the Vegetable Compound off and on whenever I needed it. I am now the mother of eight children and I still recommend this medicine for it makes me feel younger and stronger."—Mrs. Oresand Godfrey, 103 Cumberland Street, Woonsocket, Rhode Island.

Bishop Joins Protest Against Birth Control

Says Demoralization Of Christianity Would Be Final Result

By KINSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Another high-ranking Bishop of the Church of England has joined the rapidly growing band of Anglican churchmen who are in revolt against the Lambeth Conference's sanction of birth control.

This latest recruit is Bishop Gore. In a spirited memorandum he warns that when the Church sanctions birth control it means the demoralization of Christianity.

"This sanctioning of the use of contraceptives will," he says, "have a disastrous effect on the more awakened consciences of the religious world, where men and women have been abstaining under the gravest difficulties from the use of contraceptives or have been yielding only reluctantly and with a bad conscience."

He ridicules the plea of the Lambeth Bishops that the prohibition of preventive methods is not founded on any direction given in the New Testament.

"True," he says, "but neither is the prohibition of suicide mentioned in the New Testament."

"Almost at the moment when the Lambeth Conference report was issued, Dean Inge was urging upon the Conference of Liberal Churchmen the reconsideration of the prohibition of suicide in extreme cases."

"Supposing this is to find powerful support in the next ten years, one wonders what the next Lambeth Conference will have to say."

Thinks Gasoline Engines May Soon Be Passe

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Will oil engines be used exclusively in the automobile of the future? Is the gasoline driven motor-car engine doomed?

These are the questions which every British manufacturer is now asking himself.

Most of these motor manufacturers are building compression-ignition types of oil engines, for cars, aircraft and motorboats. In practically every case these engines are being produced under condition of the utmost secrecy.

Even the most conservative firms have produced new high-speed aero engines working on the compression ignition principle. These engines have been extraordinarily successful on test and have produced enormous power for a very small expenditure of energy.

These results have been achieved by the application of the supercharger principle to heavy oil engines. Though the use of supercharges in ordinary touring gasoline cars is becoming more general, it is only recently that they have been adapted to crude oil engines.

Not only have they increased the power and improved the running of these remarkably economical engines, but they have also made it possible to decrease their weight.

In addition, the oil engines are more suitable for use in aircraft. Formerly the power of these engines fell away at certain heights. With the latest supercharger, engine power is maintained at the greatest heights.

Hope For New Low Smallpox Record; 34 Cases So Far

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Dr. J. Moore Campbell, chief of the bureau of communicable diseases in the State Department of Health, said today that if the present incidence is maintained the smallpox record for the present year will be the lowest since 1917. At that time the total was but seventeen cases. So far during 1930 the number has doubled but is still below the usual yearly average.

Commenting on this report, Doctor Campbell said, "The last five-year period has been exceedingly satisfactory so far as the incidence of smallpox has been concerned. Prior to that time cases ranged from 120 to 787, involving the five-year period to the immediate one."

"The very satisfactory low incidence is undoubtedly caused by the compulsory school vaccination law which has succeeded in immunizing the greater majority of the population of Pennsylvania under the age of 50, and annually establishes immunization among all school children of six years of age."

"The significant fact in the situation is that during the past five years, with the exception of a very few cases among patients who had never been vaccinated, practically all of the smallpox was directly traceable to importations. The present year's history in this disease gives this Commonwealth a clean state, the cases having arisen in Ohio, New York and one case in Indiana."

Canary Bird Is Aid To Temperance

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—'Twas only a bird in a gilded cage, just a little yellow canary that flew in the police station window and got entangled in the old-fashioned big gilt chandelier, but two "stews" in the station blanch and fled.

The two men were in the midst of long and involved complaints before the lieutenant about being robbed in a speakeasy, they said. The lieutenant was patiently trying to solve what it was all about.

Then in the window flew the canary. The tipsy ones looked. They refused to believe they saw a little yellow bird. They scurried out into the rain, leaving the lieutenant with an canary mystery instead of a robbery.

Finish Road Paved By Unemployed

How is the president of the United States actually chosen?

According to the Constitution each state appoints in such manner as the legislature there of directs, a number of electors equal to the whole number of senators and representatives to which the state may be entitled. The electors meet at their respective states and vote by ballot for president and vice president. In the event a majority is not obtained by any one of the candidates the house of representatives chooses, by ballot, from the persons having the highest number, not exceeding three. In this event the votes are taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote.

Are there any Egyptian obelisks in the United States? If so, where are they, how were they brought to this country, and are they made of one piece of stone?

Of the famous obelisks of antiquity there is one in the United States, erected in Central Park, New York City, in 1881. It was brought to the United States in 1880 by the ship Dessoug at the expense of William H. Vanderbilt and is called Cleopatra's Needle. The true obelisk is monolithic, that is, made of one stone. Bunker Hill monument and Washington monument, while obelisks in shape are not true obelisks, not being monolithic.

Westfield Grange Will Hold Party

Hallowe'en Party To Be Held October 27—Donations To Be Take For Hospital

On Monday evening, October 27, Westfield grange will hold their regular Hallowe'en party in the grange hall on the Mt. Jackson-Enon Valley road.

The social hour is to commence at 8 o'clock with every one masked. The committee has arranged for some old time games to start the evening with. After the mummies have all arrived the judges will award prizes to the prettiest girl, prettiest boy, funniest girl, funniest boy, best twins, and the best characters male and female. The remainder of the program will consist of a grand march and stunts arranged for by the entertainment committee.

Following the program the regular grange meeting will be called to order for a short business meeting. During the business meeting, Mrs. Vincent will have charge of the children and they can expect an interesting program.

The committee in charge of the donations, asks that all donations be brought to the hall, on Monday evening and they will be received in the basement of the hall. It is expected that a large amount of canned goods, fruit, and vegetables will be assembled as the gifts are to be exhibited in New Castle with the Pomona grange donation on October 31.

Grants Licenses To Two Airports

HARRISBURG, Oct. 24.—Two airport licenses and several certificates of qualifications and safety were granted by the state aeronautics commission at its last meeting. A full commercial license for the new airport at York was issued. This permits passenger carrying and flight instruction of students. The airport will be operated by the Pittsburgh Airways and will be one of its fields on the passenger route between Pittsburgh and New York. A private license was issued to the field at Pottsville, Allegheny county. This does not permit passenger carrying or flight instruction. A commercial letter of authority for 60 days was granted the Shamokin airport. Promoters of the field have advised the commission that the field will be improved to meet the minimum requirements. Inspection of flight and ground schools will be started by inspectors of the commission within a short time. Schools that can pass the test will be given authority to operate, but those failing to measure up to the standards will be notified to stop instructions.

Standard Oil Co. Distribution Plant Is Being Erected

East New Castle Becomes Distribution Centre
For District

Another Company Plans Outlay Of $150,000 In Spring

Located in a wide plot of land between tracks of the Western Allegheny railroad and the Harmony line, buildings and oil tanks of three major oil companies are quickly making East New Castle, the region on East Washington street extension, the bulk distribution point in Lawrence county.

The newest project which bears out the above statement on the development of the district is the new county headquarters and only distribution center now being rushed to completion by the Standard Oil Company of Pennsylvania. Other oil companies that have bulk stations in the district are the Tide Water Oil Sales company and the Rocolene Refining company. The latter is a distributor for Shell.

While Standard is at present engaged in constructing a garage, office, warehouse and six tanks on nine lots containing an area about 30 feet by 140 feet to take care of distribution in Lawrence county, the Rocolene headquarters announced a $150,000 project to be started in the spring.

Orvel D. Williams, New Wilmington road, in charge of Standard in the county, said today that workmen will have the East New Castle bulk plant ready in about 30 days. The work was started 60 days ago by Berkeley Bros., Johnstown, and the Dresser company of Cleveland.

The plant, which will be the only one of its kind in the county, will consist of a metal warehouse one story in height on a lot 40x80, a brick and cement garage and office building and six huge tanks. Williams stated.

The plant is an outgrowth of the old Williams Petroleum company which was acquired by Standard over a year ago. The Williams plant, located near the present construction, had four tanks with a capacity of 50,000 gallons. Williams only stored gasoline. The new bulk plant will be bounded by the Western Allegheny tracks on the east and the Harmony tracks on the west.

According to Jack Wilson of West Virginia, manager of the Shell distributing point in this district, the Rocolene Refining company will spend about $150,000 next spring in the construction of a super service station. The present bulk plant at East New Castle, located east of the Standard operations, consists of a warehouse and three tanks capable of a capacity of 72,000 gallons.

R. L. Ament in a statement late this morning said that the Tide Water company had completed plans six months ago for a building program here, the cost of which will be approximately $75,000. The agent said:

"We had plans drawn up six months ago for the construction of a large warehouse and storage room and office building.

Work on the project is expected to be started in the future, but no definite date has been set.

Doe And Fawn Appear In Town

(International News Service)
COLORADO SPRINGS, Oct. 24.—A doe and a fawn wandered in from the nearby foothills and stood alongside the street car tracks in Colorado Springs.

"Why will people persist in wanting the car stopped for them in the wrong place?" C. D. Nellis, conductor, thought as he saw two shadowy forms standing beside the track.

As he neared the spot Nellis was greatly surprised to see one of the waiting figures leap over a fence into a garden. He stopped the car and saw a doe standing beside the track with a fawn on the other side of the fence.

This is said to be the first time deer have been known to appear right in town except on one occasion a year or two ago when dogs chased a deer into the streets.

One Square Mile Has No Film Theater

(International News Service)
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Although more than a thousand trades and occupations are located within the One Square Mile, the City of London is without a movie-house or theater.

The city by day is too busy for any recreations or amusements, while at night it is a desert—except for Fleet Street, the home of London newspapers.

A game of checkers or chess over a cup of coffee in a basement cafe, is the nearest approach to recreation. Even the latest craze of miniature golf has failed to find a foothold in the English business capital.

New Idea In Bridal Bouquets In Paris

(International News Service)
PARIS, Oct. 24.—A new idea in bridal bouquets was recently seen in Paris in the way of an olive branch beautifully fashioned from silver gauze and pearls. On it was perched a tiny white dove.

A new hour for her wedding was also recently chosen by a pretty American bride just married at Cannes, in the south of France. It was just striking midnight when Miss Emilee Magann, daughter of Mrs. Plunkett Magann, of New York, stood in front of the altar with Monsieur Henri Demongéot, of that city.

HEADQUARTERS FOR MAJESTIC, ATWATER-KENT and GENERAL ELECTRIC RADIOS!

Come On, New Castle Let's Start The Wheels Turning

BUYING WILL PUT MEN BACK TO WORK!

We believe we have the solution of the present economic depression. People everywhere have been urged to buy, but either fear of releasing the money they have or lack of employment has been too great a restraining influence.

Billions of dollars that should be in circulation are being piled up in one way or another. In spite of the apparent unemployment, 75% of the people of New Castle are working every day and earning money. Collectively, the payrolls of the city represent a fabulous sum, and what is true of New Castle is true of the entire nation. What is required then, is that the public make a start somewhere in their buying. The minute any one store, or one industry, or one city, gets busy, factories will resume operations and re-employ their people.

NEW CASTLE WILL SET AN EXAMPLE

The theory is this: If Haney's win a ready response to this announcement, we will give employment to more people—more salesmen, more office help, more finishers, more stock men, more truck drivers, etc., etc.—then other stores will follow suit, and if all New Castle stores combine in this great effort and likewise place their resources at the disposal of the buying public for this purpose, New Castle will be a busy town!

PLACING OUR RESOURCES BACK OF YOU!

We want the public of New Castle to set the nation an example. Haney's likewise want to set other stores an example. We offer the people of the City of New Castle an opportunity to come in and buy all the furniture they possibly can, everything they can use at the present time or plan to use within the next several months, and we will arrange terms satisfactory to you. We place all of our resources back of this gigantic plan to start distributing merchandise so that plants can resume manufacturing.

To be a bit more specific, we invite every New Castleonian to make their purchases now and arrange with us to start paying for them only when they earn the money.

NOW IS THE TIME LET'S START!

This is a great nation that will not long endure a depression that is purely based on fear. Other cities will follow our example, and one by one the factories will start to work and thousands by thousands the men will begin to earn, and then they will buy automobiles, stoves, wearing apparel, shoes—in fact, everything in normal quantities—and perhaps like magic the whole country will rise out of the depression into which it has fallen. Come on New Castle—Let's Start the Wheels Turning

TEAMS READY FOR IMPORTANT GAME

Kickoff Whistle At 2:30; Game Will Have Important Bearing On W. P. I. A. L. "Cup"; Both Elvens Conclude Training This Afternoon; Fred Fabian May Be Out Of Game Due To Injured Hip; Washington Preparing For Biggest Crowd Ever To Attend Grid Game There; Both Teams Optimistic About Winning.

FABIAN TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Fred Fabian, New Castle high halfback who was injured in scrimmage on Thursday night at Taggart Field was removed to the New Castle hospital last night where the nature of his injury was discovered, according to Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of the high school. It was found that his stomach and hip are injured to such an extent that he will be forced to remain in the hospital for a few days.

Two of the smoothest schoolboy grid machines in western Pennsylvania will be seen in action on Saturday afternoon when the New Castle high school undefeated eleven meets Washington high at Washington, Pa. The game which is scheduled for 2:30 will be played at College field.

Both elvens conclude training for this important W. P. I. A. L. contest this afternoon. The biggest crowd ever to witness a contest at Washington is expected to watch the tilt. New Castle will probably play minus the services of Fred Fabian, halfback, who injured his hip in scrimmage on Thursday. Both teams are reported in "good mid-season condition" and optimistic about winning.

Both Undeclared. New Castle, having disposed of five opponents to date, will put up a bitter fight to add the "Little Presidents" to the victory list. Washington high, to date, has won four contests and has been tied in one. A win for New Castle will boost its stock up and may prove a chief factor in deciding the W. P. I. A. L.

winners. A victory for Washington will place it among the leading teams. A tie will jumble the league leadership.

Locals in Good Condition.

New Castle is in good form to meet the blue and black griders. This afternoon a light workout is carded before the red and black team meets Washington. There is only one regular who will probably be out of the lineup. Fred Fabian, who has proven a tower of strength in the backfield, injured his hip in scrimmage on Thursday night and the injury will keep him on the bench.

Robert Hooce, center, and Robert Jameson, end, are prepared to play again after being on the casualty list. Hooce was suffering with a sprained ankle while Jameson was in possession of a "charley horse".

Washington Has Good Team.

Washington for the past few years has proven a tough opponent for the local eleven and again this year boasts of a team that is as good as any in western Pennsylvania. Many fans are looking for another thriller tomorrow, the same as that played several years ago in Washington when the Coach Hank Day boys held the locals on the goal line and to a tie.

Last year Washington romped home with a victory and the New Castle warriors are going down to even things up. New Castle in order to win must stop one Washington man who has in the past games been a menace to opponents.

Stop R. Anderson.

This grider is Robert Anderson, the same lad that spilled the beans last year. It was this grider who time and again broke through the New Castle line and figured in three of Washington's touchdowns. Anderson will be found at fullback. He is leading his team in scoring this season with 11 touchdowns and three points after touchdowns.

Other Washington notables are Reed and Giles. These two backfield stars have also demonstrated their ability against foes this season.

Sotus May Start Game.

In Fabian's place at halfback for New Castle may be seen James Sotus, who in practices has demonstrated that he is developing into a sweet player. Either Sotus or Harper will start the tilt but it is the belief that Sotus will be called to start.

Fans from both cities are wild about their team and are predicting one of the best games in western Pennsylvania on Saturday. Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of the

Titans Set For Game With Slippery Rock Saturday

New Backfield Lineup May Face Teachers College Eleven

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 24.—With every man available but Elmer Meider, freshman end, the Westminster College football team tapered off its drills yesterday for the game here Saturday afternoon with Slippery Rock State Teachers College.

The Titans realize that under Kerr Thompson Slippery Rock has one of the flashiest teams in the section. As a result every energy will be expended to win. The Teachers are a 50-50 choice for victory because of their fine showing against St. Francis and because of their large list of veterans.

Tomorrow's game promises to attract as large a crowd as did the homecoming day contest with Allegheny. E. B. Cottrell, athletic manager at Slippery Rock, stated yesterday that 400 fans will follow the teachers to the Titan stronghold for the game. Then, too, the Optimists' Club of Youngstown will have 40 boys as their guests at the game.

Slippery Rock has not defeated Westminster in eight games played between the two natural rivals. The Titans have won seven contests and one ended in a scoreless tie. Realizing their chance to step into the district spotlight by defeating one of the conference teams, the Teachers will be a hard outfit to defeat.

In order to make the Titan offense more effective Coach "Dike" Beede has made a number of shifts in the backfield. During the past week a number of combinations of men have been tried and Beede has seven backs ready to start. It is probable, however, that he will start Perrin at fullback, Harper at left half, Shaffer at quarterback and Hama at right half. This gives him three fast ball toters to throw at the alert green and white line which Coach Thompson will bring from Slippery Rock.

The Titan line will outweigh the Teachers about four pounds, but the backfield edge will go to Slippery Rock if Beede starts the four players mentioned above.

Probable line-ups:
Westminster Slippery Rock
Cebula L. E. Morgan
Kozicki L. F. Wilson
Gram L. G. Taylor
Boone (C) R. G. Wolfe
Fuller R. T. Miles
Rehms R. E. (C) Ott
Tweedy L. H. Mellman
Shaffer L. H. Martin
Hamas R. H. Kerr
Perrin F. B. Catala
Game starts at 2:30.

Promoter Harry Mendel of Newark, N. J., has been forced to call off the K. O. Christner-Willie Stripling bout which had been scheduled for tonight. Christner claimed an injured hand.

George Von Elm will make his debut as a professional golfer in the $5,000 open tournament at Salt Lake City which begins today. Nearly a score of prominent professionals will compete in the meet.

Should council adhere to its indication it is probable that the local golf course will close November 1. It has been a very successful season and the course is self-sustaining.

Grove City and Geneva will clash in a Class B college conflict tonight at Reeves stadium, Beaver Falls. Crimson followers believe that their team will defeat the Covenanters.

Women To Play Field Hockey

Several Games Are Being Arranged At Slippery Rock College

Several field hockey games will be played for the interest and benefit of nearby high schools as a part of the extensive program for the Women's Athletic Association hockey season at the State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, Pa. The program has been arranged by Miss Therese Pletz, student hockey coach and Miss Elmina Compton, a member of the health education faculty and advisor of the W. A. A.

At present the members of the organization who are interested in hockey are carrying on a rainbow elimination tournament, in which eight different teams are represented. According to the point system set up in the association, each member participating in a game, whether winning or losing, will be awarded one point, and all members on the winning teams will receive an extra point. Each losing team will be eliminated until a champion team is declared.

After this has been completed there will be an "invitation" tournament. For this six coaches from the senior class of the college will be chosen by Miss Compton, and these coaches will be authorized to select the various class teams.

Following will be the closing tournament, consisting of the two best teams selected from the entire membership and playing a series of three games. The winning team will compete in a final game with an alumnae team, which is now being arranged for by Miss Pletz.

A similar plan in regard to the other various athletic activities sponsored by the W. A. A. is expected to be carried out by their respective student coaches with the cooperation of Miss Compton.

Schultz Playing Stellar Ball For Slippery Rock

Joseph Schultz, former New Castle high boy is playing stellar football on Coach Thompson's Slippery Rock State Teachers college team.

Schultz is a member of the junior class in the college and a graduate of the high school class of '28'. He has demonstrated that his high school mentor, coach Philip Bredenbaugh, taught him some valuable lessons in football technique.

From a good guard on his high school team, he has graduated to the college, and is of such good quality that he has a firm hold on the left guard position.

"Bucs" To Play At West Pittsburg

Buccaneers and West Pittsburg will clash Saturday afternoon at West Pittsburg. The game will start at 2:30 p. m. The "Bucs" hope to stop the West Pittsburg aggregation.

Pass Grommes To Chambers Good For 70 Yards Paves Way For Seniors Victory

In a game played in a drizzle of rain the Seniors football team defeated the Ben Franklin Junior high eleven in an inter-class League football game played at Taggart Field on Thursday afternoon. The final score was 6-0.

The Seniors scored the winning touchdown after a few minutes of play in the first quarter when a pass Grommes to Chambers was good for 70 yards and a touchdown. Chambers made a good catch of the ball and raced 70 yards. The seniors failed to annex the extra point.

During the remaining three quarters, Franklin tried desperately to score but failed. The closest Franklin came to scoring was on the 22 yard line where they were stopped on downs. The game proved interesting throughout. For the seniors the playing of Grommes and Chambers, for Franklin Komine and Duffy were the best.

Gridiron Gossip

The Westminster football team is not holding the Slippery Rock Teachers too lightly in their contest for this coming Saturday. The Titans have had a week of good solid rehearsal and they are in tiptop shape for the battle that is anticipated when the Teachers invade New Wilmington. The United Presbyterianists hold seven victories over the Slippery Rockians and they are going to try and make it eight.

That backfield shift at Westminster will be tested in the game Saturday. Right at this minute Alan Harper looks good to start the battle at a halfback post, with Shaffer at the other side of the quartet and Michaels and either Hamas or Haldy at the fullback post. The line will be the same as started the Allegheny game, with little George Cebula holding down the end vacated by the injury to Elmer Meider. Tweedy will be at the end, with Fuller, Rehms, Boone, Gram and Kozicki at the other positions.

Grove City and Geneva will be battling tonight at Beaver Falls for the right to go into a tie with the Alleghenians for the lead in the Little Five Conference, consisting of Allegheny, Grove City, Geneva, Thiel and Westminster, and incidentally the last three named are standing in just that order. Westminster and Thiel have dropped two district games and the three other teams have yet to taste defeat, but one of them will flop tonight, and our guess is that it will be Geneva.

Well, it looks like a great little argument in the Pitt stadium tomorrow afternoon with the Pitt Panthers yelping and rarin' to get at the Notre Dame Irishers, and the South Benders ready to show the Sutherland coached team a thing or two about the art of scoring a lot of touchdowns. Yes, sir, it will be a party well worth seeing and it is reported that upwards of 70,000 souls will jam into the big bowl to watch the proceedings. The Pitt team has trained behind locked gates for this important clash.

Coach Maude Crum at Allegheny College is in a sad pickle now that

Walter Berger is ready and fit to play, because the other boys have been playing good football and really Coach Crum does not care to break up the combination. Balser, Anderson, Varano and Garbark compose the Allegheny backfield. Berger is a valuable man and will be used in a utility role. The Methodist hope to win this game Saturday and keep the slate clean for the year to date, having defeated Edinboro, Westminster and Thiel.

Waynesburg College will be celebrating homecoming day tomorrow and their clash with Juniata College at Waynesburg, Pa. The Yellow Jackets have had anything but a successful year on the football field and they hope to snap out of the losing streak this week and take the Juniata boys into camp. Coach Wolfe is drilling the team hard this week in a series of new plays.

Coach Elmer Layden will send his Duquesne Night Riders into action tonight against the powerful Catholic University team. The easterners are hot to defeat the Pittsburgh boys and they may do it at that. The Dukes have not looked any too smart in their past few games. The Dukes line is none too strong and Coach Layden has been directing a lot of attention to this department.

Bessemer Battles Shenango Today

Bessemer and Shenango clash today at Bessemer in a class B grid tilt. Bessemer has not lost a game this season and expects to add another defeat to Shenango's list. The athletic field will be dedicated prior to the game.

Alex Fox Held Ideal Guard By Pitt Grid Coach

Cites New Castle Boy As Outstanding Example Of Lightweight Guard

SUTHERLAND FAVORS SPEED AT POSITION

How Alex Fox, one of the greatest linemen ever developed at New Castle high school, changed Coach Jock Sutherland's ideas on the qualifications for a guard position, is told by Frank G. Menke, New York sports writer.

For some time now Sutherland has been using light men at the guard positions, men who as a rule do not average more than 175 pounds, sometimes less.

Sutherland explains his change in attitude, which is radically different from that held by most coaches, as follows:

"I feel that the radical changes in football make the old fashioned giant guard a bit out of style. A man around 170 or 175, perfectly conditioned, can do just about as good a guarding job as the giant because he has great speed and can get into action faster than the big fellow. Football today is faster than ever before. Almost everything must be sacrificed for speed because speed, not bulk or mighty brawn, is the determining factor.

Guards of today run five times as much as they did 15 or 20 years ago. They must be in every play. Their job isn't merely to bowl over the man in front and then relax. They must follow the ball. Ponderous men cannot do that.

"I came first to the realization of the value of a fast man as guard when I used Alex Fox in the line at Lafayette. He was a halfback and weighed 168. I didn't have room for him in backfield so I placed him at guard. When the ball was snapped he piled up his rival even before the giant could get into motion. He was through the line and on his way acting as added interference for our ball carrier. He ran low and could clip beautifully.

"Fox did everything a huge guard could do and a half dozen other things in addition. He was able to do the extra six jobs because he was light and fast. He was both a linesman and a halfback. He convinced me that the light, fast and alert man of today is ideal for guard."

Wealthy Youth Is Held As Robber Of Valuables In Hotel

Heir To Estate Worth $750,000 Is Held By Police On Charge Of Robbery

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24.—Richard Sesser, 18-year-old Atlanta, Ga., youth, reputed to be heir to a $750,000 fortune, was held in $1,500 bail here today on charges of looting valuables from rooms in a local hotel.

The youth confessed to the thefts, police say. He first gave his name as Lawrence Hamilton of Birmingham, Ala., but later identified himself as Sesser, and claimed he will receive a three-quarters of a million dollar estate upon reaching his 21st birthday.

Sesser was expelled from the University of Georgia, according to the conference he made to police, and hitch-hiked his way north.

Members of the youth's family at Atlanta were notified and were reported enroute here to aid him.

Of course Prohibition isn't an issue. An issue is something that comes out—not a way to get in.

Slippery Rock Squad Ready For Westminster

(Special To The News)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 24.—Carefully prepared, in fine shape physically, and brought to the fighting pitch by an expectant student body, the Slippery Rock Teachers' Titans at New Wilmington Saturday will invade the lair of Dike Beede's Titans in a confident mood. Followers and fans of the Rockets are predicting nothing less than a victory following their great showing against St. Francis.

They base their prediction on the fact that Slippery Rock outplayed the Saints in every department, and should have had at the worst, only a tie. The dispute over a first quarter touchdown is still raging as the Thompson outfit believes that Fullback Westlake should have been credited with a touchdown. They maintained that the umpire gave the signal to indicate the tally, and that he was in a better position to see than the referee, who reversed the decision of his aide.

Fully aware that they have been carefully scouted by Harris of the United Presbyterians, the Green and White strategy board has thrown away a majority of the old plays. An entire new offense has been developed which the coaches tell certain will work well behind

Legal Notices

Notices to Contractors

Sealed proposals will be received by the Supervisors of Darlington Township, Beaver County at the Beaver County Court House, Beaver, Pennsylvania until 10 o'clock A. M. Saturday, November 2, 1930, for furnishing, hauling, spreading and rolling 2000 tons of granulated slag for surfacing about 4000 feet of the Hartshorn school house to Emon Valley Road.

Proposals may be obtained from C. T. Donahut, Secretary, Board of Supervisors, Darlington Township, or from the County Commissioners' office, Court House, Beaver, Pennsylvania.

Each Proposal must be accompanied by cash or certified check in the amount of $250.00 (three hundred dollars), made payable to the treasurer of the board of supervisors of said Darlington Township.

All proposals must be upon the blank forms furnished by the undersigned. The supervisors reserve the right to reject any or all proposals.

THE DECISION

The court held with old Farmer Joyson.

The judges reasoned thus:

If a breach of contract is so material as to go to the heart of the contract the other party is excused from performing his part. But this did not go to the heart of the agreement. The neighbor, therefore, was bound to perform his part.

Industrial Stocks Make Some Gains

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 24—Industrial stocks and Utilities pushed forward briskly to higher price levels in the early trading today, under the lead of American Can, U. S. Steel, General Electric and other leaders in yesterday's late rally. The Oils and coppers threw off the effect of the shading of prices for their respective commodities and rallied with the rest of the list. Ralls were again the laggards, though some improvement over Thursday's final prices was noted.

U. S. Steel started the session more than a point higher, and forged ahead to 149 1/4. American Can sold above 118 for a 3-point gain; Westinghouse was up 2; Consolidated Gas up 2; Auburn Auto up 2; General Electric up 2.

The Van Sweringen Railroad shares which were under pressure yesterday made moderate recoveries. Allegheny corporation rallied a point to 11 1/2 at 41 1/2. Erie made a 2-point come-back. Loews was a leader in the Amusement stocks, with a 2 1/2-point rise to 58.

The market was firm in the second hour, under reduced trading in all sections. Call money 2 per cent.

Nye Witness Attacked

James N. Cox, of Cookeville, Tenn., a prospective witness before the Nye investigating committee, was still living after having had his throat cut by unknown assailants in Nashville, Tenn. Cox, president of a local telephone company, was expected to recover and was to be questioned as soon as he regained consciousness.

All-American Coaches

No. 8—Higgins, Bedenk

By JACK SORDS
Central Press Sports Cartoonist-Writer

Few schools boast a coach who was an All-American in his playing days but Penn State has not only one All-American coach, but two. They are Bob Higgins and Joe Bedenk. Higgins is head coach. Bedenk is his assistant in charge of the varsity. Both are students of that grand old man of the gridiron, Hugo Bedenk, who gave up coaching at the end of last season to become athletic director.

Higgins was the most brilliant end in football during the season of 1919. Bedenk was the star guard of the Nittany Lions produced in 1923. Both men won recognition from the late Walter Camp who placed them on his All-American teams.

Higgins and Bedenk are bringing new blood to the helm of the Nittany Lions. Under Bedenk Penn State had some of the finest teams in the country, but in recent years the status of football as played by the States has fallen.

The combined efforts of these two Penn State's return to a place in the football sun. Quaker State fans certainly hope so, as no Penn State player has won All-American recognition since Bedenk and he played seven years ago.

Republicans Form Hemphill Committee At Meeting Thursday Night

At a meeting of prominent Republicans held last night in the Johnson building in this city, a committee was formed which will be known as the Hemphill Republican committee of Lawrence County, the purpose being to support John H. Hemphill's campaign for governor. At the meeting O. P. Brown was elected as chairman, and other officers will be named later, it is announced.

The meeting, which was well attended, passed the following resolution:

"Whereas, the best contribution that can be made at this time to the promotion and stabilization of employment and industry and the safeguarding of public welfare generally, requires the election of John M. Hemphill to the office of Governor of Pennsylvania, and for this reason we form ourselves into a committee to be known as the 'Hemphill Republican committee' to oppose the election of Gifford Pinchot, because he is the spokesman of an unsound and dangerous economic demagoguery, at a time when business conditions require a sane, conservative leadership in public office."

"The unanimous opinion of the committee," it is stated, was that Gifford Pinchot, who happened to be a candidate for governor on the Republican ticket at this time, is not a Republican and not entitled to

Coast Guard Boat Sinks Rum Runner

(International News Service)

NEW LONDON, Conn., Oct. 24—The speedboat Helen of Newport R. I. was fired on and chased from Montauk Point, L. I., to Napatree Point, Watchkill, early today by a coast guard boat. The Helen with 1000 sacks of liquor aboard finally was sunk.

Four members of her crew, uninjured, are being brought here.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

For the first Friday night in a month, you'll have to look for your entertainment places other than Taggart Field tonight. No football game, and none here tomorrow, Washington, Pa., is the mecca for the football pilgrimage, with New Castle's warriors trying to convince the Little Presidents that they were mistaken about their team this year.

In addition to that there is a game in Pittsburgh also. It promises to be a pretty good game too Pitt plays that team from South Bend, Ind., Notre Dame, it seems to me the name is.

Looking over the cars parked at the curb of most any street gives you the idea that this inspection thing is optional. Scores of cars do not have the keystone shaped sticker on the lower right corner and there are just seven days left in which to do that thing. Seven, count them ladies and gentlemen.

In some cases it is neglect, but in others there is a suspicion that the owner is trying to beat the inspection. Perhaps there will be a few, say half a dozen out of a million cars, but you can't be sure that you will be one of the half dozen. And the fine is so much more than a dozen inspections would cost that it doesn't seem worth the risk.

After all the inspection is for the protection of the motorist and the public. Your lights get out of focus and your brakes loosen up, and the working parts of the car need attention. Leaving them go until it is absolutely necessary for repairs may cost a life. Getting the car inspected now may save one.

Hardly seems possible but the license tags are beginning to come in for next year. Just a few weeks ago, or so, it seems, we were looking at the new 1930 tags. And now 1931. The same colors used in the 1930 tags are in 1931 but are reversed.

And if you think your memory is good, what is the color combination of your present tags? Blue figures on an orange background, or orange figures on a blue background?

Getting back to football for a minute, there has been some complaint made by visiting teams concerning the treatment accorded them in New Castle. Not by the school authorities, nor by the genuine blown-in-the-bottle fans, but by an element, fortunately small, that needs a few lessons in behavior.

An Ohio sport writer who accompanied the Woodward team to New Castle said that when the bus got into the city, it was met by a shower of tomatoes, with the cans taken off them. As the team sat on the bench the players were pelted with cinders and small stones from the bleachers.

If this is true, and the gentleman who made the complaint is an honorable one, then it is time for the real football fans here to appoint themselves on a committee for the removal of this undesirable element.

Back in the days when swinging doors were a common sight, this might have passed for sportsmanship. Too often athletic contests ended in fistfights, and the "hard bodied" lad was considered a sport. That day is long since past. There is no room for the piker, the welcher or the poor sport in athletics today.

There is only one place where fight is expected and that is out on the gridiron and that fight is clean and hard. For anyone to take advantage of a crowd and hurl either missiles or epithets at a visiting team is not only cowardly, but it gives the team and the city a bad name.

The football players are against this sort of thing, the school authorities are against it, and every fair minded sportsman is against it. When a team comes to New Castle to play it is entitled to courtesy and fair treatment. If it defeats New Castle, that's too bad, but as long as the defeat is clear and clean, there should be no squawks.

When we go a-visiting with New Castle teams, we appreciate courteous treatment. What we expect to receive we should be prepared to give and in fairness to the great mass of sport loving fans in New Castle it is to be hoped that the Ohio gentleman referred to realizes that these tomato and cinder throwing tactics come from a lot of hoodlums who are a detriment to the team and the school, and who would be much better off in a nice cool jail.
